Hop to U. S. Halted by Broken Gas Line.

BULLETIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REYKJAVIK, June 10.—Capt. Albin Ahrenberg was forced to land at Skaptaros at 2:56 a. m. today (9:23 p. m. Chicago time) owing to a shortage of gasoline caused by a broken gas line. A Danish gunboat is rushing from here to assist the flyers. The plane's crew is safe.

The following radio message was picked up here:

"Forced landing Skaptaros, south coast Iceland, owing to burst gas pipe. Send airplane with mechanic and 300 litres gasoline."

STOCKHOLM, June 9.—The Stockholm to New York flight started this morning by Capt. Albin Ahrenberg and two companions in an attempt to establish a new air trade route between Europe and America ended at 11:23 p. m., when the Swedish plane made a forced, though safe, landing at Skaptaros, Iceland, 200 miles east of Reykjavik. The gas supply was exhausted owing to a leak in the tank. Aid is being rushed, but continuance of the flight is doubtful.

Warning of the trouble was received in the Iceland capital earlier in the evening when Capt. Ahrenberg sent an SOS and caused a sensation among the thousands gathered to receive him. But the nearness to the capital and the fact that he had been sighted over Baerderne about 8 o'clock going strong kept up hope that the trans-Atlantic flight would be successful.

Lands Amid Desolation.

When the weather bureau reported a big storm with high winds was sweeping the south coast of Iceland directly in the path of the Scandinavian flyer the crowds groaned and a quarter hour later Ahrenberg himself wirelessed he had been forced down.

At the location where he landed there is not even a village—only miles and miles of desolation divided by the tiny river Skapta, which joins the Atlantic there. Here Capt. Ahrenberg with his assistant pilot, Lieut. Axel Floden and Wireless Operator Robert Ljunglund, have settled for the night. They have a small amount of food—enough to have carried them to New York by Tuesday—and though cut off so completely from the world they are equally in complete touch with it through wireless over which they have broadcast a graphic story to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and associated papers of the flight since the take-off from Stockholm eighteen hours before.

Capt. Ahrenberg and his two companions, Axel Floden, his reserve pilot, and Robert Ljunglund, radio operator, hopped off from here at 5:02 a. m. On board also were Radio Announcer Jerring and Mrs. Cervin, Swedish banker, who were passengers to Bergen, Norway, where the flyers were given a big reception before starting for Iceland. The flight was designed to be made with four stops at Bergen, Reykjavik, Iceland; Ivigtut, Greenland; Belle Isle, Labrador, and then to New York.

ABOARD THE SEAPLANE SVERIGE, June 9.—[By Radio.]—We left Stockholm at 5:02 [G. M. T.] and quickly gaining altitude, crossed the Norwegian Alps [the Kjolen mountains] at 3,000 meters.

When we neared the mighty Hardanger glacier we were met by fierce snow squalls and below us saw the frozen Alpine lakes. Over the Hardanger glacier our benzol pipes froze and all our pumps went out of action. When we reached the Hardanger fjord we descended 500 meters, our fuel lines cleared and again the pumps functioned.

We started from Bergen at 3 o'clock. The weather forecast given by Dr. Bjerknes, head of the Norwegian meteorological service, said:

"You will meet rain 500 kilometers east of the Faroe islands, with high skies, but that area is only 100 kilometers broad; then it will be better. But the west wind will be harder as you come nearer to Iceland." Therefore we will go more east and arrive at the southeast coast of Iceland.

The rain began at 3:37. The sight

Actor Kills Stage Star; Ends Own Life

FIND MARGARET LAWRENCE DEAD BESIDE ADMIRER

Murder and Suicide, Police Verdict.

New York, June 9.—[Special.]—The bodies of Margaret Lawrence, noted actress, and Louis Bennison, well known portrayer of western rôles on the stage and screen, were found this afternoon in the former's penthouse apartment on the roof of 34 East 51st street, just off Park avenue. Each had been shot once through the left breast. Detectives said both shots probably were fired by Bennison, who was found propped stiffly against the bed in which Miss Lawrence lay.

There was little to explain the tragic final act in the lives of two who had played together on the stage and who were known to be in love. Police had to rely on the evidence of empty liquor bottles and glasses littering the attractively furnished apartment and the stories of the couple's friends who told of a strange mania for self destruction which they said took possession of Bennison after periods of drinking.

Find 2 Notes in Apartment.

Two notes were found in the apartment but they provided no clew to the mystery surrounding the murder and suicide. One was scribbled on the back of an envelope which was pinned to the door from the living room to the kitchenette. It said:

"The sunset has a heart. Look for us there."

It was signed in a scarcely legible scrawl. Detectives deciphered the signature as "Tianna," and Mrs. Gertrude Chalair of Long Island City, a friend, who discovered the bodies, identified the writing as that of Miss Lawrence.

The other note, written on white correspondence paper, was even shorter, but it proved of more value to the police. It said:

"Please notify Mr. Mussen at the Lambs' club at once."

Tells of Suicide Threat.

Detectives got in touch with Bennett Mussen, author and actor, who had collaborated with Bennison in writing a play. When Mussen arrived at the apartment he identified the revolver used in the double shooting as Bennison's by the initials "L. B." on the handle. The actor, according to Mussen, was subject to frequent fits of despondency and about two years ago, at the Lambs' club threatened to shoot himself after a period of heavy drinking. On that occasion, Mussen said, a pistol was taken away from Bennison.

According to Mussen, Bennison has a wife and two children living in San Francisco. The actor's brother, Andrew, is employed by the Fox Film company and is believed to be on the Pacific coast.

Actor Waves Pistol.

Mrs. Chalair, an old friend of Miss Lawrence, said she called at the penthouse last Wednesday evening to invite the actress to spend a few days with her at her home. While she was talking, she said, Bennison came out of another room waving a pistol.

"This will finish both of us," she quoted him as saying.

Miss Lawrence prevailed upon Bennison to calm himself and put the weapon away. Mrs. Chalair departed without Miss Lawrence. She returned Saturday evening. On that occasion, she said, Bennison met her at the door and informed her that "Margaret doesn't want to see you any more."

Mrs. Chalair went away again, but this time, she said, with a feeling that something was wrong. Unable to get the matter out of her mind, she returned to the apartment about noon today and, failing to arouse any one by constant ringing of the doorbell, she let herself in with a pass key.

Discovers Double Tragedy.

"Hello, Margaret, dear," she called. There was no answer. Mrs. Chalair stepped into the bedroom. A quick glance around was sufficient to tell her what happened. She hurried downstairs and notified the superintendent of the apartment, who telephoned the police.

In a few minutes the quiet street was filled with police automobiles, newspaper men, and a crowd of the curious. By the time the bodies

Kill Policeman as He Arrests Gang in Auto

Earl Leonard, 32 years old, a motorcycle policeman, was shot to death last night as he stood at a police call box at Lotus avenue and Madison street preparing to call a patrol wagon for a motorist whom he had arrested after a party of four girls and five men in a rented car had driven past a stop light.

Leonard apparently was shot down without warning, as his pistol was still strapped in his holster when his body was found. He died at the Frances Willard hospital without regaining consciousness.

The police were holding four girls and four men at the Fillmore street station for the inquest today and were seeking two other men, one of whom was named as the slayer.

Hint Joyce as Slayer.

He is Patrick Joyce, 3906 Flournoy street, know to police as a hoodlum who has been arrested several times on robbery charges and who is said to have political connections which obtained his release on probation after he had been sentenced on one robbery charge. The other man sought is John Bartelli, who the girls said was driving the car.

Those held are Elmer Wolff, 111 South Campbell avenue, who rented the car; Bridget Cavallo, 20 years old, 5411 Quincy street; Helen Tindall, 18 years old, 2038 Washington boulevard; Katherine Patten, 17 years old, her sister, Eleanor, 18, and her brother, Albert, 21, all of 323 North Sacramento boulevard; William Mullen, 21, of 2548 Congress street, and John [Red] O'Keefe, 22, of 4150 Washington boulevard. All but Wolff were in the car with Joyce and Bartelli.

Drive Past Stop Light.

According to the story told to the police by Katherine Patten, the crowd had been at her home and had started to take the Cavallo girl home. At Laramie avenue and Madison street Bartelli drove past the stop light and Leonard pursued them on his motorcycle, overtaking the car in front of Miss Cavallo's home, on Quincy street, near Lotus avenue.

As Leonard and Bartelli walked up Lotus avenue toward the call box at Madison street, Joyce, according to the story told the police, reached under the seat of the car and drew out a pistol.

"One bullet will finish that copper," the girls quoted Joyce as saying as he started after Leonard.

His companions attempted to dissuade him from shooting, Katherine Patten said, and the men struggled with him, but he wrenched himself loose from their grasp. As the policeman neared the call box Joyce fired one shot. The bullet struck Leonard in the right temple.

A radio call broadcast by station W-G-N sent several squads of detectives to the scene. One squad found the abandoned car and learned it had been rented by Wolff and lent to Joyce.

Long Record as Criminal.

At the detective bureau Joyce's long record as a criminal was disclosed. Under the name of Patrick Doyle he was acquitted of a robbery charge before Judge Emanuel Eller on Feb. 15, 1927. The following day two other charges were dismissed. On Feb. 1, 1928, he was convicted of robbery before Judge Eller. He was sentenced to six months in the Bridewell.

Early this morning the police took his mother, Mrs. Mary Joyce, and his brother, James, into custody and held them for questioning.

Policeman Leonard, who lived at the Austin branch of the Y. M. C. A., 501 North Central avenue, had been a member of the force for seven years. A year ago he and Policeman Walter Franks shot and killed Scarface Louis Padersonik, a participant in the $133,000 Evergreen Park mail robbery, during a holdup in a restaurant.

Peanut Pusher Pockets Prize on Pikes Peak

Colorado Springs, Colo., June 9.—[U. P.]—Bill Williams of Rio Hondo, Tex., at 11:30 a. m. today won his bet to push a peanut with his nose up the 22 mile road to the top of Pike's peak within twenty-one days. He beat his time by a day.

Bill's auditing department revealed tonight that 184 peanuts were used in the push up the peak, and that there are 2,333 persons in Colorado Springs who have a goober that is proudly displayed as having been the one that won the race.

Harry Thaw's Mother Dies of Pneumonia

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 9.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, mother of Harry Kendall Thaw, and oldest member of that family of Pittsburghers, died at 5:20 o'clock this morning. Her death was due to pneumonia, contracted a few days ago.

Mrs. Thaw had been practically bedridden for the last four years, following a fall at the entrance to the Third Presbyterian church.

Two of Mrs. Thaw's four living children were at her bedside in Oaklawn when she died. One daughter, the Countess De Perigny, formerly Margaret Carnegie Thaw, arrived after a race with death from her home in Paris. Harry Kendall Thaw was with his mother for two days prior to her death.

Charities Kept Alive.

Despite her physical condition the last four years, Mrs. Thaw kept alive the many charities which she fostered, unknown to the public.

Mrs. Thaw was nearing her 86th birthday. Her marriage to William Thaw, financier, steamship and railroad magnate, in 1867, was a romance of the civil war. She was his second wife. Her maiden name was Mary Sibbet Copley. She was the mother of seven children to her husband who died in 1892.

Stood By Her Son.

As a memorial to her husband, Mrs. Thaw built the Presbyterian church at Appleby Manor, Armstrong county, in 1892, and established endowments at Princeton and Harvard universities. The church at Appleby Manor was destroyed by lightning and fire and she rebuilt it.

Mrs. Thaw, through the trial of her son, Harry Kendall Thaw, for the killing of Stanford White, New York architect, never wavered in her allegiance to her son's cause.

WAR HERO SAVES 2 TODDLERS FROM WHEELS OF TRAIN

Bobbie and Shirley Dodds, 2 and 4 years old, 10629 Longwood drive, were snatched from death under locomotive wheels yesterday afternoon near the Beverly Hills station of the Rock Island railroad by a war veteran who has two small daughters of his own.

Bobby and Shirley toddled on the track and a suburban train bore down on them at 25 miles an hour. Their danger was seen by Herbert B. Robinson, an advertising salesman who was wounded while serving with the 131st infantry.

Robinson vaulted the fence surrounding his home at 1905 West 107th street, sprinted a hundred feet to the children, and snatched them up when the moving train was 15 feet away, according to witnesses.

London Hints at MacDonald Visit to Hoover

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 9.—A hint that Ramsay MacDonald, new Labor prime minister of Great Britain, may visit Washington to confer with President Hoover is contained in an editorial in today's Observer. The editorial paints a vision of the United States, England, and Canada joining forces and taking on the job of enforcing the Kellogg pact against war with the combined strength of the English-speaking race.

James L. Garvin, editor of the Observer, who is frequently behind the scenes, perhaps is just throwing out a suggestion. However, there is reason for believing that Mr. MacDonald would welcome an invitation from President Hoover to talk over their various joint problems in Washington. Certainly the Observer's editorial offers the plainest possible suggestion that the United States should extend such an invitation.

The Herald, organ of the Labor party, will say tomorrow morning that if President Hoover is agreeable, Mr. MacDonald is prepared to go to America at the earliest opportunity. The matter will be discussed at a cabinet meeting tomorrow. Arthur Henderson, the new foreign minister, is quoted as saying: "We shall do everything in our power to strengthen the bonds between the two great English speaking peoples."

Would Use the Navies for Peace.

The Observer calls for the extension of the undefended border between the United States and Canada to the sea—that is, a policy by which the United States and England cease to build navies as a defense against attack by each other, preserving their forces for joint action to make the Kellogg pact a binding contract. This is called possible since no nation or combination of nations would be able to stand against the united power of the United States and Great Britain. The editorial is headed, "Hoover and Hope."

"What follows here vitally concerns every thinking reader and is written for more than ordinary reasons," the editorial says. "The way to peace is the way to all good for all nations. The longer way around is the shorter way home. That route, in the first place, is not by way of Geneva but by way of Washington.

"The question of Anglo-American relations is of paramount importance to the world because until it is setled general peace is impossible. The reality and finality of the Kellogg pact are the fundamental questions.

"Make Guarantees Knave-Proof."

"As between the American republic and British democracies, the requirements are two. The first is that President Hoover's policy of drastic reduction of naval armaments will be implemented on both sides as a decisive guarantee of good faith. The second is such a frank and fair understanding about the future of sea power as to make a sure thing—fool-proof and knave-proof—that the two fleets will never be used against each other.

"Diplomacy has broken down in questions like these because the nature of the issues does not suit the ordinary mechanism of diplomacy.

"A week's talk is worth a year's correspondence."

Believes MacDonald Would Accept.

Then with a force indicating that the statements were authorized, the Observer continues, "We are certain that when the new parliament meets and disperses again after short and mostly amicable formalities, Ramsay MacDonald on invitation will be prepared at twenty-four hours' notice to go to Washington on the first fast steamer.

"It is indispensable that he should be joined there by MacKenzie King [prime minister of Canada], who is equally concerned.

"The national life of Canada within

CITIZEN TAKING FAMILY HOME KILLED IN AUTO

Gangland's Weapon and Method Used.

Two more lives have been sacrificed to the hair trigger enforcement of the prohibition law. In each case, apparently, the man whose life was taken was innocent of any wrong doing.

One, riding with his wife and two children, was instantly killed by shots when he was unable to stop his automobile instantly when hailed by United States border patrols. The new feature of this slaying was that the upholders of the dry law used a sawed off shotgun to make sure of their game.

NO LIQUOR WAS FOUND.

The other victim was surrounded by a posse without warrant and without warning. He was killed by pistol fire.

NO LIQUOR WAS FOUND.

International Falls, Minn., June 9.—[Special.]—An American citizen, homeward bound with his family in the family automobile. It is 11:30 at night and they are driving along a dark road in the deep woods which cover the international border.

In the automobile are the citizen, his wife and two children.

There is a hail to halt from the darkness. The citizen, despite fears of a holdup, slams on the brakes.

But, before the automobile has traveled ten feet a roar of shotguns comes from the darkness.

The father is killed instantly at the wheel of the auto; twenty-six slugs are later found buried in the body of the machine, in which there were left a widow and two fatherless children.

No Liquor in Car.

Border patrols, who had fired the shots—it is thought five charges of slugs poured forth from the pump gun—search the automobile as widow and children weep over their dead.

No liquor is found, but the border patrol has established that it is as efficient in quick action as was the coast guard patrol which fired on and killed Jacob Hanson who drove his automobile too close to the international border near Buffalo.

A border control and customs inspector—who has been a member of the staff only since May—admits he fired the shots. He and his companions remain on the job, but are "requested" by federal authorities to submit to state authorities and tell their stories.

Should they be held by the coroner's jury in state courts, the federal authorities will take their case before the United States commissioner.

This, in brief, is the story of the latest prohibition law killing on the United States-Canadian border. It marks also the first use of gangland's lethal weapon—the sawed off pump gun, which scatters slugs so widely that the target cannot be missed—in the enforcement of the Volstead and Jones acts.

Taking Daughters Home.

The latest victim of the hair trigger dry officers was Henry Virkula, aged 41, of Big Fork, Minn., 49 miles south of International Falls. Mr. Virkula, owner of a confectionery store, had driven to Chicago to get his two daughters who had been attending school there.

On the way home they stopped to visit relatives in Duluth. They reached International Falls late Saturday evening and after a light meal started to drive to Big Fork.

When they reached a point about 15 miles south of the border they were commanded to stop by the border patrolmen. Mrs. Virkula claims that her husband was shot after he had obeyed the command and while slowing his car from a speed of 35 miles an hour. She said the car traveled a little more than 10 feet after the hail when the first shot was fired.

When the first shot was fired Mrs. Virkula noticed the car going into the ditch and called to her husband, "Henry, you are going off the road."

Children Saved by Slumber.

But the first shot had killed the man and five additional shots hit the car.

The buckshot riddled the back and top of the automobile. The two children were asleep in the back seat. The fact they were curled up on the seat instead of being seated in it saved their lives, as the buckshot tore through the curtains where their heads would have been had they been sitting.

The shot that killed Virkula entered the right hand side of the rear glass window and struck the man in the neck.

The patrolman notified the civil authorities and the body was picked up and brought to this city and placed in a local undertaking establishment. An inquest will be held by the county coroner Monday morning.

Fired High to Hit Tires?

The two men concerned in the shooting, Patrolmen E. V. Servine and Emmett J. White, at once gave themselves into custody of the local United States authorities.

When questioned at the United States customs office White, who did the shooting, said that he fired at the car with the idea of hitting the tires, which would have caused the driver to stop and submit to a search.

But his statement is not borne out by the appearance of the car. Of the more than a score of shots which struck the car, none entered the body lower than four feet above the level of the roadway, while five of them went through the top.

Attorney Orders Inquiry.

Davis Hurlburt, prosecuting attorney of Koochiching county, ordered an inquiry by coroner and other county officials. He announced that the state of Minnesota would attempt to prosecute the border patrol men if the coroner held them for murder or manslaughter.

The federal customs officials announced they would try to take the cases into federal court if the men were indicted, acting under the old revenue law that federal officers were exempt from prosecution in the state courts for "crimes committed in performance of duty."

The public sentiment of the entire district is aroused, both by friendship to the victim and by previous shootings by the border patrol.

Written Report Asked.

Duluth, Minn., June 9.—(AP)—Emmett J. White, customs patrol inspector, who shot and killed Henry Virkula of Big Fork, is a Duluthian and was one of six new border patrol inspectors who joined the staff May 1, N. A. Linderberg, assistant collector of customs, said today.

E. A. Servine, who was with White, has been in the service for five years.

An investigation has been ordered by Mr. Linderberg which will be in charge of Walter Nelson, chief of border patrol inspectors. Mr. Linderberg has requested a written report of the shooting upon which to base possible charges of suspension. Neither of the two officers has yet been suspended.

The new border patrolmen, including White, were counseled by Mr. Linderberg prior to taking their posts in the careful use of firearms, he said here today. They were instructed that the firearms were given them for the purpose of self-defense.

DRYS SNEAK UP AND KILL

Cincinnati, O., June 9.—[Special.]—Without a warrant, and without giving any warning, a posse of dry law enforcers fired into the camp of a law abiding citizen on the banks of the Miami river and killed him.

Such is the account of the murder of Bradley Jones, given by officers and a companion of the slain man, at an inquest conducted by Coroner Edward Cook of Butler county.

The coroner announced closing of the inquest today, but deferred decision as to the identity of the slayer. He declined to give a verdict of justifiable homicide on the grounds that no evidence of any conversation between the prohibition raiders and their victim was presented.

No Resistance Offered.

Jones lived at Latonia, Ky., and being out of a job, decided to try camping near Shandon on the line between Hamilton and Butler counties, the coroner was told. In the camp with him lived Oscar Kouba. Jones had a small 22 caliber rifle which he used to shoot rats, Kouba testified. But the murdered man did not use it, Kouba said, when ambuscaded by the officers of the law.

No evidence was produced to show that Jones had any liquor in the camp, that his reputation was the least bit shady, or that he had ever entertained or been friendly with the police characters the officers claimed to be seeking.

The posse was comprised of 14 deputies from Hamilton and Butler counties and a group of constables. Its members had no warrant to search Jones' camp. Testimony at the inquest was that they simply drove up and fired a volley of shots into the camp from their automobiles.

Two of the raiders brazenly admitted at the inquest that they had fired at Jones' camp. Constable William Moeller said he shot once, and Deputy Sheriff Dan Tinner testified that he fired once, too. And Jones was killed, the evidence disclosed, by a bullet of the same calibre as those used by Moeller and Tinner.

Under oath, each of the two men who admitted shooting, said he gave no warning, participated in no conversation with Jones before shooting, or even offered to serve legal papers of any description on the camper.

Some One Else Being Sought.

The officers said they were hunting for Robert Sewick of Hamilton county when they attacked Jones' camp. Sewick was reported to be a liquor hijacker and was believed to have been shot while with Joe Jacobs, another alleged hijacker, by enemies of the latter. It was not indicated at the inquest that Jones was in any way associated with either Sewick or Jacobs, or that the officers had any reason to suspect him of such connection.

Ruthless Enforcement of Dry Law Steadily Increases Its Graveyard

With an outbreak of hair trigger dry enforcement reported yesterday from Minnesota, home state of Andrew Volstead, and from Ohio, mother state of the Anti-Saloon league, recent atrocities of the prohibition era in other states were recalled to an Illinois citizenry, still inflamed over the De King killing at Aurora.

Only last Thursday, a jury in Abingdon, Va., disagreed in the murder trial of James M. Crowe, who was charged with pursuing and killing J. W. Kendrick, a 17 year old college boy for whose conviction he would have earned a fee. Deputy Sheriff W. H. Worley and Constable James McRaynolds are still awaiting trial. Young Kendrick had been killed a month previously when the car in which he was riding with two companions was rained with bullets fired by the three officers. The jury was agreed on Crowe's guilt, it was reported, but could not reach unanimity on the penalty.

Hanson Defendant Acquitted.

An earlier trial and acquittal, which aroused nation-wide indignation and stirred both the house and senate at Washington, occurred eight days earlier in Rochester, N. Y., when Glenn Jennings, the coast guardsman, was found not guilty of murdering Jacob D. Hanson of Buffalo. It was the second trial for Jennings, a jury having disagreed in Federal court in the first trial.

Minnesota, where a new killing was reported yesterday by a border patrolman, had figured recently in the prohibition news.

On the night of last April 3, Edward Sikorski, 37, of Winona, was dragged from his sick bed by federal prohibition agents, driven 130 miles to St. Paul, in his shirt sleeves and bedroom slippers, and died there of double pneumonia. Harry Harris, a roomer in the Sikorski home, had something less than a quart of liquor in his room, the agents claimed.

Prohibition headquarters in the national capital took on interest in the Sikorski affair. Assistant Administrator Seymour Lowman had been invoked four months earlier, however, to curb alleged sluggers who had swaggered into St. Paul cafés and personally searched the guests.

Complain to Congressman.

On one such visitation, the agents were resisted by Allan McGill, former assistant county attorney. They retaliated by beating him up, and McGill complained to Congressman Melvin Maas. Lowman promised an "investigation" of the situation, but no action was taken at Washington. Attorney McGill has meanwhile sought grand jury action against the four agents he accused of the slugging.

No killings by dry enforcers have recently been reported in Ohio, but within the last two months the governor of that state and a United States commissioner were provoked to scathing rebuke of the practice of the state dry agents in using schoolgirls for decoys.

Using Girls as Decoys.

Edward Little and John Cole, aces of the under cover division of the state prohibition bureau, brought two 18 year old girls before Commissioner J. H. Horner at Columbus, the state capital. The girls testified to having purchased liquor from Harry V. Poole and Amos Frank, both of Lancaster, who were charged with conspiracy to violate the Volstead act.

Katherine Grunion said she had been given a phonograph for her activity in the case, while her chum, Carrier Walton, testified the agents gave her a $35 ukulele. Commissioner Horner threw the case out after lecturing both the girls and the agents.

"These officers have gone beyond all propriety in taking young, innocent girls on raids and sending them in to buy liquor," he said. "If they have to use such methods to catch bootleggers, they had best leave the bootlegger alone, and I don't want them in my court. If you girls value tional capital took no interest in the ing parties."

Gov. Myers L. Cooper vigorously condemned the practice exposed before the commissioner, and indicated he would instigate a thorough investigation and seek dismissal of the agents involved.

No comment was forthcoming from Westerville, O., national headquarters of the Anti-Saloon league, which habitually issues a tirade against "the liquor interests" when such incidents are brought to light.

Wet states as well as those of dry tendencies have experienced the rigor of Volstead zealotry, the record of 1928 shows. The case of Charles V. Gunderlacht, 77, a farmer of St. Mary's county, Maryland, a state which has always balked at passage of a state enforcement act, is an illustration.

Wounded Marylander Slain.

Gunderlacht was shot down when four federal agents without warrants came on his premises in search of liquor in the summer of 1928. The evidence showed that the aged farmer fell on the roadside with a shotgun slug in his chest and was killed as he lay begging for mercy. The four agents pleaded self-defense and were acquitted when the government transferred the trial to jurisdiction of the federal courts.

A three year old boy was a dry raid victim in 1927 in Kentucky, a state once famous for its distilleries. Robert Hollingsworth, small son of a farmer of Georgetown, Ky., was shot in the back the night of Oct. 31, 1927, when prohibition agents raided the farm of his grandparents. The child's relatives all accused Ben F. Unthank, deputy prohibition administrator.

"I don't know whether I shot the child or not," Unthank remarked. "I don't see how I could have."

While the child was in the hospital, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Woods, and his uncle, Bristol Hollingsworth, were locked up, charged with resisting federal officers and violating the prohibition law.

GANG KIDNAPS THEATER MAN; ROBS HIS SAFE

For the fourth time in as many weeks a band of robbers kidnaped a theater manager early this morning, forced him to reveal the combination of the safe in the theater office, and escaped with money. The $902 loot was taken from the Knickerbocker theater, 6225 Broadway.

The robbers surrounded Theodore J. Freytag, the theater manager, as he entered a private garage in the 6300 block in Lakewood avenue to get his car and drive to his home at 2600 North Kedzie avenue. Two of the robbers guarded Freytag and Raymond Hallberg, 1253 Rosemont avenue, whom Freytag intended driving home.

The other pair, having taken the theater keys and the safe numbers, drove to the Knickerbocker, bound the watchman, James Principatio, 1717 Morse avenue, and spent twenty minutes looting the safe.

DOSE OF POISON FATAL TO WIFE OF PHYSICIAN

Mrs. Bernice Haynes, 36 years old, wife of Dr. Halbert A. Haynes, a physician practicing at 4458 West Madison street, died at the West Suburban hospital in Oak Park last night of self-administered poison, according to police reports.

A statement on file at the Fillmore police station declares Mrs. Haynes took the poison in her husband's office at 2:30 p. m. and in the doctor's presence. The report was written on a blank provided for accident cases.

Dr. Haynes was not available last night at his office or his residence, 4766 West End avenue. Coroner Herman N. Bundesen has scheduled an inquest for 11 o'clock this morning in a mortuary at 3159 West Jackson boulevard, where Mrs. Haynes' body was taken from the hospital.

OLD DOC CARTER CARVES ON TWO IN HOTEL ROOM

Boy, 7, Has Operation on Both Eyes.

Although he was recently sentenced to six months in prison and fined $500 for practicing medicine without a license, Old Doc Franklin O. Carter, self-styled surgical specialist, whose operations have cost a number of persons their sight, is still performing delicate operations on eyes.

Out of a cell only because he has taken his case to the Illinois Supreme court on appeal, Old Doc Carter yesterday took a young man and a 7 year old boy to a dark, ramshackle North State street hotel and there in a bedroom cut them with surgical knives to cure crossed eyes.

After the operations he turned the victims of his surgery out on the street and both being from Pennsylvania towns, they went almost immediately to take railroad trains back to their homes.

Find Boy in Station.

Old Doc Carter's latest trickery was discovered when a representative of the Travelers' Aid society found the father of the 7 year old boy sitting in the Grand Central station, waiting to take a train back to Farrell, Pa. A few moments, conversation with him revealed the fact that Carter must have some elaborate scheme for advertising himself as an eye specialist in the steel and industrial towns of the east.

When the Aid society's representative first saw Frank Fister of Farrell, Pa., he had his little boy lying on his lap.

"I noticed the boy was in an unnatural sleep and that blood was running from one of his eyes," the observer said. "I went over and talked with the father and he told me of the operation by Dr. Carter. I found the child was still half under the influence of the ether administered for the operation.

"The child's condition alarmed me. I told some of the Baltimore & Ohio employés about it and one of them took the child out to the county hospital in his car."

Operates on Both Eyes.

At the county hospital Dr. D. E. Woodard and Dr. C. D. Parker attended the boy. They discovered Carter had operated on both eyes.

Mr. Fister, who lives at 704 French street, in Farrell, and who is employed by the American Steel & Wire company, said he gave Carter $50 for the operation. He said he had to agree to send $110 more as soon as he got home and pay $25 a month until a total of $310 was paid. When he had paid it all, Carter would send him glasses which he said the boy needed.

The father told this story:

"I brought my boy here because a man in the steel mills told me Carter was a wonderful eye doctor. I wanted my boy to have the best treatment possible so I traveled all the way to Chicago to see Carter. I thought he was a great specialist.

"I came into the city this morning and went over to Carter's office at 177 North State street. He was there to meet me and my boy and I went to breakfast with him. Afterwards, this other young man came along and Carter took us all up North State street and across the river.

Register at Old Hotel.

"We went only a few doors beyond the bridge when we came to an old red building. There was nothing on the first floor, which was vacant, but he took us upstairs and there was a hotel above. He told me to register and take a room. I did so and so did the young man. We each paid $2.50 for the rooms. Dr. Carter took a third room. First he took the young man in his room and then he came out and took my boy, Stephan, in. He was in there for a time and then he brought the boy back in my room and told me I could go.

"He had performed an operation on both my boy's eyes. He said it was necessary."

"What did Dr. Carter look like?" he was asked.

The father described perfectly the bluff old quack, who looks like some English country gentleman.

"Did you see any of the surgical instruments Carter used?"

"I saw two knives. He didn't have any instrument case or anything like that to carry instruments in. I guess he must have carried them in his pocket."

"Did he give you any reason for not performing the operations in his office?"

"No, he didn't. I thought it was strange, because his office looked as though it was equipped for surgery. But he just told us to come along and took us to this old red brick building across the river."

The hotel to which Carter took his victims was found last night and Mr. Fister's name was on the register, together with that of one John J. McGarry of Trapford, Pa., and the latter was presumed to have been the young man the old quack operated upon. Mr. Fister occupied Room 207, and the latter No. 209.

"Yes, he did."

Old Doc Carter lost his license on a charge of malpractice in 1926, but he still maintains his office at 177 North State street with his name prominent on the doors and windows.

FIRE KILLS 2 CHILDREN AND THEIR FATHER

Two little children, a boy and a girl, were burned to death in the kitchen of their home yesterday. Their father died of his burns early this morning in Garfield Park hospital. The tragedy occurred while the father was kindling a fire to help an older daughter who was preparing the Sunday breakfast and starting out to take care of the family in the place of her mother who was buried on Saturday. Another son and a neighbor were severly burned.

The father, Frank Czoher, 43 years old, had just returned to the home, 3954 Metropolitan place, from early mass when his daughter, Frances, 13 years old, asked him to kindle a fire in the stove. Then she stepped out to a neighboring grocery. Sophia, 9 years old, and Edward, 4, were in the kitchen. The fourth child, Stanley, 6 years old, was bouncing a ball in the yard.

Kerosene Causes Fire.

The fire was slow in starting and Czoher poured kerosene over the fuel. There was an explosion, and the clothing of the father and the two children caught fire. While the father was carrying Edward outside and struggling to beat out the fire in his clothes, little Stanley darted into the blazing kitchen, unnoticed. Stanley's body was found under the kitchen table after the fire had been extinguished.

After saving Edward, the father, despite his own serious burns, darted back into the kitchen for Sophia. John Kozin, whose home is across the street, arrived at this instant and joined the father in the kitchen, although the flames were spreading over the walls, which were freshly painted. Together they carried Sophia outside, but it was too late to save her. The child died several hours later in Garfield Park hospital. Kozin was seriously burned.

Frances returned from her errand at the moment firemen arrived under the command of Chief Michael Yore of the 23d battalion. She missed her brother, Stanley, and the firemen were compelled to hold her and her father from trying to save the boy in the kitchen, which by that time was a blazing mass.

Priest Interrupts Service.

Father Francis Jagielski of St. Francis church, Kostner avenue and Walton street, who had conducted Mrs. Czoher's funeral, was summoned from the church. He interrupted the service he was conducting to go to the stricken family.

Czoher had just made the last payment on his little home when his wife died suddenly last Wednesday. Kozin was reported in a serious condition in Garfield Park hospital last night. Edward's burns were trated in St. Anne's hospital, and he was taken later to the home of a relative. Damage to the home from the fire was confined to the kitchen.

Alice Walczak, 5 years old, 4342 South Hoyne avenue, was burned to death yesterday. Her mother, Mrs. Kate Walczak, heard the child scream, and found her clothing afire in front of her home. The mother was unable to learn how the accident happened.

Sergt. Reynolds Gets May Police Efficiency Honor

Sergt. Frank Reynolds of the detective bureau was cited yesterday for his efficiency record during the month of May. He and his squad recovered property valued at $23,300 and made thirty-three arrests, which cleared up one murder, forty-nine robberies, one rape, one burglary, and fifteen larceny cases.

GLASS ACTS AS DAGGER; PIERCES HEART OF FIGHTER

Glass that entered his back and cut his heart when he was pushed through the rear window of a street car during a fight with two companions was fatal to William Bauma, 25 years old, a truck driver of 5759 South Richmond street early yesterday. James Ivers, 29 years old, 5705 South Seeley avenue, and Frank Mullaney, 28, 7326 South Marshfield avenue, with whom Bauma was fighting, were held by the police pending an inquest this morning.

Bauma, Ivers, and Mullaney boarded a 63d street car at Wentworth avenue. Witnesses told the police they appeared to have been drinking. A quarrel started and Bauma struck Ivers in the face. In the ensuing mêlée, Bauma was forced through the window and doubled backwards over the glass. He was dead when police arrived with him at the Englewood hospital.

LONDON HINTS AT MACDONALD BID TO VISIT HOOVER

Would Unite Nations as Weapon for Peace.

the empire is irrevocably staked upon neighborly maintenance of the 'undefended frontier' stretching 3,000 miles to the ocean. It is staked on moral security and not physical. Statesmanship at Ottawa must combine the maxims of Alexander Hamilton and Joseph Chamberlain. It must 'think continentally' before with usefulness it can 'think imperially.' Any policy subordinating Anglo-American friendship to European commitments of any kind would make the Canadian position in the empire untenable.

"Up to Washington."

"Since Mr. Gibson's declaration at Geneva, all President Hoover's words have suggested the importance of striking while the iron is hot. President Hoover, after the electoral interruption in this country, finds his desire for dispatch reciprocated with a whole heart by both London and Ottawa. It is up to Washington now.

"The conference we hope for would be by far the most memorable and effctual council of three that has ever met in the English speaking world. The "undefended frontier," which the whole British empire has long accepted, must be extended to the maritime element.

"The Canadian plan is now only known continentally and must apply oceanically. As between Great Britain and America the Atlantic itself must become the greatest of all examples of an 'unfedended frontier.'

Asks for Sea Parity.

"This means devising standards of sea parity on a lower level and such terms of sea laws as to insure that the two great navies of the English speaking world never will be used against each other and never will be combined against a third except to suppress any attempt at arbitrary violation of the Kellogg pact by any signatory failing to submit its case beforehand to the co-signatories and accept a reasonable delay for mediation. This is the one sure key for world peace. There is no other."

Bandit Calls for Ice Cream; Gets It and $20

Filling a telephoned order for a quart of ice cream and carrying change for $20 as the customer requested, Lawrence Wallemade, clerk in a drug store at 4400 West North avenue, went to 4164 Wabansia avenue last night to ask for "Mr. Parker." As he started up the walk a bandit with a voice resembling "Mr. Parker's" demanded the cash and ice cream, with which he fled. Police said no one named Parker resided at 4164 Wabansia avenue.

TRIES TO KILL SELF WITH A GUN, BUT 2D SHOT SAVES HIS LIFE

Frank Gonder, 40 year old carpenter, fired a bullet into his chest yesterday morning at his home, 1625 Burton avenue, Highland Park, and then fired a second shot at his head as he lay on the floor.

By an extraordinary circumstance, the second bullet, which grazed his temple, became the instrument which saved Gonder's life. In falling with the chest wound, he upset the telephone and Miss Ellen Udee, operator at the Highland Park telephone exchange, heard the second shot.

Miss Udee notified the Highland Park police, who took Gonder to the Highland Park hospital. Surgeons there said he would live, adding that he would certainly have bled to death except for prompt attention to his wound.

Gonder's wife, Minerva, a clerk in the Highland Park ticket office of the North Shore railroad, left him last Thursday, according to the police. Three quart bottles emptied of wine and a full quart of whisky were found on the table with the telephone in his home.

FAMILY OF FIVE STRICKEN; BLAME POISONED FOOD

Shortly after eating breakfast yesterday morning Frank Cannella, 50 years old, 3330 North Ashland avenue, his wife, and three children became violently ill, apparently from the effects of poisoned food. Prompt medical attention prevented any danger to the lives of the five persons, although Mrs. Anna Cannella, 45 years old, was reported in a serious condition last night.

Cannella told Dr. Stanley Fuqua, who attended the family, and Sergt. Bob Wells of the North Robey street station that his family had breakfasted on coffee and coffee cake. Condensed milk had been used in the coffee. Samples of all three commodities were obtained by the police for analysis by a city chemist.

The children stricken were Victor, 14 years old; Lena, 11 years old; and Mary, 9 years old.

Police Discharge Tear Gas Through Keyholes; Nab 8

Tear gas used early yesterday in a raid on an alleged gambling house at 9220 Commercial avenue netted Lieut. William Reed and his squad eight inmates. When the occupants of the place ignored the policemen's demand that they unlock the doors, Lieut. Reed discharged the tear gas through the keyholes of the front and rear doors. An instant later the doors were thrown open and the inmates rushed out. Dennis O'Keefe was booked as keeper of the place.

Soviets Greet 35 Italian Planes for South Russia

ODESSA, Russia, June 9.—(AP)—The Italian air squadron of 35 planes, led by Gen. Balbo, vice minister of Italian aviation, arrived here today from Barna, Bulgaria, in continuation of their tour. They were greeted by soviet military and diplomatic officials. The Italians will leave on Monday.

KING FINDS REST FROM HARD WORK IN U. S. TUNES

TIRANA, Albania, June 9.—(AP)—King Zog I., Albania's self-made sovereign, although on the throne less than a year, has won the title of the hardest working monarch in the world.

Eighteen hours of unremitting toil daily, with only ten minutes of exercise every two hours in the seclusion of his white stucco palace here, is what he considers an ordinary day's work. The king rises at six o'clock, sips a cup of Turkish coffee, puffs a cigarette and plunges immediately into work.

His only diversion is occasional play in the closely guarded palace grounds with his favorite dogs. In the evening the long labors are broken only when the king plays his favorite American melodies on his American phonograph procured for him by United States Minister Charles C. Hart.

Senn High School Boy Seized on Girl's Charge

Bernard Callner, 18 year old student at Senn High school, was arrested last night at his home, 756 Junior terrace, on a wararnt obtained by a north side woman who charged he had attacked her 15 year old daughter. The youth's father, Irwin Callner, president of a construction company at 134 North La Salle street, provided bonds of $11,500 for his son's release. Young Callner will be arraigned this morning in Boys' court before Judge John H. Lyle.

Heat Fells 240 Viennese as 500,000 Watch Parade

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, June 9.—Two hundred and forty people were overcome with the heat and taken to hospitals today during the monster parade inaugurating a week of festival in honor of the 30th anniversary of the death of the Viennese composer, Johann Strauss. It is estimated that 500,000 people lined the Ringstrasse for three miles to watch the procession of floats.

FIVE KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS; TOLL IS NOW 334

Many Cars Crash on Crowded Highways.

Four persons were crushed to death, one perished in flames, and several were critically hurt in automobile accidents late Saturday night and early yesterday. These five deaths raised the county motor toll to 334 this year.

Sunday motorists clogged the highways, starting soon after sunrise and until late last night, and scores of cars collided or were ditched. However, the jam of machines so retarded traffic that few of the daylight accidents had serious consequences.

Victims Are Listed.

The dead in the night accidents were:

Lawrence Thompson, 21 years old, 211 North Major avenue. He was driving home on the Higgins road after attending a week-end party at Beverly lake, when his small sedan ran into a ditch in Cook county east of Elgin, crashed into a telephone pole, and burst into flames. County highway police extinguished the blazing wreck and removed the driver's body.

Carl Skoog, 20 years old, 7110 Cottage Grove avenue. He, with Burt and Ray Hockley, brothers of 3035 South Sacramento avenue, were en route to Danville, Ill., to visit relatives when their car collided with another near Beecher, plunged into a ditch, and overturned. Skoog was pronounced dead in St. James' hospital, Chicago Heights, where the brothers' slight injuries were treated.

Car Crashes Into Pole.

Jacob Schmidt, 60 years old, 1221 West 73d street. Instantly killed and his three companions escaped with slight injuries when the driver, George Niess, 5932 South Artesian avenue, ignored a stop light at Western avenue and 47th street, crashed into another machine and brought up his own car against a telephone pole. Niess and the other two occupants of his car, John Rutter, 7930 South Loomis street, and James Wickerling, [illegible] South Wood street, were attended at a nearby physician's office.

George Geiger, 50 years old, 837 North Homan avenue. Died in the Mount Sinai hospital of injuries received at Roosevelt road and Fairfield avenue when he stepped from behind a street car into the path of an automobile driven by Leo J. Wilk, 1406 South Halsted street.

William F. Schreiner, 60 years old, of Deerfield. His body was found in a ditch along the Dundee road near Northbrook, where he had apparently [illegible] car at Carmen and Lincoln avenues, Blaine Dickson, 28 years old, a watchman for an oil company of Tessville, suffered a skull fracture. He was still unconscious hours later at the Swedish Covenant hospital.

Eastbound in Chicago avenue at a speed of fifty miles an hour, John J. Pittner, 23 years old, 114 West Maple street, drove his car at Wells street into a newspaper truck, which was hurled against a street car. Pittner, uninjured, was arrested by the Chicago avenue police. The truck driver, Arthur F. Kaltneger, 34 years old, 3725 Byron street, suffered internal injuries and a fractured hip.

GUNMEN RAID 2 ROADHOUSES; GET SLOT MACHINES

Seven gunmen, apparently acting as agents of a disgruntled slot machine syndicate, held up two roadhouses at Deep Lake, in Lake county, fifteen miles west of Waukegan, late last night. From Henning Johnson's resort they took seven slot machines, and from John Jackson's place, just across the road, they obtained six machines. Without touching cash registers or money drawers, they loaded the machines into a truck. They fled in the direction of Chicago, according to Sheriff Doolittle of Lake county.

While veteran flyers were debating whether or not to take the air at all, the inexperienced youth calmly taxied his plane out of the hangar, climbed into the cockpit and took off.

Stewart was crushed in the wreckage of the plane. Chicago Lawn police extricated his body from the wreckage. Stewart had obtained his student's license on March 15. The plane also was licensed.

Elyria, O., June 9.—(AP)—George Huneke, 20, of Elyria was killed instantly and Richard Clark, 21, of Elyria was injured, probably fatally, in an airplane crash at the Elyria air service field near here today. Returning from a short pleasure hop, Carl Vanderveer, the pilot, brought the plane within about 100 feet of the ground when it went into a tail spin and smashed. The pilot suffered only minor injuries.

Plane Falls on Auto; Four Hurt.

Youngstown, O., June 9.—(AP)—An airplane crashed on top of an automobile near here today, and, although there were four persons in the car, none of them was killed. All were injured seriously, however. The injured are Miss Margaret Smith, 22, New Castle, Pa. and Mrs. John Hosten, 44, ence Cooley, 30, and John Hosten, all of Youngstown.

A 22 year old girl, said to be a student pilot, was operating the airplane at the time of the crash. Her identity was not learned, as she disappeared shortly after the accident. She was not injured.

Planes Crashes; Three Injured.

Red Cloud, Neb., June 9.—(AP)—Harold Rudd, 21, flying school instructor at Hastings, Neb., Henry Erickson, 20, and Lawrence Hanson, 21, all of Inavale, Neb., were seriously injured at Inavale late today when a plane piloted by Rudd crashed from an altitude of about 150 feet shortly after leaving the ground.

Letters Identify Victim.

Frostburg, Md., June 9.—(AP)—Letters, scorched but legible, were the means of identifying Lieut. Harry A. Saunders, one of the two men burned beyond recognition in an airplane accident four miles west of here late yesterday afternoon. The letters were signed by Esther D. Finn of Silt, Colo. One was addressed to Lieut. Saunders at the Fairfield airport, Fairfield, O., and another to him at Dayton, O., as a member of the Second bombardment group.

The second victim was thought to be Sergt. E. S. Woodward of Waynesville, S. C., but his identification was not regarded as positive.

STUDENT FLYER KILLED AS PLANE CRASHES IN FOG

Ernest Stewart, 23 years old, 6241 Greenwood avenue, a student pilot, was killed yesterday when his plane went into a spinning nose dive and crashed near Kilpatrick avenue and 87th street. He had taken off from the municipal air field at 63d street and Cicero avenue, had flown about 15 minutes and was about two miles from the field, when he attempted to turn, lost flying speed and crashed.

Seasoned pilots who saw the youth crash laid the accident to his inexperience at the controls. They said the field was covered with a thick fog when the young aviator took off at 6:05 a. m., and that conditions were such as would have caused a more experienced flyer to hesitate in taking to the air at all.

"The ceiling was very low and the fog so thick he ought not to have gone up at all," said one pilot. "He had risen to about 2,000 feet and must have got scared when he couldn't see the ground below him, for he made a sudden, flat turn that threw him into the spin."

The plane young Stewart was piloting was a Curtiss Swallow with an OX5 type of motor. It was owned jointly by himself and Virgil M. Broom, 7427 South Shore drive. Mr. Broom told officials they purchased the plane about a month ago and that he had instructed Stewart, who had only a few hours alone in the air to his credit, never to take it out of the hangar unless he, Broom, were with him.

Goes Up While Veterans Hesitate.

W. Warner, an attaché of the airport, said young Stewart appeared at the airfield shortly before 6 o'clock in the morning. While veteran flyers were debating whether or not to take the air at all, the inexperienced youth calmly taxied his plane out of the hangar, climbed into the cockpit and took off.

Stewart was crushed in the wreckage of the plane. Chicago Lawn police extricated his body from the wreckage. Stewart had obtained his student's license on March 15. The plane also was licensed.

Stewart came to Chicago from Canada four months ago. He was employed as a lineman by the Commonwealth Edison company. His parents live in Toronto.

DEMOCRATS AND RADICALS UNITE TO HARRY HOOVER

Seek to Put Him on Farm Relief Defensive.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 9.—[Special.]—The Hoover administration is to be kept constantly on the defensive if the Democrats and radical Republicans can accomplish it.

This is the object of the anti-administration coalition in what would appear to be an otherwise entirely futile attempt to incorporate the export debenture scheme in the Hoover farm relief program.

Real Motive Appears.

Even if the senate should go to the extent of rejecting the conference report on the farm relief bill this week, it is beyond the realm of possibilities to suppose that the export subsidy plan can be forced into the law. The real motive of the Democrats and radicals, it appears, is to put President Hoover definitely and unmistakably in the light of refusing to support what is admitted to be a certain method of boosting prices on farm products.

The anti-administration forces desire to create the same sort of an issue against Hoover by means of the debenture plan that was stirred up against President Coolidge because of the veto of two McNary-Haugen bills.

Call Democratic Conference.

The partisan aspect of the situation will be emphasized tomorrow when all senate Democrats will meet in a conference at the call of Senator J. T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], the minority leader. The chief purpose of the conference will be to hold the Democrats together in opposition to the farm bill conference report, already approved by the house and awaiting only senate action before being transmitted to the White House for the President's signature.

Thus far Senator Robinson has been able to hold his forces together, even to the extent of obtaining coöperation from a number of Democrats who are personally opposed to the debenture plan. Only four Democrats in the senate were on record against the debenture scheme when it was voted into the senate bill some weeks ago.

Pressure Keeps Them in Line.

Partisan pressure on the Democrats promises to be so great as to keep most of them in line against the farm bill conference report, even though their votes will technically be against the entire program of agricultural relief which is eventually scheduled to become law. Without this pressure many of the Democrats would be glad to avoid going on record in this manner.

The radical Republicans, whose chief political ambition is to add to their numbers in the senatorial and congressional elections next year, also desire to capitalize the debenture issue. One of their group, Senator Gerald P. Nye [Rep., N. D.], originally intended to vote against the debenture provision, but swung into line for it after his colleagues are said to have threatened to put up a candidate against him when he comes up for renomination next year. Recently Senator Nye planned to support the farm bill conference report, but his radical colleagues again have whipped him into line.

Expect Constant Trouble.

The administration leaders expect constant trouble at the hands of the Democrats and radicals, but think the reaction of the country generally to the tactics being employed will be adverse to the anti-administration groups. Already enactment of the farm bill has been delayed for several weeks by the opposition and the principal effect of the present maneuvers will be further delay.

Meanwhile, according to the impression of friends of President Hoover, the country is getting restless because members of the minority party and radicals within the majority party are obstructing action on the precise program of farm relief legislation which was an issue in the last election and which won overwhelming approval of the voters.

Debate on the farm bill conference report will continue tomorrow in the senate and may run on into Tuesday or Wednesday. Both sides conceded today that the vote may be very close.

Hammer Away on Tariff.

Meanwhile, the Democrats and radical Republicans also are preparing to keep the regular Republicans and the Hoover administration on the defensive in connection with the consideration of tariff legislation. The radicals contributed today an attack upon the personnel of the subcommittees of the senate finance committee, as announced a few days ago by Chairman Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah]. The attack was sponsored by the People's Legislative Service, the organization formed by the late Senator Robert M. La Follette, and which acts as the official mouthpiece of the radical group.

Tariff hearings before the finance committee are to commence on Wednesday. The full commmittee will hear witnesses on valuation provisions on that day and the subcommittees will start on the various schedules on Thursday. Whether an agreement will be possible for dates for final votes in advance of a summer recess of congress should speedily become apparent as soon as the farm relief bill is out of the way. If an agreement can be reached congress expects to recess by the end of this week until Sept. 3.

BECOMES PARTNER OF FINANCIER HE MET AT CAMP ALGONQUIN

As the result of a chance encounter nine years ago between Samuel Ungerleider of the New York stock exchange, a contributor to Camp Algonquin, and Edwin L. Weisl, who was earning his way through law school at the University of Chicago by working during the summer as a playground instructor at the camp on the Fox river, announcement was made yesterday that Mr. Weisl has been made a partner in the Wall street brokerage house of Samuel Ungerleider and company.

On leaving Camp Algonquin after a visit there, the financier requested the law student to get in touch with him when his course was completed. Weisl did so, and thus found himself named an assistant United States attorney by President Wilson at the request of Mr. Ungerleider and at that time the youngest federal prosecutor on the government pay roll. There he spent five years, resigning to practice law privately. He now enters a concern rated as one of the big ten on Wall street.

'MONSTER MAKER' DIES; TRAINED CIRCUS FREAKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THURINGIA, Germany, June 9.—The town of Gera mourns the death of Wilhelm Scherf, inventor of a new profession, "monster maker."

For the last 20 years Herr Scherf sought out and trained all sorts of unfortunates who could be exhibited as monsters at country fairs. Thus, out of a misshaped apprentice, by use of hair growing drugs, Herr Scherf made "the human gorilla from Borneo." The latter was trained to eat grass and hay and launched as "the missing link between man and horse."

The monster factory turned out to be financially profitable, so Herr Scherf was able to found a printing house and publish a periodical devoted to the interests of human monsters in circuses all over the world.

Belgrade Girls Fight for Ankle Display and Rouge

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BELGRADE, June 9.—Female municipal clerks are up in arms today against an order which the mayor of Belgrade has issued requiring women employés to wear skirts reaching the ankles and prohibiting the use of rouge and cosmetics. The girls are framing an official protest, in which they will assert that only evil minds see anything indecent in women's legs while cosmetics are used all over the civilized world.

American Painter Slays Bull in Matador Debut

Many Cars Crash on Crowded Highways.

Four persons were crushed to death, one perished in flames, and several were critically hurt in automobile accidents late Saturday night and early yesterday. These five deaths raised the county motor toll to 334 this year.

Sunday motorists clogged the highways, starting soon after sunrise and until late last night, and scores of cars collided or were ditched. However, the jam of machines so retarded traffic that few of the daylight accidents had serious consequences.

Victims Are Listed.

The dead in the night accidents were:

Laurence Thompson, 21 years old, 111 North Major avenue. He was driving home on the Higgins road after attending a week-end party at Beverly lake, when his small sedan ran into a ditch in Cook county east of Elgin, crashed into a telephone pole, and burst into flames. County highway police extinguished the blazing wreck and removed the driver's body.

Carl Skoog, 20 years old, 7110 Cottage Grove avenue. He, with Burt and Ray Hockley, brothers of 3035 South Sacramento avenue, were en route to Danville, Ill., to visit relatives when their car collided with another near Beecher, plunged into a ditch, and overturned. Skoog was pronounced dead in St. James' hospital, Chicago Heights, where the brothers' slight injuries were treated.

Car Crashes Into Pole.

Jacob Schmidt, 60 years old, 1221 West 73d street. Instantly killed and his three companions escaped with slight injuries when the driver, George Niess, 5932 South Artesian avenue, ignored a stop light at Western avenue and 47th street, crashed into another machine and brought up his own car against a telephone pole. Niess and the other two occupants of his car, John Rutter, 7930 South Loomis street, and James Wickerling, 6032 South Wood street, were attended at a nearby physician's office.

George Geiger, 50 years old, 837 North Homan avenue. Died in the Mount Sinai hospital of injuries received at Roosevelt road and Fairfield avenue when he stepped from behind a street car into the path of an automobile driven by Leo J. Wilk, 1406 South Halsted street.

William F. Schreiner, 60 years old, of Deerfield. His body was found in a ditch along the Dundee road near Northbrook, where he had apparently been struck and killed by a hit and run driver.

An attempt to leap from the sedan of which his wife had lost control on a crushed stone road near Monon, Ind., proved fatal for Charles Haas, 55 years old, a minor executive of Sears, Roebuck & Co., residing at 8225 Maryland avenue. The car struck a boulder, swerved into the ditch, and overturned, crushing Haas' skull as he sprang to the running board. His wife, Bertha, who remained at the wheel, was shaken but not injured.

In a head-on collision with a street car at Carmen and Lincoln avenues, Blaine Dickson, 28 years old, a watchman for an oil company of Tessville, suffered a skull fracture. He was still unconscious hours later at the Swedish Covenant hospital.

Eastbound in Chicago avenue at a speed of fifty miles an hour, John J. Pittner, 23 years old, 114 West Maple street, drove his car at Wells street into a newspaper truck, which was hurled against a street car. Pittner, uninjured, was arrested by the Chicago avenue police. The truck driver, Arthur F. Kaltneger, 34 years old, 3725 Byron street, suffered internal injuries and a fractured hip.

Three year old Bernie Graznia, 1832 North Ashland avenue, was watching other children at play near her home, when their ball rolled into the street. Chasing it, she ran into the path of an automobile driven by Joseph Sierhanowski, 1210 Maryanna court. The child suffered a skull fracture.

Leona Simon, 16 years old, 8048 St. Lawrence avenue, who with her brother, Joseph, 19 years old, was hurled through a drug store window Saturday night at 79th street and Cottage Grove avenue, was reported in a serious condition at the Jackson Park hospital last night. Miss Katherine Donovan, 22 years old, 4923 West Austin avenue, driver of the car which hit the pair, will be arraigned in the South Chicago court today on a charge of reckless driving.

Shoots Wife in Quarrel Over Her Going to Work

Mrs. Rebecca Siegel, 31 years old, 2114 Roosevelt road, was shot in the chest and severely wounded by her husband, Nathan, yesterday afternoon during a domestic quarrel. Lieut. Frank Malone captured Siegel, who sought to escape by jumping on a street car. A son, Irving Siegel, 10 years old, said his parents quarreled about whether the wife should work.

NEW ANESTHETIC TRIED OUT HERE; CALLED SUCCESS

"Sodium Amytal" Given Patient Intravenously.

Two major operations were performed at the Cook County hospital last week in which a new anaesthetic, given intra-venously, was used successfully.

The anaesthetic is "sodium isoamyl-ethyl barbiturate," developed during the last two years in Indianapolis by Dr. L. G. Zerfas and Dr. J. T. C. McCallum, of the medical research department of the Indianapolis City hospital. They standardized the dosage of the product after extensive research on dogs.

Eliminates Peril to Lungs.

Under this anaesthetic the patient usually falls asleep while it is being injected slowly into the veins. Its chief advantages, physicians say, are that it eliminates post operative lung involvement and nausea. Moreover, it may be given in the patient's room or ward, which makes it valuable in thyroid surgery where the psychic condition of the patient must be considered. It may be given alone or as an adjunct to a general anaesthetic, lowering the amount of the latter necessary.

Success Here, Doctor Says.

The two Cook county hospital cases in which the anaesthetic was used last week were handled by Dr. Harry Rolnick and Dr. C. D. Parker, one patient receiving the combination anaesthetic and the other the sodium amytal alone.

"Dr. Zerfas and Dr. McCallum, as pioneers in this field, seem to have found an anaesthetic which promises to become an ideal type," Dr. Rolnick said yesterday. "In the cases on which it was used here the product was a distinct success."

The value of the anaesthetic, it was said, is not confined to its use in operative work. It can be employed also in control of convulsions, strychnine poisoning, rabies and tetanus, small doses being found capable of exerting a sedative effect lasting several hours. Also it can be used to supplant morphine in cases where the effect of the drug is diminished.

Hammond Gets $1,000,000 Sulphuric Acid Plant

Announcement that the Chicago metropolitan area is to have a new $1,000,000 industrial plant, was made yesterday by H. A. Wurzbacher, district manager of the Stauffer Chemical company, an international concern with plants in a number of cities. The new plant is to be one for the manufacture of sulphuric acid. It is to be located on the company's property in Hammond, Ind., and bids for the construction are to be received some time this week. A. C. Mohr is engineer in charge.

Dr. Kegel Speaks During Dedication of Zion Nursery

Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, commissioner of health, was the principal speaker yesterday at the dedication of the new Daughters of Zion day nursery erected at a cost of $300,000 at Hirsch and California avenue to replace the former nursery at 1441 Wicker Park avenue. Dr. John Dill Robertson, head of the west park board, and Homer J. Buckley also made brief addresses at the services, which were attended by several hundred of Chicago's Jewish population. Mrs. Edwin Romberg is president of the institution, which was founded by Mrs. Charley Reiger, honorary president. In the thirteen years of its existence the nursery has cared for 19,000 children. The capacity of the new home is 150 infants, receiving day and night care.

POLICE REDOUBLE HUNT FOR BROKER IN GIRL'S SUICIDE

Trace Her Life in Two Chicago Hotels.

The records of the Mayfair hotel, 55th street and Hyde Park boulevard, and of a north side hotel were being searched late last night by Sergt. Ray Cullen of Hudson avenue police in connection with the investigation into the suicide of Donna Barron, show girl, who leaped to death from her twelfth floor apartment at 1220 North State street last Wednesday night.

Sergt. Cullen said he had received information that Edwin Page, broker of 1309 Astor street, had been seen with the Barron girl at the Mayfair and the other hotel. Page has been sought since Thursday with a subpoena demanding his presence at the inquest into her death. He was named in a note found on her body.

Police Push Hunt for Broker.

The information regarding the hotels, coupled with persistent rumors that Page had been introduced by the show girl at several north side parties as Charles Barron, caused the police to redouble their search for the broker. According to the Barron girl's mother, Mrs. W. J. Barr of Bethlehem, Pa., Charles Barron was a former husband of her daughter.

Page's only statement since the night of the suicide was made through a private detective. It was to the effect that he had had no illicit relationship with the show girl and was merely the "victim of misplaced friendship."

Confusing in the case are the conflicting statements as to the children of her marriage with Barron. She is known to have told Chicago friends that there were two boys. Her mother, when notified of the girl's death, said there was one child. No trace of Barron or of the children has been found in the investigation.

The Girl Friend's Story.

A girl friend of Mrs. Barron, whose phone number was found on a pad in the North State street room, told yesterday of the relations between the dead showgirl and the broker as she had learned them from Mrs. Barron. This informant said that Mrs. Barron had shown her Page's picture last January and called her at one time saying that she was "extremely happy" in a small apartment at the Mayfair. On another occasion, the girl added, according to the friend, that her relations with Page had to be carefully guarded as the latter's wife, in Europe for her health, was about to return.

HEIRESS' CUSTOMS LAPSE COST $10,400; $450,000 GEMS SAVED

New York, June 9.—[Special.]—When Mrs. Ector Orr Munn, daughter of the late Rodman Wanamaker, arrived last Tuesday from Europe on the French liner Paris she had some difficulty with customs officials on the pier over her declaration. Mrs. Munn said she had not been accustomed to make out declarations, as her first husband, Arturo Juan A. Heeren, from whom she was divorced in 1923, was in the Spanish diplomatic service and they came in under a free entry permit.

After considerable discussion here six trunks and a strongbox containing jewelry valued at $450,000 were sent to the appraisers stores for examination.

The jewelry was proved to be the property of Mrs. Munn before she left this country and included heirlooms of the Wanamaker family. The appraisers discovered there was wearing apparel in the six trunks valued at $5,200, including foreign value and home duty, which, with 100 per cent fine imposed, brings the total sum Mrs. Munn will have to pay at the custom house tomorrow to $10,400.

ERMAN MYSTERY HIP ARMED WITH IGH SPEED GUNS

ew Secrets of "Treaty Cruiser" Revealed.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 9.—More water ght compartments than are pos ed by any other existing vessel, ity to travel at every range of ed for much longer periods than y previous warship, the rate of fire imed to be the incredible speed of r rounds per minute, devices for elling poison gas from turrets, and trol positions as well as other in ior portions of the ship are among revolutionary improvements in e new German mystery ship, Ersatz eussen, laid down in January, ac ding to the naval correspondent of London Daily Telegraph. He es further facts about the world's t modern battleship, about which e TRIBUNE first revealed many of features.

very new report of the wonders rporated in the battleship now er construction at Kiel is a tribute German ingenuity, as well as proof the inefficacy of the Versailles aty provisions to keep the Germans putting out warships able to their own with the giants of r nations.

Uses Special Light Steel.

estricted to 10,000 ton ships, Ger engineers began by designing the atz Preussen for "standard dis ement," which means without fuel stores aboard, while the treaty ant "normal displacement," which udes the fuel. Thus the ship is hnically 10,000 tons, but really 13, 0 tons.

special steel alloy of phenomenal htness and strength has been ded instead of riveted together, sav g 300 tons weight. Rivets are used hold together certain components the structure, but the ship as a ole is built with electric torches in ad of riveting hammers. An armor t at the waterline, shielding the p's vitals from shell fire, is worked as an integral part of the hull. A division below the waterline gives Ersatz Preussen more water-tight partments than any other ship.

Save Weight in Engines.

Weight is saved again in the en es. Their design is an official secret refully guarded in the shops at remberg, where they are being de. But it has been discovered that ir weight is only eighteen pounds per horsepower. The weight of the ordinary single acting, four stroke, low speed Diesel engine is 300 pounds per horsepower.

The Ersatz Preussen has four sets of double acting two stroke engines running 400 revolutions a minute, which drive the propellers through reduction of the gearing. The designed speed is 26 knots, but it is believed that the ship actually can go faster.

There is fuel space for 2,400 tons of fuel oil. It is sufficient to run 10,000 nautical miles at twenty knots, or 20,000 miles at a lower speed.

Carries Eleven Inch Guns.

The main armament, consisting of six eleven inch guns mounted on triple turrets, will be delivered next February from the Krupp works. They are a post-war model of exceptional velocity and range; yet each weighs only thirty-eight tons against ninety-seven for the British fifteen incher. They take a projectile weighing 608 pounds. The high angle for fire makes it possible for the warship to outshoot every other ship, with the possible exception of Great Britain's Nelson.

3 Day French Riot Over Murderer Ends; 250 Hurt

LIMOGES, France, June 9.—[U. P.]—The authorities issued orders tonight for the arrest of a former deputy and two other persons charged with inciting the riots which started last Friday and lasted until this morning. Several of the 250 injured in the fierce clashes are in desperate condition. The populace stormed the jail in protest against the sentence given Charles Barataud for the murder of two men. Barataud was sentenced to the Devil's island penal colony for life, but the citizens demanded his death. He was removed to a distant town tonight in deep secrecy.

FOUND STABBED BY NEGRO.

Stabbed in the abdomen by a Negro who escaped, Celefas Gaitane, 31 year old laborer, 906 Morgan street, was in a serious condition at the county hospital last night. Pedestrians found the wounded man unconscious on the lawn in front of his home.

it was a Wonderful Success!

WE THANK YOU!

WE felt sure that Chicago really wanted its own Dr. Kahler Shoe Shops. Now we know it and frankly we were amazed at the extraordinary response following our recent announcement of the opening.

MAYOR OF TOKIO DENIES ALDERMEN WHOOPEE PARTIES

Slighted Followers Cut His Salary.

BY ST. CLAIR M'KELWAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Japan, June 9.—Because he neglected to call on all the members of the municipal assembly at their homes and further disregarded established custom by not inviting the assemblymen to costly geisha parties, Mayor Horikiri, the city's new executive, has had his salary cut from 20,000 yen (about $8,900) to 16,000 yen (about $7,070).

The assemblymen promptly and unanimously decided, when the mayor's unprecedented intentions were made known, that if he was going to disappoint them in that fashion—if all those gay evenings were to be wiped off the calendar—then the mayor would not need as much money as his genial predecessor.

Mayor Must Pet Aldermen.

In the golden past, before economy and business government became campaign slogans in this fast changing metropolis, the assemblymen formed for the mayors of Tokio a sort of coterie of mothers-in-law. Each one had to be petted and soothed throughout the year or he would become venomous and entirely unruly. Whether politically wise or not, he would wreck whatever plans the mayor might have if the mayor in the slightest way hurt his feelings or dignity.

Thus each new mayor has been accustomed, first of all, to spend a week or more of his time riding over Tokio in a municipal automobile making personal calls at the homes of each of the brittle tempered assemblymen. He would flatter them and compliment them almost royally, then would have them all to a geisha house, where music and dancing and soothing sake paved the way for a smooth if not economic administration.

New Mayor Married a Clerk.

The new mayor not long ago, as head of the reconstruction bureau for the imperial government, proved his liberal tendencies by marrying one of his clerks instead of a lady of family. He has made no comment since the assemblymen reduced his salary.

What he will do about it no one knows. If he now attempted to sooth the assemblymen with entertainments and did not succeed he might become a pauper. On the other hand, if he fails to do something for the indignant assemblymen those gentlemen may at any moment decide to economize still further by voting down his present reduced salary.

SENTENCED TO YEAR IN PRISON FOR THEFT OF TWO HOUND DOGS

Oklahoma City, June 9.—(AP)—Ownership of one hound is a liability, but owning two hounds is inviting calamity, Judge Thomas A. Edwards of the Oklahoma Criminal Court of Appeals said today in an opinion.

While the decision expressed sympathy for Bill Wilson, Cotton county, convicted of grand larceny for stealing two hounds valued at $75, it affirmed the lower court's judgment and gave Bill one year in prison.

"The writer of this opinion, being a native of Arkansas and knowing his hound dogs," said Judge Edwards, "approached the record with the dogmatic opinion that as an article of commerce, so far as paying dividends is concerned, the ownership of a hound dog is a distinct liability, and not an asset, and that owning two hound dogs is inviting calamity.

"In these degenerate days the hound dog, like the poodle and the Pekingese, has become a luxury and not a necessity."

SANTIAGO CLOSES SUBWAY DEAL; VETOES "L" PLAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, June 9.—The contract for the first subway on the west coast of South America has just been awarded by the city of Santiago to the Chilean engineering firm of Luis Dagarrigue & Co., builders of the $7,000,000 port works at Antofagasta.

The subway, which will cross the city from east to west under the world famous Avenida de Las Delicias, was decided upon after an elevated street railway was ruled out on the ground that its unsightliness would detract from the charm of what the Chilean government is spending millions of dollars to make the most beautiful capital in South America.

A double tracked system will be employed, with each track contained in a separate tube. Upon the completion of the present project a contract will be let for a subway crossing the city from north to south. The subway will pierce the heart of the city within a block of the financial center.

ACTOR KILLS STAGE STAR AND ENDS OWN LIFE

were removed to the morgue the throng had grown to immense proportions.

Detectives found Miss Lawrence in bed with her arms folded upon her breast. She was in night attire. Bennison, fully dressed except for his shoes and socks, was sprawled on the floor in a half lying, half sitting position, with his head resting on the edge of the bed. The revolver was beside Miss Lawrence on the bed toward the wall, where detectives said it might have fallen if he had shot himself while standing above Miss Lawrence.

Powder Burns on Clothing.

Dr. Thomas Gonzales, a medical examiner, said there were powder burns on the clothing of both victims of the tragedy, indicating that the shots were fired at close range. So reposeful was the position of the actress, Dr. Gonzales said, that there was a possibility that she had been slain while she slept. He held the opinion that the "sunset note" had nothing to do with the shooting.

Detectives found a trunk belonging to Bennison in the bedroom of Miss Lawrence's apartment. They learned from employés of the apartment house that he had been living with Miss Lawrence for several months. Saturday night, after Mrs. Chalair called, they said, Bennison went out, returning between 11 p. m. and midnight.

Police were unable to find any one in the apartment house who had heard the shots. William Fahnestock Jr., son of a banker, who occupies the penthouse adjoining the one where the shooting occurred, was not at home. The nearest the police could come to fixing the time of the killing was Dr. Gonzales' estimate that it occurred about eight hours prior to the discovery of the bodies soon after noon.

Tell of Actor's Drinking.

Detectives scouted the idea that financial troubles might explain Bennison's act. They said they found $900 in cash among his effects. At the Lambs' club, of which he was a member, employés said Bennison had been drinking a great deal for the past few weeks, and last week he borrowed a dollar from a bellboy, who said the actor seemed to be intoxicated.

Several hours after the discovery of the double shooting a woman, who said she was Mrs. Bennison, telephoned the club to ask if the news of her husband's death was true. Miss Lawrence's mother, in Germantown, Pa., was notified and was expected to arrive here tomorrow to claim her daughter's body.

Miss Lawrence was better known on the stage than was Bennison, with whom she played in "The Heaven Tappers," which had a brief run here in March, 1927. Last May 23, 24 and 25 she and Bennison appeared in a vaudeville sketch called "She Made Up Her Mind." The skit didn't go and it was withdrawn. Bennison was scheduled to open at the Fulton theater in Brooklyn tomorrow night in "This Thing Called Love."

Recent Career Stormy.

Recently Miss Lawrence's stage and personal career had been stormy. She was suspended by The Actors' Equity association and fined two weeks' salary upon complaint of Edgar Selwyn, who charged that she deserted the cast of "Possession" without cause. Later that same month she filed suit for divorce against her second husband, Wallace Eddinger, an actor, who died of pneumonia in Pittsburgh before trial of the action.

Subsequently Mrs. May Eddinger, her mother-in-law, challenged her right to administer the $25,000 estate left by Eddinger, who was well known in theatrical circles. Mrs. Eddinger charged Miss Lawrence with "drunkenness and improvidence," but Surrogate Foley held that the charges were not proved.

Miss Lawrence's first husband was Orson D. Munn, a wealthy patent attorney from whom she was divorced secretly in 1922. She had two children by this marriage.

Began Stage Career at 17.

Miss Lawrence's career upon the stage had been attended by quick and outstanding success, even though its closing months were clouded by difficulties. She was born in Trenton, N. J., on Aug. 2, 1889, the daughter of George Lawrence, real estate operator. She attended Swarthmore college. She began her stage career in Philadelphia at the age of 17 as a member of the Orpheum stock company.

In 1910 she appeared in a play in Chicago. The following year, she scored a great success here in "Over Night." In 1912, after her marriage to Munn, she retired from the stage for seven years. Reappearing in 1918, when Mr. Munn as a naval officer went into war, she met with immediate success. Her emergence was in a leading role in R. Cooper Megrue's comedy, "Tea for Three."

The following season she acted with Wallace Eddinger in "Wedding Bells," and later appeared at the Cort theater in "Transplanting Jean." Her later appearances were in "Mixed Doubles," "The Behavior of Mrs. Crane," and "Possession." About two seasons ago she also acted for a while in Australia, where she attained some popularity. But in her private life there had been much unhappiness, an unhappiness which finally was reflected in her professional career.

Louis Bennison was born about 50 years ago in California. He spent the first years of his life riding herd on the cattle that roamed his 55,000 acre ranch. He was a romantic figure when he came to the stage. He registered his primary success as the dashing cavalier and became something of a matinée idol in the "sticks."

FOIL DIXIE MOB AFTER 2 HELD IN POLICE KILLING

Textile Strike Leaders, 65 Others in Jail.

Gastonia, N. C., June 9.—(AP)—After a wild ride from Spartanburg, S. C., during which only the ability of two city policemen and a city councilman to outtalk the leaders of a crowd of twelve men saved him from possible lynching, Fred Erwin Beal, southern organizer for the National Textile Workers' union, today was in a county jail "somewhere in North Carolina." With him was K. O. Byers, who was arrested with him at Spartanburg on charges of complicity in the murder of Chief of Police O. F. Aderholt of Gastonia.

En Route from South Carolina.

Beal and Byers, arrested at the request of Gastonia police, were en route from Spartanburg to jail in charge of City Councilman Robert Craig and Patrolmen H. C. Jackson and Thomas Rankin, when the officers were stopped by men in South Gastonia. The men demanded Beal and Byers. The officers and the city councilman refused to give up the prisoners and began talking to the leaders of the crowd. Finally, the officers were allowed to proceed with their prisoner.

While the funeral of Chief Aderholt was being held at the First Baptist church late today, deputy sheriffs and police continued their search for residents of the tent colony, which strikers set up next to union headquarters near the Loray mill.

During a chase late today after a man believed to be one of the strikers, Deputy Sheriff George Moore was slightly wounded by buckshot from a riot gun. The shooting, Moore said, was accidental.

May Change Warrant to Murder.

Fearing possible efforts by mobs to get men under arrest and known to have been leaders of the strikers or guards about the tent colony, county and city officers today shuffled their prisoners about from jail to jail.

Sixty-five persons were in various jails here and in other cities tonight held in connection with the investigation of the shooting of Patrolman Charles Ferguson. All of those arrested were charged with assault with intent to kill when arrested. Police officials said warrants against perhaps a score of the persons held would be changed to murder as a result of the death of Chief Aderholt.

OLSON SUSPECT FACING ARREST IN OKLAHOMA

Officers Believe He's Wisconsin Man.

Tulsa, Okla., June 9.—[Special.]—A two year man hunt, nation-wide in scope, is expected to be ended in Tulsa in a few hours when county authorities arrest a man under surveillance for two months and believed to be Erdman Olson, 22, alleged slayer of his sweetheart, Clara Olson, daughter of a farmer near Prairie du Chien, Wis.

Tony Benson, Bertillon expert, said the activities of the man suspected of being Olson had been checked but that identification could not be established until receipt of data from Madison.

Reliable Informers.

It was learned that county officers were informed by reliable persons that Olson was in Tulsa.

"Subsequent investigation has shown," Benson said, "that the man evidently is the one accused of killing Clara Olson. We can get him most any time we want to. We wanted to be sure of our man before we even communicated with Madison officials, because there have been so many false tips on this case and much needless financial waste."

Roy Hyatt, under sheriff, who is investigating the case, said he also is sure of his man.

"I know that the man that I have watched for the last six weeks is Olson," said Hyatt. "He has made every attempt to cover up his old life and from information already obtained, which I cannot divulge at this time, I felt confident enough to communicate with Madison officers."

Finger Prints Sent to Tulsa.

Madison, Wis., June 9.—(AP)—Pictures and a description of Erdman Olson, 20, accused as the slayer of Clara Olson, 18, in Wisconsin's murder mystery of 1926, have been sent by the Dane county sheriff here to Tulsa, Okla., authorities, who are watching a man answering Olson's description.

Erdman and Clara, who lived on neighboring farms in Crawford county, were sweethearts for a few months before the body of the slain girl was found near Prairie du Chien in the fall of 1926.

Investigation disclosed that the girl was to become a mother and the parents of the girl insisted that Erdman be married to her. Erdman entered Gale college at Galesville, Wis., that fall. Later the girl disappeared and it was learned that Erdman had left the college, the latter's parents having received a letter saying they never would see him again.

In December, 1926, a searching party found the body of the girl buried in a shallow grave in a field, where her father dreamed she would be discovered. In her clothing authorities found a letter which Erdman had written to her. A warrant was issued for Erdman.

LAWMAKING FOR CHICAGO.

Any observer of recent events at Springfield must have been impressed with the fact that the legislative session could have been terminated weeks ago had it not been for bills which concerned Chicago exclusively. These were not only the most important bills before the legislature but they were also the measures which were most controversial.

The concern of the legislature with Chicago matters has been characteristic of Illinois legislatures for decades, and must be expected to grow under the present constitutional relationships. Relative to Chicago, the rest of Illinois is static. Laws made decades ago, when Illinois was overwhelmingly rural, are still good laws for much of the state. The growth in population in Illinois is attributable largely, though of course not exclusively, to the Chicago metropolitan area.

A consequence of that growth has been the need for improved transportation in the Chicago region. Likewise the increase in population has raised innumerable problems having to do with sanitation, water supply, harbor facilities, and parks, for example. The legislature, in which Chicago is grossly under-represented, is called upon to solve these problems in which the majority of its members have only a slight interest. Under the circumstances the welfare of the Chicago area is continually hampered. This session gave Chicago traction legislation, but, welcome as the legislation was, it came at least ten years after the need for it was apparent.

The concentration of population at the south end of Lake Michigan has created special problems of government. Still the legislature has been slow to revise Chicago's election laws. Likewise the demand for court reform has been insufficiently heeded. The criminal code and the court procedure of half a century ago are still fairly adequate to guard life and property downstate. They are unable to cope with the organized crime of a great city, but it is with the utmost difficulty that the ablest legal minds of Chicago can induce the legislature to make even slight changes in criminal procedure.

In the last generation there have been revolutionary changes in the forms of wealth, changes which have been felt everywhere, but particularly in the cities. In rural sections wealth is still concentrated largely in land, cattle, farm buildings, and other tangibles. Wealth in the cities is increasingly in intangibles. To many members of the legislature the change is difficult to understand. Hence the hard struggle which faced the Chicago Board of Trade in its effort to establish itself as a security market, and the corresponding difficulties encountered in the effort to establish a call money market in Chicago. Hence also the inability of downstate members to understand Chicago's opposition to the income tax.

Much of the attention at this session was given to Chicago tax and bonding bills and the results were far from satisfactory. The effect of these bills, if the governor signs them, will be to add a heavy burden to already overburdened taxpayers, who have voted at almost every opportunity presented to them in recent years against any increase in taxes. These are matters with which the legislature as it is constituted at present is utterly unqualified to deal. The spirit which animates the consideration of such matters as school taxes for Chicago, the uses of Chicago's water fund, and the issue of bonds by the sanitary district is essentially one of irresponsibility. Even the Chicago members feel that they will be able to pass the responsibility for tax increases to some one else.

The Chicago metropolitan area, with more than half of the population of the state, is also the section of the state which is constantly in need of legislation which will enable it to meet its special problems. The legislature must give the greatest part of its time and attention to Chicago bills. It could save itself much justified criticism if it turned over to Chicago the right to solve some of its problems for itself. Even then many matters of concern only to Chicago would be left to the legislature. The failure to reapportion is an assurance that the legislature will be slow to realize the needs and still slower to meet them.

Students of politics agree that improvement is needed, and they have frequently quarreled over the question of whether Chicago should have a larger measure of home rule or the legislature should be honestly apportioned. The fact is that there is urgent need for both measures, and until we have both the legislature is going to fall deeper into disrepute.

HENRY FORD IN EUROPE.

Henry Ford's plan to regulate the wages of his European employés so that they may enjoy the same high standard of living as his Detroit workmen has provoked French resentment. Mr. Ford has asked the international bureau of labor of the league of nations to conduct a survey of living costs for him in the cities where he plans to build factories and Edward Filene has offered to pay the expense of the investigation.

A French economist, C. J. Gignoux, protests "this economic imperialism of multiple manifestations and with diverse masks." The response of that writer is said to illustrate French opinion.

Alarmists will include this affair in their synthesis of causes of the next war, which they consider the inevitable outcome of the struggle among the nations for control of the world markets. Judging from past experience and applying the old rules of economics, this view may seem to be justified. But an important factor is overlooked in this method of reasoning and that is that the American standard of living will run with the American dollar. M. Gignoux speaks of the "multiple manifestations and diverse masks." Perhaps with a more amiable construction on his words he may be right. Some of these manifestations may be the desire of the European workmen and a capacity to pay for automobiles, modern plumbing, travel, and good clothes.

The European economic system has been and still is to a large extent the mortification of the producer and the worker. M. Gignoux represents that point of view and in his article he does not acquit himself of charging Ford with attacking the stratification of French society. Quite obviously M. Gignoux does not fear economic imperialism as much as he does economic liberation for labor. Ford's system offers hope and a reward for initiative to the workmen and that is contradictory to the system whereby the future for the lower classes is rendered hopeless so that the leisured class may prosper exclusively. The security of the few in this social scheme is threatened by the introduction of American methods and standards and in defense of tradition the objection is made on the ground of imperialism.

We are confident that the enterprise of American capital abroad will not control markets so much as it will create more of them. If the demand of the world were a fixed item, then the competition to supply it might, indeed, lead to war, but expansion by American methods should bring higher wages and more varied desires on the part of the workmen. If the standard of living can be raised here it can be raised in other nations once the economic distinctions of class are removed. The result should be stupendous and perhaps the salesmen and producers kept too busy to think of war.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS, BUT—

The case of the Japanese newspaper correspondent Kumaki Koga is vexing the department of labor. Koga wanted to cover the United States. He planned to enter as a nonimmigrant under the terms of the commercial treaty which permits merchants and traders to settle in the United States and remain here while they practice their trade. The visas of the journalist and his wife were approved by an American consul in Japan, but the immigrant authorities at Los Angeles refused to let the Japanese couple enter under the terms of the treaty. Koga's case will be heard by the board of review of the immigration bureau of the department of labor.

When the immigration act of 1924 was adopted correspondents were probably not given the same privilege as merchants and traders, because Japanese papers were then not ambitious to get American news from members of their own staff. The treaty did not deliberately discriminate against the reporters from Japan. According to the American policy, they should be welcome and enjoy the same freedom as our own newspaper men. Certainly a nation which has extended a fundamental guarantee to its own press cannot appropriately exclude foreign correspondents. Usually the attitude of a government towards its own press and towards the correspondents of foreign papers is identical. In Russia, where the domestic papers are spoon fed, there is a close censorship of foreign correspondents and an attempt to subsidize them. In Italy somewhat the same conditions prevail. Therefore, should the United States refuse entrance to the Japanese correspondents, we would be guilty of violating a principle which is fundamental in the American system. Japan and other governments might then, on a legitimate premise, discredit and suspect our news methods and motives.

In the case of Mr. Koga the department of labor will not be criticized if, by an interpretation of the commercial treaty, a journalist is discovered to be a merchant or trader. In order, however, to avoid recurrence of such an incident, which is embarrassing to us and provocative to Japan, the treaty should be amended so that the right of newspaper correspondents to enter as nonimmigrants is clarified. Surely the American editors recognize the importance of this case, and if they are sensitive to the obligations of their profession they will protest editorially the injustice of it.

Editorial of the Day

IOWA IMPROVING.

[Des Moines Tribune-Capital.]

It is gratifying to read the results of the Iowa farm questionnaire just completed by the Iowa National bank. Answers to the questionnaire were gathered from bankers in ninety-eight of the ninety-nine Iowa counties and should be accurate and representative. They showed:

1. That farming conditions are improved over those of a year ago and five years ago.
2. That the farmers themselves are more optimistic.
3. That farm profits are higher than last year or five years ago.
4. That farm loan mortgages are less than they were five years ago.
5. That more than one-third of the total farm acreage is free from incumbrance of any kind.
6. That there were fewer foreclosures during the twelve months just ended than during the year ending April 1, 1928.
7. That stock and dairy farming, where the grain raised is fed to live stock, are the most profitable types of farming and are gaining in popularity among the farmers.
8. That farming is gradually being handled on a more scientific basis.

These results mean Iowa is recovering. But they do not mean Iowa has solved the farm problem. They warrant optimism, but no letup in the insistence that agriculture receive the help it deserves from Washington.

BATTLE AGAINST CANCER.

Dr. J. C. BLOODGOOD has some inspiring news about cancer. There is nothing supernatural or dramatic about his story. It is just a plain, homely tale of the "be good and you will be rewarded" type.

He tells of various types of skin cancer which have disappeared with us simply because men have ceased doing those things which caused them. For instance, there are no longer chimney sweeps' cancer or cancer in the parts of the body attacked by chimney sweep cancer because there is no longer any chimney sweeping, with its chronic irritation and its grinding in of soot. There are still a few skin cancers, but they can be eliminated by further carrying out of detailed care. Plenty of soap and water is one protection against skin cancer, since chronic dirtiness is a cause. A few cases are due to exposure to sun. These can be prevented by wearing gloves and broad-brimmed hats and by applying ointments and creams to the skin.

Some moles and warts develop into cancer, but intelligent alertness can remove the little danger left in that field. All in all, the menace of skin cancer is on the way to the ash can.

The mouth is to be the next battle ground against cancer. The skin has become safe because it can be seen and observed, and men have sense enough to recognize skin troubles that are headed the wrong way and to have them cared for. The next job will be to have men open up the mouth and look in, not casually, occasionally, and without seeing, but just as they look on the skin.

Dr. Bloodgood blames tobacco for mouth cancer. There was no mouth cancer before tobacco came into use. It flourished as the use of tobacco flourished. To escape cancer some people will need to stop using tobacco. Any man who has a chronic sore mouth, or a sore place in the mouth, or a patch in the mouth, on the tongue or lips, had better stop smoking at least for the time. Jagged teeth rank with tobacco as a cause of cancer of the structures located in the mouth. Lack of cleanliness is another cause.

Dr. Bloodgood suggests that people look over the mouth structures frequently; that they go to the dentist periodically to have their teeth cleaned, ragged points and edges ground smooth and for a general inspection of the state of health of the mouth. This kind of care has already caused a decrease of mouth cancer. In time it will bring it under control.

Cancer of the nipple is also on the decline. Knowledge of how to care for the nipples and how to prevent risings of the breast is largely responsible for this improvement.

After these battles have been won the pelvic organs will be the next great cancer battle ground.

FLAG CUSTOMS.

Chicago, June 3.—[Friend of the People.]—Before Decoration day I decided to wash our flag, which was very dirty. A friend told us it was considered an insult to the flag to wash it. Is that true? What is the law about it?

A. J. D.

There is no law governing such a case, but it is considered a desecration to the flag to wash it. Sentiment and custom have decreed that the "American flag is never dirty." When it looks too soiled to use, it should be burned.

DIVORCE LAWS.

Chicago, June 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A man sues his wife for divorce on grounds of desertion and she is not present at the hearing, knows nothing of the action taken.

2. Is his decree absolute?
3. Also can he marry within a year after the decree is granted in the state of Illinois?

L. R.

1. The statute provides for notice by publication and mailing. 2. If the decree was secured on such service, then the wife would have three years in which to reopen the case. 3. No delay is required under present Illinois law, but a court would not be likely to reopen the decree after another marriage had been consummated.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

LOW INTEREST RATE.

Chicago, June 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—On Jan. 5 I had $1,000 in a savings bank and have made frequent deposits since March, bringing my total to $1,600. I now am obliged to withdraw $500, but am told it would be deducted from original $1,000, so I would receive interest July 1 on only $500. Is this legal? In this age of rising rates for everything why do banks pay only 3 per cent?

E. S.

1. We would not consider it reasonable. Technical rights in the matter depend on the wording of the pass book under which the deposits were made.

2. Banks in other cities pay more. There are some evidences of a tacit agreement between Chicago banks to hold down the figures.

THE MANCHESTER SQUARE CASE.

SYNOPSIS.

Police Constable Higgins, garbed in civvies and out on his own (or rather "baily own," they always say it that way in England) to run down the murderer of Sir Algernon Somerset, Bart., sometime of Manchester Square, London, meets with an American, Jimpson Jinks of Porters Siding, Ill. They lay a few libations on the sacred altar of friendship, and, somewhat dazed, drift apart to meet again in Stratford-on-Avon, where Mr. Porters Siding, for so Constable Higgins insists on addressing him, confesses to the murder of the late Sir Algernon. Mrs. Siding objects when Constable Higgins attempts to enforce the King's Justice but finally abandons the field when she discovers that all the other club ladies who came over with her from America are tagging all around to Shakespeare's birthplace, the Anne Hathaway cottage and the little church by the dreamy Avon, and she is seeing nothing. She goes forth on the warpath after first enjoining on Constable Higgins that he is to produce Mr. Porters Siding at the railroad station at 6 p. m.

INSTALLMENT XXIX.

The barmaid brought back the Side Cars and Scotch and Pollies (double) which Mr. Porters Siding and Constable Higgins had ordered.

"Now, then," said Constable Higgins, "out with it, my lad. Did you kill Sir Algernon Somerset, Bart.?"

Porters Siding, having finished the Side Cars, drank the Scotch and Polly before he replied. He had stopped weeping and a puzzled smile came into his face.

"I don't getcha," said Porters Siding in the American patois, "did I kill which? Say, are you kiddin' me or jest showin' me a good time?"

"You have confessed to me," said Constable Higgins, slowly, "that you murdered Sir Algernon Somerset, Bart., in Manchester Square. As an officer of the law I placed you in arrest. That is why you are now wearing handcuffs. You are aware that you are wearing handcuffs, are you not?"

"Sure," said Porters Siding, "but I just thought it was some form of English humor. Take the damn things offen me."

"Not so fast, my lad," replied Constable Higgins. "Did you, or did you not, kill Sir Algernon Somerset, Bart.?"

"Never heard of him," declared Mr. Porters Siding.

"Then, why did you confess the murder?"

"I gotta grand idea," said Mr. Porters Siding.

"Yes, what?"

"I'm goin' to order another round o' drinks. Hey, barmaid, the same thing over again. And a little service, please."

"Did you or did you not—?" began Constable Higgins again.

"Oh, lemme alone," exclaimed Porters Siding, petulantly, "quit pickin' on me, will yuh?"

"I shall have to conduct you to gaol," declared the King's Justice, rising.

"Lissen," said Porters Siding, "my wife dragged me around England with that flock of clubwomen until I was ready to confess anything to get away from 'em. Honestly, if any one ever shows me the ruins of an old abbey again I'm goin' to go plumb loco and just rare aroun' somethin' horrible. Listen, fellah, get me right, I hain't killed anybody. I never did kill anybody. Take these bracelets offen me."

"Then how did you come to confess that you murdered Sir Algernon and supply such a wealth of corroborative detail?"

"When the two of us were hitting it up in that speakeasy down in Oxford," said Mr. Porters Siding, "we got pretty chummy. I was telling you the names of my bootleggers back home and you said something about hunting for the bird that killed this guy down in London. The more o' them Side Cars and Scotch and Pollys I got the more I became convinced I was the murderer. And, besides, if I got hung my wife couldn't drag me around Europe and feed me culture with a big spoon."

Constable Higgins produced a key and unlocked the handcuffs from Porters Siding's wrists.

"A word of advice," said Constable Higgins. "Don't confess to murders in England if you didn't do 'em. We take such things a bit seriously over here."

"That's what I allus heard back home," said Porters Siding, "'the English have no sense of humor,' that's what they've allus told me."

"While in America, I suppose," said Constable Higgins, "murder is treated as a bit of a lark? Wot 'o!"

"Something like that," admitted Porters Siding. "Over in our country if you've got money and hire a good lawyer and sling a scare into the jury they'll turn you loose, give you a gold watch and chain, and ask you what you want for Christmas."

"They 'ang people who do murder in England," said Constable Higgins, solemnly.

"It's a helluva place," declared Porters Siding. "I'm going back to the U. S. A., where they know how to take a joke."

"And now," said Constable Higgins, "you're a little bit of all right, top 'ole, if you don't mind, and I've enjoyed meeting you and all that, but here's where we part forever. You've got to report to your wife at 6 o'clock and I've got a bit of work to do. Cheero!"

"Hey," exclaimed Porters Siding, in alarm, "you're not going to feed me to my wife and that gang of clubwomen, are you? Say, you wouldn't throw down an old pal like that, wouldya?"

"Right here and now, my lad," said Constable Higgins, firmly, "is where you and I say a last and eternal farewell. Good-by forever."

Mr. Porters Siding clutched like a drowning man at Constable Higgins' arm. "Say yuh don't mean it, old pal," he begged wildly, "say you're jest foolin'?"

"Good-by," repeated Constable Higgins, firmly, "good-by forever! Cheero!"

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 10, 1864.

THE VIRGINIA SITUATION.—Dispatches from the Army of the Potomac bring no very positive information concerning the precise present situation except proof that our army is still held stiffly up to its work and ready for whatever may come. The rebels in furious sorties have burst again and again against our lines and have been beaten back as the rock rolls back the ocean surf. From the time our army crossed the Rapidan there has been no flinching, though the long lists of casualties and the vacant places of fully 40,000 men on our lists tell of the cost of the great undertaking. The rumors now vary somewhat. It is reported that Lee has fallen back and that the Chickahominy now runs between the opposing forces. This statement, however, is discredited, and we can afford to wait. The 5th corps is now at Bottom's bridge, operating from a fresh point on Lee's works. The careful, slow and powerful approaches that gave us Vicksburg have begun, or shortly will begin, at Richmond. We hear again of parallels, mines and regular siege approaches. The rumor also comes that Gen. Butler is preparing to resume the offensive in the rear of Richmond.

HEADQUARTERS, ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.—The flag of truce sent out by Gen. Grant was arranged for last night and under direction of the corps commanders the dead and wounded between the lines of the works were brought off. None but medical officers and stretcher bearers were permitted to go on the field.

CINCINNATI.—There is a great deal of uncertainty concerning the strength and object of the rebel raiders into Kentucky. Parties of guerrillas, 200 and 300 strong, have appeared simultaneously in half a dozen places and have robbed almost with impunity.

CHICAGO.—Charles J. Montandon and Miss Annie McIntyre were married on June 8 by the Rev. Glenn Wood.

JUNE 10, 1899.

CONEY ISLAND ATHLETIC CLUB, New York.—Robert Fitzsimmons, the red headed and gaudy framed, lay on his back. His frame was heaving convulsively, his face was twitching, his teeth were bared. A few feet away, standing erect, was big Jim Jeffries, with his black eyes bent on his recumbent adversary, while 8,000 people were screeching like maniacs. None could hear the count, but suddenly Referee George Siler gave a quick wave of his hand and the championship of the world passed from Fitzsimmons to the stalwart California boy.

CHICAGO.—President William Deering of the Northwestern university board of trustees has tendered his resignation. He gave as a reason his advanced years and the growing burden of responsibilities, but there was a rumor about the campus that his action was due to friction with President Henry Wade Rogers. Both he and Rogers denied this.

PHILADELPHIA. — Alexander J. Cassatt was elected president of the Pennsylvania railroad to succeed Frank Thompson, who died a few days ago. Mr. Cassatt is 59 years old. His salary is $50,000.

WASHINGTON.—The fight of the senate for a copy of the peace treaty ended today when THE TRIBUNE copy was presented to the senate and after an all day battle was printed in the Congressional Record. Senator Borah of the foreign relations committee turned THE TRIBUNE copy over to the senate and directed the fight for its admission.

CHICAGO.—The death of Mrs. Grace Runyon Chadbourne was reported in dispatches from New York.

CHICAGO.—The United States Supreme court upheld the decision of the Illinois Supreme court that Earl Dear must hang for the murder of Rudolph Wolfe, chauffeur for Dr. Philip Schuyler Doane, in January, 1918.

SURRENDER TO BISHOP CANNON.

Durham, N. C., June 3.—Today's papers announce the Shouse dinner to be given by the Democrats of the District of Columbia on June 10 as a reamalgamation step to halt Bishop Cannon. Of course, it is legitimate and proper to take such action as may be necessary to checkmate the course of the bishop, but if the same involves compromise or surrender it will mean the inevitable disintegration of the Democratic party. In the eyes of the nation it could mean only one thing—that the party is henceforth to be a prohibition party limited in its voting strength to the heretofore solid southern states. As a national Democrat I would rather see the party disband and go out of business, bag and baggage. A quick death is always preferable to the rack and torture.

The bishop, having tasted blood, is not appeased, but enraged. A careful reading of his proclamation of May 31 to the Virginia anti-Smith Democrats discloses one grievance, one cause for his attempted disruption of the Democratic party, state and nation—the wet leadership of Smith and Raskob. Farm relief, tariff revision, control and regulation of water power and electrical development, chain stores, radio, credit resources, impartial supervision of giant monopolies and the other hundred and one governmental problems affecting the health, happiness, wealth and welfare of the people of the nation absolutely are of no concern to this cleric turned politician. I am reliably informed that Raskob is the father of eleven children, none of whom either drinks or smokes—something that can but rarely be said of the cleric father, though the bishop, I hope, is among the fortunate few.

A surrender or compromise involving as it does the conversion of the Democratic party into a southern prohibition party daddied by Bishop Cannon will definitely mark the end of the party of Jefferson, Jackson, Cleveland, and Wilson.

JOHN W. HESTER.

REVENUE RELIEF PLAN.

Chicago, June 7.—I wish to offer what I think would be a simple solution of the financial crisis now confronting Chicago and Cook county on account of the delay in the collection of 1928 taxes.

No doubt a majority of the taxpayers have saved up and now have on hand a fund sufficient to pay these taxes. Most of this money is probably in the banks lying idle or at the most drawing three per cent interest.

Since the city and county are paying six per cent interest on money borrowed on tax anticipation warrants, why not permit the taxpayers to pay on their taxes now whatever amount they desire and allow them interest at the rate of six per cent until such time as the regular tax bills are sent out.

This would result, I think, in the collection of at least fifty per cent of the 1928 taxes.

O. S. LAUGHLIN.

ELIMINATING THE BORROWING PRACTICE.

Chicago, June 7. — In your editorial "The Financial Crisis in Chicago," concerning the appointment of the citizens' committee to rescue our local government from impending bankruptcy, you say "the experts will only waste their time if they confine their attentions to the temporary difficulties."

If, as suggested in your editorial, the citizens' committee of experts endeavors to do something more than merely help the local governments out of the financial embarrassment which has been brought to a head by the delay in collecting the 1928 taxes it would seem that serious attention should be given to the substantial advancement of the whole process of the assessment of property and the levy and collection of taxes. Recently the assessment and equalization work has rarely been completed before the end of the year for which the taxes were supposed to provide revenue, and the taxes do not become delinquent until May first; that is, four months after the expiration of the year for which they are supposed to furnish revenue.

This system, or rather lack of system, invites borrowing and bad financing. The whole work of assessment and equalization, and the levy and collection of taxes should be greatly advanced by amendment of the revenue laws. Taxes should be collected well within the year for which they are supposed to supply revenue. To bring this about the local assessing and equalization officials should be required by law to complete their assessment work at an earlier date and the delinquent date should be advanced at least six months; that is, to Nov. 1. This would do away under any proper system of management for the need of borrowing money on tax anticipation warrants and would save the local government many millions annually in interest payments.

GEORGE G. TUNELL.

FARM TAXES.

Dixon, Ill., June 4.—Your editorial, "Profits from Perfidy," stated that "a man receiving a salary of $4,000 pays $1,000 for rent, of which $100 goes for taxes."

Compare this with the farmer on his own 160 acres. He will be an exception if he gets a gross return of $4,000 on that size farm. A farm that will produce that return will be taxed from $250 to $285. Besides that the farmer will pay a personal tax on stock and equipment of $20 to $30, making his total tax $275 to $315. Also remember that he pays this tax whether his farm and equipment earn anything or not. Does that look as though the farmer [squire?] was trying to trim anybody when he asks for a law which would equalize taxes?

PLAN DRIVE ON RACKETEERING IN TRAFFIC ARRESTS

Thatcher Case Spurs Club to Action.

BY PUTNEY HAIGHT.

The adventure of M. Thomas Thatcher in attempting to compel a traffic policeman to obey the law and light signals is likely to result in a county-wide, if not a state-wide, overhauling of traffic control administration. Following the Thatcher incident at Niles Center, which became public record Saturday at the justice court hearing before Percy Harms, Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, announced yesterday that his organization had determined to take steps to abate blackmail, racketeering abuses, and lawlessness connected with traffic arrests not only in small towns but in the city and park districts as well.

"There is no good reason why the motoring public should be 'taken' for from $500,000 to $600,000 a month in the touring season in this neighborhood," Mr. Hayes declared, "and our board of directors has decided that the club's duty lies in proceeding with a program which will minimize abuses of traffic police officers and small town justices of the peace.

Cites the Heavy Fees.

"Motorists bear enough of a burden in the many fees and taxes levied lawfully upon them already. The addition of a tribute of money imposed by highway riders is wrong. The motorists pay for the streets, roads, and boulevards and contribute the money that pays for the legitimate traffic control upon them. The state law of Illinois does not fix an arbitrary speed limit, though it recommends thirty-five miles as safe. The arbitrary speed limit is a joke. It is obeyed no more generally than the prohibition law. And the reason is that the regulation is senseless. Safety to all travelers is the true aim of regulation, and imposing of arbitrary speed minimums does not promote safety.

"Aside from the speed frameup, which has been a main factor in building up the racketeering business in motor traffic, many other practices exist which in operation impose injustice upon law abiding drivers. These also are to receive attention."

Cites Case as Example.

Mr. Hayes cited as an instance the case of M. P. H. Schroeder of South Haven, Mich., a former Chicago policeman, who on May 22 became involved in the tangle of traffic law procedure in the south park system as the result of the acts of another motorist who ran him down at 49th street and Michigan avenue.

Mr. Schroeder's story of his misfortune follows:

"I was driving south in Michigan avenue at 49th street when a car passed me and was jerked suddenly to the left to make a left hand turn off the avenue. He cut in so short that his rear bumper caught my front right bumper and pulled my car into the safety island. The offending car bore license No. 269,966, which the book shows was issued to Frank Chester, 5401 Ellis avenue.

"The Chester car kept on going, but my car was damaged. At that moment south park policeman No. 216 drove up and said he would have to take the car off the boulevard. I told him I would call the motor club's service truck to do it.

Taken in for Repairs.

"'Nothing doing,' he said. 'There may be property damage and the park authorities will keep control of the car.' He said the car must go to Stern's garage, 35th street and Michigan avenue. I protested and he called officer No. 111 on post, who said that was the rule. They called Stern and his truck hauled it off. I followed to the garage and ordered the foreman to repair the front of the car, which he said would cost $20. The next day I called for the car and asked to be allowed to drive it to see if the repairs were properly done. Mr. O'Brien, in charge, refused to let me have the car until I cleared it through the cashier's office. On getting the bill I found that $6 had been added for 'storage' for 24 hours.

"Outside the garage I found that the repairs had not been made properly and that the front spring was improperly installed. Upon arrival at home I discovered that there had been removed from the car, while under south park control, twelve pint jars of fruit preserves, a quart bottle of cider, and a large laundry bundle."

Believing that the treatment he received is not a fair expression of the sentiment in Chicago, he executed a sworn statement of the incident as he recalled it and submitted it to the law department of the motor club. The club, it was stated, will petition for a formal investigation of the case immediately.

AMERICAN SHIP RELEASED BY REBEL CAPTORS

Used by Venezuelans to Kidnap Officials.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, Dutch West Indies, June 9.—(AP)—The American steamship Maracaibo which was seized here last night by an armed body of men alleged to be Venezuelan nationalists led by Gen. Urbina, who used the ship to make their escape and carry off the governor and garrison commander of Curacao, returned this evening with the Dutch officials on board apparently none the worse for their sudden trip to sea as prisoners.

United States Consul Acts.

The seizure of the American vessel followed an assault upon Fort Amsterdam, during which several were killed and wounded, guns and ammunition were seized, and all prisoners liberated from the jail. The captain of the Maracaibo was ordered to sail out to sea and later instructed to land in Venezuela some miles north of La Vela.

The American consul has asked that United States gunboats be sent from the canal zone. The island board of government has appealed to the Dutch authorities for aid.

SHIP FROM DELAWARE.

The steamship Maracaibo, reported seized by filibusters at Willemstad, is owned by the Atlantic and Caribbean Steam Navigation company and its port of registry is Wilmington, Del., where it was built in 1899. It is a steel, twin screw vessel of 1,905 net tons. On May 5 it sailed from Willemstad for La Guaira, Venezuela, but had apparently returned.

Curacao is an island 40 miles from the coast of Venezuela, and Willemstad, with a population of about 10,000, is the principal port. It is on the harbor of St. Anna, first occupied by the Spaniards in 1527; it has been held by the Dutch since 1634 except for two short periods when it was in possession of Great Britain.

Its accessibility to the northern coast of Venezuela has made it a frequent place of refuge in the past for political refugees from South America.

Hope of Free Rhine Wins Germans to New Debt Plan

BY GEOFFREY FRASER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 9.—The publication of the text of the report of the Owen D. Young conference in Paris for the final settlement of the reparations question accentuates the general distaste with which it was received in Germany. But despite the combined campaign of the Nationalists, communists, and Hitlerites for its nonratification, it is certain that the reichstag will approve the agreement.

As a sop the government allows the press to throw out the hint that prospects for an early evacuation of the Rhineland are improving. The entire press is now hot on the chase of this idea.

The Conservative Boersen Zeitung, which expresses the general feeling, says, "Since Germany had to desert strict economics and embark in the political field in Paris so as to reach a compromise, it is up to Germany energetically to draw political benefits of the compromise. Without loss of time German action for the liberation of occupied territory must begin. Madrid gives a favorable opportunity. The Locarno peace pact meant a big German political sacrifice. The Paris report, if ratified, means a considerable economic sacrifice. So the time has come for the allies to give Germany some tangible sign of their appreciation of her forbearance."

Railroads May Increase Fares.

In the meantime storm signals are being run up in several direction. The government owned railroads announce that they are compelled to seek authority to increase travelers' fares owing to the increased running costs caused by the recent wage award by arbitrators which prevented a strike. Another drain is the big annuity the railroads have to contribute towards the Young plan payments.

Financial circles actively discuss the rumor, for which official confirmation is not obtainable, that both of the government railroads are seeking an American loan amounting to $50,000,000 each. The rumor associates J. Pierpont Morgan's name with the negotiations.

Germany Eager for Saar's Return.

Congress delegates of the Saar district, meeting at Munster today, passed a series of resolutions calling upon the government to approach France for the early return of the Saar to Germany. THE TRIBUNE'S Paris dispatches relating to Madrid conversations on this subject are being featured by the Berlin press and causing widespread interest.

The Social Democrat party of the Rhineland, also trade unions, last night sent the government a strong appeal not to ratify the Paris agreement "until the Rhineland is entirely evacuated and the Saar question satisfactorily settled," which is the first sign that the leading government party is associating itself with Nationalist pressure on the cabinet.

French Premier Thanks Mr. Young.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 9.—Premier Raymond Poincare today addressed a note to Owen D. Young, chairman of the debt commission, thanking him for his work on the reparations question and warmly praising the mathematical genius he displayed in reaching a satisfactory solution of the tangled problem.

Albanians Cross Serbian Border; Battle Police

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, June 9.—Several Jugo-Slavian state police were wounded, one seriously, in fighting which occurred in the border town of Ipek with an Albanian gang which had crossed the frontier. The fighting lasted for several hours, the gang finally escaping to the mountains.

was 100 meters and we had tight clouds before us soon. At 4:05 the clouds were dispersed and now we have sunshine and the sight is 20 kilometers.

Sight Faroe Islands.

At 4:15 we are in sight of the Shetland islands and the rain has stopped. It is reported from Thorshavn that the wind is west-northwest, and that the barometer increases. The east coast of Iceland is clear. We have met three fishing boats.

AHRENBERG.

At 6:15 p. m. we are in latitude 61:50, longitude 4:50, in sight of the Faroe islands. There is a hard, contrary wind, and it has taken more than four hours for the flight from Bergen to the Faroes. There is now sunshine and all is well on the way to Iceland.

The Faroe islands are about half way between Bergen and Reykjavik, Iceland.

Airmen Enjoy Dinner.

At 8:05 p. m. our position is latitude 62:50, longitude west 9:45. We have had dinner and a cup of coffee on board the Sverige off the Faroe islands, with a real good appetite.

The wind is now decreasing, visibility is about 30 kilometers, the sky is rather clear and the altitude is 200 meters. Everything is all right and much warmer over the ocean than above the mountains of Norway.

WELCOMED IN BERGEN

BY ANDREAS BACKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERGEN, Norway, June 9.—The Swedish trans-Atlantic flyers headed by Capt. Albin Ahrenberg, with Lieut. Axel Floden and Robert Ljunglund, left here shortly before 3 this afternoon [shortly after 11 a. m. Chicago time] on the second stage of their flight from Stockholm to New York by way of Iceland, Greenland, and Labrador.

The aviators in their monoplane Sverige left Stockholm early this morning and flew over Oslo and a dangerous mountain region which never had been crossed by plane, arriving at Bergen on the western coast of Norway at noon.

The weather was fine here, but the aviators reported heavy fog was encountered at a height of 6,000 feet over the mountains. An accompanying plane commanded by Sergt. Nielson was forced to turn back and land at Kristiansand in southern Norway.

Thousands Greet Plane.

Thousands greeted the plane with cheers. Officials of Bergen extended a welcome and the flyers were presented with flowers. Capt. Ahrenberg also accepted a bouquet wrapped in the Norwegian flag which he promised to deliver in Iceland on behalf of Bergen.

The Swedish flyers were guests of Norwegian navy aviators at luncheon at the navy flying station of Flatbeen, near Bergen, where they landed. Capt. Ahrenberg then broadcast a farewell to Norway, promising to speak again a month later, when returning from New York.

It was very cold over the mountains, Capt. Ahrenberg reported, but in the next stage over the water, he said, the temperature should be more agreeable. Weather conditions were good and the sky free from clouds until Feroeene was reached, where they were forced to a flying altitude of only 600 feet over the high mountains, where a landing was practically impossible.

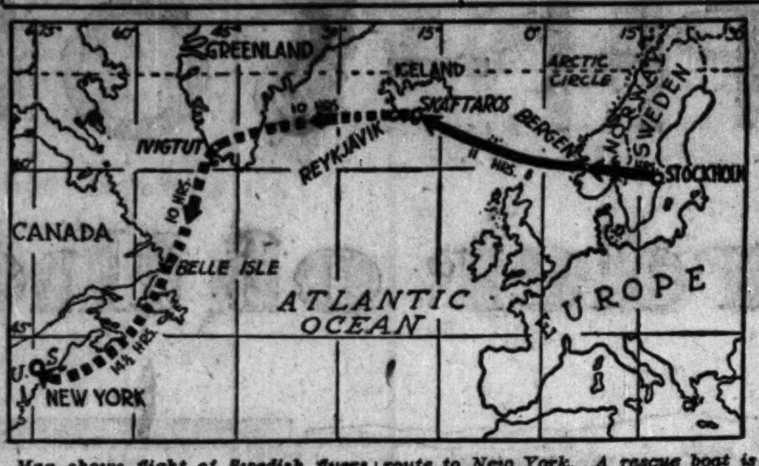
WHERE FLYERS WERE FORCED DOWN



Map shows flight of Swedish flyers from Stockholm to a lonely spot on the coast of Iceland where they were forced to land. It also shows proposed route to New York. A rescue boat is speeding from Reykjavik to Skaptaros, where the plane landed.

15,000 DEMAND ALLIES REVISE HUNGARIAN PACT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 9.—On the occasion of the ninth anniversary of the signing of the treaty of Trianon, by which Hungary surrendered more than two-thirds of its territory to Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia, Roumania, and Austria, patriotic societies held a big demonstration in front of the "irredenta" monument here.

Fifteen thousand people participated in the demonstration and adopted a resolution by which the government is asked to take steps in the league of nations to revise the treaty. Deputy Albert Vary said: "Nine years ago the death sentence was pronounced against Hungary. Not even cannibals would have done such a thing as did the peace makers of Trianon."

De Valera Party Loses Free State By-Election

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, June 10.—[Monday.]—Crowds waited outside the Sligo courthouse until 2 o'clock this morning to hear the results of the Leitrim and Sligo by-election, which resulted in a government victory over Eamon de Valera's party. The figures were: Maj. Gen. Sean MacKeown, government party, 28,598; Eamon Donnelly, Fianna Fail party, 24,621.

Croatian Leaders Jailed for Making Plea to King

GOVERNORS TO DISCUSS OIL COMPACT TODAY

Colorado Springs, Colo., June 9.—(AP)—The governors' conference, called for tomorrow by President Hoover to consider an interstate compact to eliminate waste and overproduction of oil by controlling drilling, tonight had resolved itself into a fight between the large operators and the independent producers.

The 150 or more oil men already in Colorado Springs were divided into small groups, each determined to bring forward a different phase of the oil production problem.

Independent operators were talking about a tariff on the 77,000,000 barrels of oil which yearly is imported into the United States. W. H. Gray, representing the National Association of Independent Oil Producers, declared a tariff of a dollar a barrel on this oil would lower storage in this country just that much.

Officials of the American Petroleum institute, which favors an interstate compact, said they had nothing more to add to the discussion except that the members of the institute would give state authorities every assistance if a compact should be the outgrowth of the discussions here.

E. B. Finney, solicitor of the United States department of the interior, said the Hoover conservation policy, as applied to public lands, was not designed to work any hardship on any person holding or applying for a government permit who had shown any diligence in carrying out the terms of the contract which a permittee enters into when he obtains a permit.

"I would like to clear up once and for all," Mr. Finney said, "the belief that permits held by persons who have spent money on their claims are being canceled. Where a person or group of persons have done enough work under a permit to gain an equity, such permits are not canceled, but, on the contrary, are renewed when they have expired."

ENDS LIFE AT HOSPITAL.

Despondency because of illness is believed by police to have caused the suicide yesterday of William Witt, 34 years old, a printer living at 7439 Champlain avenue. Witt was discovered dead in a bathtub at the Illinois Masonic hospital, where he was a patient, with his throat slashed and his body badly scalded.

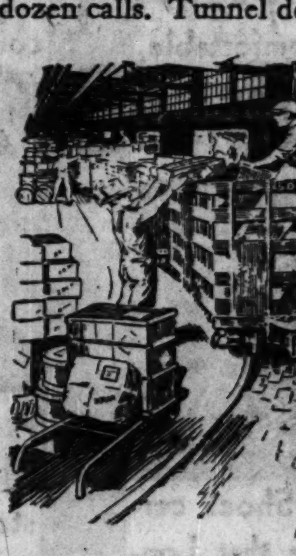
UNDERGROUND FREIGHT TRANSPORTATION

Mass handling of Package Freight by CHICAGO FREIGHT TUNNELS is fast and economical

THE efficiency of the Chicago Freight Tunnels in handling package freight arises from the nature of their equipment—underground electric—and the volume of their business. In addition to the large concerns with individual tunnel connections, more than 2,000 shippers use the tunnel's four Universal Freight Stations, strategically located outside the Loop. These stations are the assembly points where volume is gathered.

Deliver All Freight to One Station

Truck delivery of a dozen shipments to a dozen railroads means a dozen trips or a dozen calls. Tunnel delivery of a dozen shipments for a dozen railroads means one call at a Universal Station where through bills of lading over all railroads are issued. The Tunnel Company is a common carrier. It provides mass handling, and mass handling, like mass production, is more modern, economical, fast and efficient.



The greater the traffic in the tunnels the smaller the traffic on the streets

TINKHAM PUTS A FEW QUESTIONS TO METHODISTS

Challenges Dr. Wilson to Deny Lobby Charge.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 9.—[Special.]—Representative George Holden Tinkham [Rep., Mass.] today challenged Dr. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the Methodist church board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, to deny that the board is one of the most active and highly organized political lobbies in Washington.

Inspired by Dr. Wilson's response to the recent assertion of Senator Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.], who, himself a Methodist, declared the board's $500,000 headquarters in the shadow of the capitol should "be razed, stone by stone, as a symbol of sinister forces . . ." Mr. Tinkham addressed seven questions to the secretary in a letter made public today.

Quotes Building Fund Appeal.

"In your reply to Senator Copeland," Mr. Tinkham wrote to Dr. Wilson, "you are reported as stating: 'We have no lobby here; we have no lobbyists. All the funds of our board are budgeted.'"

"In view of your statement," continued Mr. Tinkham's letter, "and its clear implication that the Methodist Episcopal church is not interfering in political affairs, I wish to ask you the following questions:

"Did not your board, in publications issued in 1922 and 1923 in connection with the raising of funds for your present building, speak of its location as 'strategic' because 'we have the location of all locations just opposite the senate wing of the capitol'?

Hand in Judicial Appointments.

"Have not you or agents or servants of the Methodist Episcopal church opposed or recommended to the department of justice or members of the United States senate the appointment or confirmation of federal judges or United States attorneys?

"Have not you or agents or servants of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church supported or opposed candidates for public office according to their acceptability to the Methodist Episcopal church?

"Have not you and have not agents or servants of your board appeared before legislative committees of congress in favor of or in opposition to legislation and have not you and these agents or servants communicated with members of congress in relation to legislation, not in your individaul capacity, but as representing collectively your board?

Anti-Saloon League Pay.

"Did you not personally and did not your board in one of its publications in 1926 defend the unprincipled practice of the acceptance of money by senators and representatives from the Anti-Saloon league at a time when that organization was vigorously advocating legislation to congress?"

Mr. Tinkham's final question, based on the financial report of the "anti-Smith Democrats notoriously organized and led" during the last presidential campaign by Bishop James Cannon Jr., an "advisory" member of Dr. Wilson's board was:

"Did the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals file in the office of the clerk of the house of representatives pursuant to said corrupt practices act of 1925 a statement or statements of its receipts and expenditures during the political campaign of 1928 covering its activities in behalf of a candidate or candidates for presidential electors, senators and representatives in congress, in like manner as in the case of the organization led by Bishop James Cannon Jr.? If not, why not?"

Found Wearing Police Star Lost 20 Years Ago

Richard Heinrich, 32 years old, 1719 Ainslie street, was arrested yesterday wearing a police sergeant's star. A trace of the star's number showed it was lost twenty years ago by Dennis Malloy, now a captain, who is on a leave of absence pending the outcome of his trial in the slot machine conspiracy. Heinrich was held at the detective bureau for further investigation.

The Household Plan for family loans

THE Household loan plan was originated more than fifty years ago. Its purpose is to advance funds to families for domestic use. There are scores of reasons why money is needed—for the expense of illness—to group and pay scattered bills—to buy necessary things for the home.

Under this plan, you can secure immediate, confidential and friendly financial assistance.

$100 • $200 • $300 at Reduced Rate

The Household Plan provides immediate funds on the easiest of terms—twenty months to repay, and a reduction of nearly one-third in rate. Under this plan, the new low rate is as follows:

$100 loan, average monthly cost $1.32
$200 loan, average monthly cost $2.63
$300 loan, average monthly cost $3.94

How We Make Loans

A $100 loan is payable $5.00 per month, plus interest. The first month, the interest charge is $2.50 and the last month it is only 13 cents. The average monthly cost is $1.32. Other amounts in proportion.

You Get the Entire Amount

There are no fees or deductions. If loans are repaid sooner than twenty months, the total cost is less. Loans are made to families, and no outside signers are required.

FREE—The Household Expense Record helps you plan your expenses and fully explains the Household Loan Plan. Free on request.

Follow These Simple Rules:

1. Every week-day for 42 consecutive days (not including Sundays), the Chicago Tribune will print a "Who's Who?" Crossword Puzzle. Each puzzle will contain the name of a famous person whose picture appears in it. You are invited to solve the puzzles and name the persons.

2. The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000.00 in Cash Prizes to those who send in the nearest correctly solved complete sets of puzzles in accordance with these rules. Note: This means that you do not necessarily have to solve each of the 42 puzzles completely to win. The prizes will be paid to those whose entries rank highest.

3. The prizes are as follows:

1st Prize		$1,000.00
2nd Prize		500.00
3rd Prize		250.00
Next 2 Prizes,	$100 each	200.00
Next 5 Prizes,	50 each	250.00
Next 10 Prizes,	25 each	250.00
Next 100 Prizes,	10 each	1,000.00
Next 310 Prizes,	5 each	1,550.00
430 Prizes Totaling		$5,000.00

4. This offer is open to everyone—men, women, boys and girls—except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

5. Puzzles are to be submitted only in complete sets. Do NOT send in each puzzle separately. Hold all puzzles until you have the complete set of 42. Then send them to "Crosswords," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Illinois. All entries must be in by midnight, 15 days after Puzzle No. 42 has been printed.

6. Each entry must be sent by first class mail, postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Department. No entries will be returned. With each entry a letter must be sent giving your name and address and telling in 50 words or less which of the 42 famous persons you consider the greatest and why. Contestants may submit as many sets of puzzles as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize.

7. You need not buy the Chicago Tribune to compete. You may copy or trace the puzzles and send them in. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its Offices or at Public Libraries free of charge.

8. The judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

THE NEXT PUZZLE WILL APPEAR IN TOMORROW'S TRIBUNE

Do you have protection against total loss or damage to your car by thieves?

Your car skids and runs into a curb. Do you have collision insurance to cover your repairs?

If your car burns, would you be protected—or would you have to replace it out of your pocket?

"YOU know, George, the test of insurance protection is the settlement after the accident. Then a man must be mighty sure of his insurance company. I'm certainly glad I'm safeguarded by Liberty Mutual."

"Why did you choose the Liberty Mutual, Tom?"

"In the first place, Liberty Mutual is outstandingly strong. Resources of over $19,000,000. Sixty thousand policyholding members. More than $93,000,000 written in premiums. You can judge the calibre of the company by the men on its board of directors.

"Liberty Mutual gives better, more personal service. No third parties to deal with. All policies are sold direct. All service is furnished direct through Liberty Mutual's own adjusters—a high-class group of trained men who take complete charge of each case and relieve you of worry and trouble.

"Of every 200 Liberty Mutual cases, 199 are settled out of court.

"Liberty Mutual saves you money. This saving is made by direct selling and by insuring only careful, reputable drivers. Because the policyholders own the company, they have always been paid a yearly cash dividend of at least 20% of their premiums—nearly $3,000,000 in 1928.

"There's no doubt about it—motorcar traffic conditions are becoming so serious in this state that it's absolutely necessary to have the strongest insurance protection. That's what you'll get from Liberty Mutual. Besides, this protection has always been given for one-fifth less than the standard cost.

"Do yourself a favor, George, and look into Liberty Mutual today. Just telephone or send the coupon."

Liberty Mutual is one of the largest writers of Compensation Insurance in the State of Illinois. Our policyholders have saved over $22,000,000. Write or phone our nearest office for the facts.

Liberty Mutual claim adjusters are trained experts who relieve you of worry in case of accident. They are gentlemen—men who have been carefully selected for integrity, character and intelligence.

Joint Recital Brings Elmer Enticing Tunes

Cello and Piano Lead Program at W-G-N.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

One of the best of W-G-N's evening programs was furnished by the station's own talent, Olda Jirousek, cellist, and Herbert Johnson, pianist, in a joint recital, 8:45 to 9:15. Mr. Johnson played the last two movements of MacDowell's "Eroica" sonata which he had presented once before.

Here's adding to the list of very select instrumental pieces heard in radio, Schlemueller's "German Country Dance" for cello and piano, one of the selections played by Mr. Jirousek. It is a marvelously attractive number, with bewildering double stopping, a portion of this taking on the character of a drone bass or pedal note suggesting or perhaps imitating the tone and effects of the drone bass of a bagpipe. The other three cello numbers were of the quiet elegiac type, pretty to hear, but not dazzling in performance.

The soloist on the New York 8:15 concert was George Cehanovsky, a Metropolitan opera baritone. Presumably this was his first appearance on the air, and it need not be his last. He gave a good account of himself in everything he did, and Henschel's "Morning Hymn" was not only sung with great appeal but in doing so introduced a number that one wished better acquaintance.

The popular Sunday evening New York, 9:15 to 9:45 orchestral program, while undoubtedly overladen with advertising, contained a goodly number of sprightly selections, perhaps thinking particularly of the special arrangement of "Tea for Two."

Quin Ryan's "Michigan" travelogue at 7:45—well, travelogues are appealing, and they sort o' pull one into alignment with them, so to speak, especially when the territory is not too far distant.

LOVELORN GIRL, POISON VICTIM, BATTLES DEATH

Miss Lorraine Howard, 16 years old, who took poison Saturday because of her love for Nathaniel Mann, 22 years old, a magazine distributor, was reported last night by physicians at St. Luke's hospital to have a fighting chance for life.

While Mann remained in a cell at the detective bureau, his wife, Mrs. Isabel Mann, 102 East Chestnut street, declared that she would side with her husband in his predicament. "The girl was infatuated with him," Mrs. Mann said. "Of course he couldn't help that."

Miss Howard met Mann a month ago. He admitted taking her to a hotel a week ago. The girl then insisted that Mann marry her, he said, although she knew he already had a wife and 2 year old son. When he refused, she swallowed poison.

W. A. OTIS, 73, ARCHITECT, IS TAKEN BY DEATH

William Augustus Otis of the architectural firm of Otis & Fuller, died at the Evanston hospital last evening of heart disease following an illness of three weeks. He was 73 years old.

Mr. Otis designed the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium, the Orrington Lunt library at Northwestern university, and other important structures in Chicago. He was a graduate of the University of Michigan and had studied at the Ecole des Beaux Arts, Paris. He was a charter member of the University club and a fellow of the American Institute of Architects. In Winnetka he interested himself in civic affairs, having served as president of the village improvement commission and as a member of the planning commission.

Mr. Otis is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Shackford Otis; a son, Samuel, and a daughter, Louise. The family home is at 644 Oak street, Winnetka.

MICHIGAN SHORE VISIBLE AS WIND LIFTS SMOKE VEIL

Unusually clear visibility created by a brisk northeast breeze which blew smoke away from the lake enabled Chicagoans Saturday and yesterday to glimpse the shores of Indiana and Michigan even from the street level. Seeing across the lake has not been uncommon on clear days from the heights of some skyscraper, but any one standing on the beaches over the week-end could easily distinguish points as far north as St. Joseph, Mich.

ROOT PROTOCOL BEFORE LEAGUE MEET TODAY

MADRID, June 9. — [U. P.] — Strengthening the permanent court of international justice at The Hague and backing it up by codification of international law will be the dominating task of the fifty-fifth session of the league of nations council, which convenes in open session here tomorrow.

In addition to increasing the court's position for aiding world peace, the council probably will approve the protocol by which it is hoped to make possible the adherence of the United States to the world court. This protocol was drawn up last winter by Elihu Root, former secretary of state, and must be approved by league members.

Students Join Pogrom in Poland; 37 Arrested

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, June 9.—Visitors to an exhibition at Poznan were treated to an unscheduled view of Polish life when an anti-Jewish demonstration swept the city. Several thousand students joined the underworld element in an attack upon the Jews, which resulted in residences, synagogues, and shop windows being demolished. The police arrested 37 rioters and placed guards around the Jewish quarter. The Jewish population is greatly excited by the outbreak.

Keep Justice Taft at Hospital Two More Days

Washington, D. C., June 9.—[U.P.]—Chief Justice William Howard Taft, who is resting at Garfield hospital here from a slightly rundown condition due to overwork, felt so well today that he attended to his correspondence, dictating letters to friends who had sent him flowers. His departure for his summer home at Murray Bay, Canada, has been fixed for Wednesday. The chief justice planned to leave Monday, but his physicians advised him to rest two days longer.

FASTER TRAINS TO WEST START ON 3 RAILWAYS

Two Others to Improve Service This Week.

Chicago, the world's largest railroad center, yesterday witnessed a major movement in its steam transportation service westward. Three railroads dispatched passenger trains toward the Pacific coast with material schedule reductions. Another railroad will introduce faster passenger service with the west tonight and a fifth will inaugurate a time saving train on Wednesday.

The Chief, crack Santa Fé carrier between Chicago and California, took the highball from the Dearborn Street station on its first 58 hour trip to Los Angeles, a saving of five hours in running time. The mayors of the two cities exchanged telegrams expressing pleasure on the municipalities being brought closer together and the train carried Chiefs Morning Star and Omeme of the Navajo Indians as special guests to celebrate the occasion.

Burlington Cuts Time.

The Burlington observed its 42d birthday by cutting two hours from its Denver express train, bringing Chicago within 25½ hours of the Colorado city. Two of the railroad's retired veterans returned to their former posts of duty to pull old "No. 1" out of the terminal for its first run under the new schedule. Francis M. Frary of Berwyn, Ill., 80 years old, pulled the signal cord for the start as he did during the 50 years he was a conductor for the road. At the throttle was Cyril W. Dusell of Aurora, Ill., 88 years old and a civil war veteran, an engineer for the Burlington for 60 years.

The Overland Limited of the Chicago and North Western railway started its 58 hour hchedule to the Pacific coast, a reduction of five hours.

Empire Builder Tonight.

Tonight the Empire Builder, a new Great Northern train, will be dedicated at the Union station just before it starts the railroads's first 63 hour run to the Pacific northwest. Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont will deliver a radio address from Washington, D. C., and Miss Bess Mullen, an employé of the south park board, will be a passenger on the train, carrying good will messages from Gov. Louis L. Emmerson and President Frank F. Winans of the Association of Commerce.

On Wednesday morning the Northern Pacific's flyer will arrive in Chicago on its first trip of 61 hours and 15 minutes from the Pacific coast. On the train will be Red Tomahawk, famous Sioux Indian chief, slayer of Sitting Bull, and the redskin who smoked a pipe of peace with the late Marshal Foch in 1921.

One Man Dies as Rare Tornado Hits England

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 9.—One man was killed and considerable damage done when a phenomena practically unknown to England—a genuine American prairie twister—attacked Aslockton and then Sheffield. The funnel shaped cloud familiar to dwellers of the tornado district, but unknown here, performed its tricks on a smaller scale, uprooting trees, tearing slates from the roofs of houses, and breaking windows.

GIVE CITY HALL CLEANING, HOAN'S SOCIALIST PLEA

Milwaukee Mayor Sees Party's Chance Here.

As his parting advice to Chicago Socialists, gathered several thousand strong in Riverview park for their annual picnic yesterday, Mayor Daniel W. Hoan of Milwaukee, gave them this:

"Now you Chicago Socialists get to work and clean out your city hall. It's beginning to stink so bad we can smell it clear up to Milwaukee. Elect somebody to office who will get busy with soap and water and scrub out that place and kill all the bedbugs."

Mr. Hoan was introduced as "mayor of Milwaukee, the best governed city in the United States."

Encouraged by British Vote.

Other European countries will follow England's lead, Hoan declared, and put labor or Socialist parties in power as soon as their people get the chance to go to the polls again.

"At the next elections I'm expecting the people of France, Belgium and Germany to turn out their present régimes and put in Socialists," he said. "It will take a bit longer, of course, in backward countries like Spain and Portugal.

"I've just returned from a tour of eight European countires, and everywhere I found the people looking with eagerness toward the British labor party. The capitalist system has collapsed in Europe. The world war was the deciding blow. And now the people have no other recourse than to vote the Socialist ticket."

Cites Labor Party's Influence.

Declaring that the influence of the labor triumph in England was felt in every other nation in the world, Mr. Hoan cited the "whirlwind activity the day before England went to the polls to settle the reparations question."

"President Hoover and the others told one another: 'We must do something quick,'" said Mayor Hoan. "So they got together and decided to make Germany pay $500,000,000. Germany can pay it only by selling goods to outsiders and our high tariff prohibits that here."

England's present attitude, under labor leadership is one of peace toward the whole world, "not peace for just a few," Mayor Hoan said. "Premier MacDonald sees no use for such a big English army and navy, and is going to hold out for a 'United States of Europe.'"

Give NERVES a Vacation, Too!

Why Not Make the 7-Day Nerve Test While You're Away?

Going away on vacation? Then here's an idea that may mean a lot to you.

Give your nerves a rest, too. No need to quit smoking. Just switch your brand.

For your health's sake . . . try Tareytons just a week. Smoke as many as you want. But be sure to smoke only Tareytons.

Then after the week is over . . . CHECK UP!

See if you don't feel a lot better. See if your nerves aren't steadier.

Surely it's worth a fair and honest test when the reward is steady nerves.

Get a carton on your way home tonight. Remember . . . Tareytons are what you ask for . . . tell the clerk no other brand will do.

If you like cork tips . . . you can get them without any extra charge. Tareytons are the only nationally-advertised brand of cigarettes selling at fifteen cents that offers you this extra convenience.

Women particularly appreciate it . . . they like cork tip Tareytons because lip stick doesn't show.

A UNIVERSAL ACHIEVEMENT

New York Central Lines

Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe

This announcement of the first regular rail-air-rail transcontinental service comes after months of intensive study and experimentation. Day after day Universal ships have flown over the entire route checking schedules and operating conditions. Only after every detail contributing to passengers' safety and comfort had been worked out was Universal ready to announce this service. Now, with customary initiative, Universal inaugurates this new, daily, transcontinental service via rail, air and rail between New York City and points East and the Pacific Coast. Rail service starts June 14th. The first history-making flight starts June 15th.

This new service opens up quick, safe transportation to all sections of the United States having air or rail connection with any of the cities upon the route.

Westbound passengers leave New York City on the New York Central Line's "Southwest Limited" and arrive at Cleveland the following morning where they catch the Universal plane for Chicago. Stopping at Chicago and Kansas City for meals, the plane reaches Garden City, Kansas, to connect with the Santa Fe "The California Limited" which leaves the evening of the same day. The balance of the trip is by rail, arriving in Los Angeles the morning of the next succeeding day.

Eastbound passengers leave Los Angeles at 12:30 p.m. Pacific Time on the Santa Fe "The Grand Canyon Limited" and catch the Universal eastbound plane at Garden City, Kansas, on the morning of the next succeeding day. The return by air is over the route followed by westbound planes arriving at Cleveland the evening of the same day to catch the Southwest Limited for New York.

Westbound passengers from Boston may make rail connections with the "Southwest Limited" at Albany. Passengers from St. Louis, Oklahoma City and Tulsa, may make connections in either direction over Universal lines at Kansas City.

Every precaution is taken for safety and comfort. Routes are surveyed and marked by the U. S. Government. Radio reports keep pilots advised of weather conditions ahead. Tri-motor planes carrying twelve passengers are used exclusively. Plane and rail terminals conveniently adjoin. Baggage is transferred from train to plane automatically. Truly a miracle of safe, swift, luxurious transportation.

Complete information and through tickets furnished by local agent. Reservations limited to twelve.

LOTT DEFEATS THALHEIMER TO WIN CITY TITLE

Mrs. Alter Takes Women's Crown.

George M. Lott Jr., third ranking star of the nation and member of the Davis cup team, added two more titles to his constantly increasing collection yesterday. Lott won the singles championship in the Chicago city tournament, played at the Town and Tennis club, from Louis J. Thalheimer, formerly of Austin, Tex. Later Lott paired with Scott Rexinger, his teammate at the University of Chicago, to grab off the doubles title.

GEORGE LOTT.

Lott demonstrated clearly to the gallery that he plays one brand of tennis and his urban contemporaries display an entirely different variety, for he won from Thalheimer in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1. The Texas red head put up a hard fight, but Lott had too much pace, deception, and accuracy on his drives and chops, and ran his opponent around to win as he chose.

The youthful Davis cup star was content to stay in the back court and win by superior ground strokes, allowing Thalheimer to rush the net, the spot Lott normally heads for so that he can cut off his opponent's drives with crisp volley placements.

Lott and Rexinger took the doubles title when they bested Fred Royer, former Oklahoma star, and George O'Connell in four sets, 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 8-6. The match was an anti-climax to the brilliance of the semi-finals Saturday, all four players erring constantly, with few interesting rallies.

Mrs. Alter Wins Twice.

Lott and Rexinger waltzed through the first two sets, mainly because their opponent's drove into the net or outside. They dropped the third frame when Royer got his smashing overhead into action. After the short rest Lott and Rexinger took the fourth and deciding set at 8-6, after having nine match points, only to have their opponents cut off drives at the net with sharp volleys.

Mrs. Leo Alter won her first city women's' singles championship in many years of tournament tennis when she easily defeated Lucy Jane Hedberg, 16 year old North Shore girl, 6-4, 6-0. Mrs. Alter had more patience than her youthful opponent and was content to kep the ball in play until Miss Hedberg cracked it on an attempted placement.

Mrs. Alter also has a double winner, for she paired with Marian Leighton, usually her nemesis in the singles, to win the doubles title from Ruth Williard and Louise Hoffmeister, 6-1, 6-4. Miss Leighton did not enter the singles this year.

TILDEN BEATS HUNTER

ZURICH, Switzerland, June 9.—(AP)—Big Bill Tilden won the Swiss tennis singles championship today, defeating his fellow American, Frank Hunter, in a brilliant five set match, 5-7, 6-4, 7-5, 3-6, 6-1.

Tilden and Hunter paired to win the Swiss doubles crown as well, defeating Worm of Denmark and Fisher of New Zealand in the finals, 6-2, 7-5, 6-3.

HELEN WINS AGAIN.

BERLIN, June 9.—(AP)—Helen Wills easily defeated Cecelie Aussem, 6-0, 6-1, in the feature match of the second day of play in the German-American team tennis matches here today.

Germany recorded victories in the two other singles matches, however. Edith Cross of San Francisco fell before Paula von Reznicek, 6-2, 6-1, and Marjorie Morrill of Bedham, Mass., was beaten by Hilda Krahwinkel, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2.

In the doubles Miss Wills and Miss Cross defeated Fraulein Aussem and Irmgard Ross, 6-3, 6-2.

AMATEURS OPEN PLAY TODAY IN BRITISH TOURNEY

SANDWICH, England, June 9.—(AP)—Two hundred and fifty golfers entered in the British amateur championship gained a moral victory today—only one rainstorm interrupted their practice for the titular event which starts tomorrow over the St. George's course.

Weather prospects are better than during the last week, but there's promise of the usual English coastal winds to worry the players over the long and trying homeward nine hole journey.

The amateur army was scattered over the famous old Cinque Ports district today, but most of them remained at St. George's, and John Dawson of Chicago, as chief American hope among a dozen entrants from the United States, put the final polish on his shots along with the native born favorites, T. P. Perkins, Cyril Tolley, Roger Wethered, and Ernest Holderness. Douglas Grant, the former Californian who now lives in England, was another who did some last minute practicing. Jack Westland of Chicago will be among the starters tomorrow.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

BY DON MAXWELL.

IOWA recruited and proselyted athletes, and Iowa was caught. The penalty was expulsion from the Big Ten. The Western conference has certain definite rules of conduct and there is plenty of evidence at hand that Iowa evaded and trifled with these rules. I see no reason to sympathize with Iowa on its conviction.

There is, however, an element about the Iowa case that roused the feelings of Iowa's friends, and induces the impartial observer to lift an eyebrow. It is the failure of any one of the other Big Ten schools to say a kind word for their long time playmate, especially since they are well aware that Iowa's sins are in varying degree their own.

Imagine if you will a family of ten brothers, one of whom has been caught transgressing rules drawn up as a basis of family conduct. Can you imagine all of the other nine pointing a finger of scorn at the unlucky culprit and by their actions gloating over his denouement when it was common knowledge that most of the nine were as guilty as the one?

Naturally there has been no open declarations of enthusiasm over Iowa's plight. But if there have been any expressions of condolence I have been remiss in my reading.

This attitude on the part of the other nine universities strikes me as a bit odd, and while it certainly is beyond the province of this department to turn detective, it may be seemly to suggest that nine who cast the first stone reflect in the quiet of their campuses on the following conditions:

1. A prominent candidate for football honors in one of the Big Ten institutions announced last fall that he would quit the squad if he wasn't given $250 in advance. His coach fired him off the squad, but an alumnus paid up, the young man apologized and was given back his suit.

2. At the same school merchants of the town are being solicited by representatives of the athletic department for "soft berths" for football players; a civic group paid $100 a month for a tutor for a dumb gridiron star; two players were openly imported from another state, and the athletic director admitted that conditions at the university were "terrible."

3. A basketball star from Indiana told friends that he had offers from three institutions and was waiting to see where he would best be taken care of. He is now playing for a university near Chicago, and although his family's means are limited, he has the reputation of being the best dressed youth on the campus.

4. A former football captain, last fall a member of the coaching staff, and now employed by an alumni group, is accused by other coaches of seeking athletes on the promise that there are 16 scholarships open at his university.

5. A football captain was provided with a job as foreman of a crew working on a now famous cinder path. He was boss and did no actual work.

6. A conference coach is said to have a private contract with a local civic organization which adds $4,000 a year to his annual stipend, which is in violation of conference rules.

7. A football star reported for practice last fall with a leg injury which common report said was suffered while the star was playing semi-pro baseball.

8. One of the greatest basketball players of conference history came to college with scarcely enough money for board and room and drove an automobile during two of his school years.

9. An Indiana basketball coach possesses a letter from a Big Ten basketball coach in which the latter urges the former to lineup a prep star for a certain university.

10. An athletic director of a small Indiana school has protested to Maj. Griffith that a representative of a Big Ten institution last fall tried to persuade two of the football stars of the small school to jump to the university.

These are not charges. Some of them are facts, some of them rumors. None of them will be turned over to Big Ten leaders for most of these reports are already well known.

But I can't resist this opportunity to suggest that if the Big Ten is sincere, and some of the leaders surely are, the fight on proselyting and recruiting only began when Iowa was caught.

CALL POLICE AS SPARTA FORFEITS TO BRICKLAYERS

Rough and Tumble Game Ends in Riot.

Whether soccer naturally is a ferocious game or naturally ferocious people play soccer is an open question, but that soccer and flying fists go together has been established firmly on many a field.

Yesterday's game which Sparta eventually forfeited to the Bricklayers, was no exception. Mattus crashed Rudin against the goal posts, knocking him unconscious. Kratochvil used unseemly language in the presence of the referee and was ordered to the showers. Hill swung a left hook to Hlavaty's jaw.

Walk Off Field.

The Spartas walked off the field, muttering imprecations and threatening never again to play the Bricklayers. Thereupon the spectators broke into a spontaneous riot in which one man was stabbed. They were buffeting one another with much gusto when the police broke up the afternoon's sport by vigorously clubbing the merry fighters and dispersing them to their homes.

At the opening of the game, the referee warned the teams against unnecessary roughness. Fencl of Sparta scored the first goal after 15 minutes of play. Coutts then brought the Bricklayers up on even terms and a little later Cuthbert booted another for the Bricklayers, giving them a 2 to 1 lead.

To Sever Relations.

The altercations related above had been breaking out at intervals, and five minutes before the final whistle, Manager Fencl of Sparta ordered his team from the field, forfeiting the game.

President Triner said that in the future, whenever the Bricklayers were drawn as opponents, Sparta would forfeit rather than play.

Yesterday's game was a semi-final of the Peel cup series and was played at De Paul field. Lineup:

BRICKLAYERS [2].		SPARTA [1].
Ruden	G	Nudera
Scott	R.B.	Gardiner
Wood	L.B.	Mrnka
Hill	R.H.	Turek
Quinn	C.H.	Walker
Davidson	L.H.	Hlavaty
A. Walker	O.R.	Fencl
Munro	I.R.	Mattus
Coutts	C.	Burger
Cuthbert	I.L.	Kratochvil
McLean	O.L.	Tomek

Goals—Fencl, Coutts, Cuthbert. Referee—Hamilton. Linesmen—Wood, Towne.

ONWENTSIA LOSES TITLE MATCH TO NORTH SHORE, 11-8

By scoring consistently in the early chukkers, North Shore's polo team yesterday became Chicago ten goal tournament champions, defeating Onwentsia in the final, 11 to 8.

With the exception of the fifth period when Charles Glore's two goals brought the score 5 to 4 with North Shore leading, the Onwentsia team never really threatened. Balding, scoring ace for Onwentsia, was well covered, failing to register a goal.

Lorber with five goals led the winners' attack. Lineup and summary:

ONWENTSIA [8].		N. SHORE [11].
Glore	No. 1	Hannah
Balding	No. 2	Calhoun
Blair [Capt.]	No. 3	[Capt.] Lorber
Simmons	Back	Ferguson

Score by chuckkers:

North Shore	212	021	21—	11
Onwentsia	010	120	04—	8

Goals—Hannah [5], Lorber [3], Blair [3], Simmons [2], Glore [2], Ferguson [2], Calhoun, Scott. Substitution—Scott for Glore. Time of chukkers—7½ minutes each. Official referee—Capt. J. S. Rodwell of Fort Sheridan.

WOODBURY WINS 100 MILE RACE

Detroit, Mich., June 9.—(AP)—Cliff Woodbury, a veteran of both dirt and hard tracks, averaged 76.22 miles an hour today to win a 100 mile automobile race on the one mile dirt track of the state fairgrounds here.

Ray Keech, winner of the Indianapolis Speedway race two weeks ago, held second place to the twenty-ninth lap, but was forced out by a broken piston.

LONGING FOR HIS BAT

Babe Ruth's doctors have ordered him to stay out of uniform for at least ten days longer to give his heart a complete rest. Inactivity is said to be getting on the nerves of the home run king.

Babe Ruth, Sick and Worried, Tells Truth About Condition

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 9.—George Herman Ruth, the man who has hit 'em a mile and made the magnates pay well for his exceptional skill, is sick and worried. He has not been out of the game for a week because of a sore wrist, as was first announced. Neither was it a cold that sent him to bed under a blanket of mystery. The Babe's heart has been acting up.

This has been hinted at before and as often as mentioned has been denied by everybody from officials of the Yankee club to the doctor in charge. But the truth was revealed today by the Babe himself. He told it to Manager Dan Howley of the Browns and Pilot Donie Bush of the Pirates. And his actions told what his words did not tell. He was not the laughing big kid of other years or even a month ago. He had just come from church and was accompanied by the new Mrs. Ruth.

"I finally know what it is to worry," said Ruth after he had greeted the two managers whose clubs were engaged in this neighborhood today. "Never worried about anything before, but this thing almost had me down and I'm still thinking a bit."

Will Rest in Country.

He then went on to explain that he had suffered a heart attack, that he had been ordered to bed for a complete rest, and that he would idle away ten more days at least before making an attempt to get back into his Yankee monkey suit, which is baseball language for uniform. He's going to some quiet spot in the country.

Additional information was offered by Mrs. Ruth. She told of how he has been unable to rest, of how he tossed until 4 o'clock this morning before settling into slumber, and of how he worried himself into a crying spell. He isn't even permitted to drive his car. That's how strict the doctor has been about the "rest" edict.

Ruth's real worry probably is over whether his present ailment has brought him to the sunset of his career. If his strenuous labors on the ball field combined with his amazing disregard for training over a period of years have so affected his heart that doctors deem it necessary to hide him from all excitement and all forms of exertion, it is something serious. Just now the doctor insists he is in excellent condition, but what no doctor can foretell is when there might be a recurrence.

Ailment Psychological Hazard.

At best it is a psychological hazard that might affect Ruth's hitting. The ordinary man would respect the warning and quit; Ruth, with an animal-like constitution, never has been ordinary, but there's always a first time for everybody.

Should the Babe find that baseball no longer is his game, one wonders what might happen to the Yanks. Just now they are doing none too well. Let Babe be taken from their ranks and it should cause no surprise if they drop down to nothing. They have won so often that indifference has overtaken some of them. Not much would be needed to send them skidding. But if the Babe gets back there as his old self, the Yankees must be watched, despite the big lead being piled up by the Mackmen.

CHICAGOANS WIN MIXED CONTRACT BRIDGE HONORS

Contract mixed team championship and special prize awards were announced yesterday at the conclusion of the American bridge tournament. The mixed team championship in contract bridge was won by R. W. Halpin, Mrs. Sidney Level, Nils Wester and Mrs. M. K. Alexander, all of Chicago.

The women's special accumulative high score prize was won by Mrs. A. R. Coffin of Indianapolis, the men's special accumulative by M. M. Cohen of Chicago, and in honors for high score in two special games Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Jaeger of Cleveland and Mrs. C. E. Bennet of Decatur, Ga., and Charles Rockridge of Atlanta, Ga., tied.

AMERICAN DERBY TO DRAW TURF'S FASTEST COLTS

Prepare Accommodations for 100,000 Fans.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Derby week opens at Washington park today, and as the curtain goes up a field of from ten to fifteen starters will be awaiting the bugle call for the renewal of the traditional $50,000 three year old fixture here next Saturday afternoon.

The field stands out as the best to face the barrier on the American turf this year. All of the leading three year olds are expected to run, with the possible exception of Blue Larkspur.

Barry Shannon, manager of Col. Bradley's Idle Hour farm, last night indicated that Blue Larkspur may remain in the east to run in the Dwyer stakes, in which case he would not be brought to Chicago before the Arlington meeting.

Eastern Colts Expected.

Four colts which started in Saturday's Belmont stakes are expected here for the Derby. They are Jack High, in front of Blue Larkspur at the end of the first mile and a quarter, but in third place at the finish; African, second in the Belmont; his stable companion, Dr. Freeland, the Preakness winner, and Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Sun Hatter.

It was expected that Blue Larkspur's smashing victory in the Belmont would scare most of the other easterners out of the American Derby. And it was also believed it would frighten out the owners of several of the western colts already quartered at Washington Park. But a checkup of the field last night showed there are eighteen possible starters and that at least ten of them will parade to the post. The field of possible starters follows:

Horse—	Owner—
Karl Eitel,	J. J. Coughlin.
Minotaur,	John R. Thompson
Clyde Van Dusen,	Harold P. Gardner.
Windy City,	Fred M. Grabner.
Judge Hay,	C. W. Hay.
Naishapur,	Chaffee Earle.
Voltear,	Dixiana farm.
Blue Larkspur,	E. R. Bradley.
Jack High,	G. D. Widener.
Paul Bunyon,	L. M. Severson.
African,	R. T. Wilson.
Dall,	W. R. Coe.
Igloo,	W. R. Coe.
Silverdale,	E. B. McLean.
Beacon Hill,	H. P. Whitney.
Sun Hatter,	W. S. Kilmer.
Dr. Freeland,	W. J. Salmon.
Soul of Honor.	Audley farms.

While Col. Matt J. Winn, president of the American Turf association, would make no predictions on what the attendance will be at Washington Park on Derby day, he declared it will not surprise him if the crowd is larger than any that ever has attended the Kentucky Derby. Practically all box and other reserved seats had been sold yesterday and the sale only started a few days ago.

Ready for 100,000.

There were 40,000 people at Washington Park on Decoration day and a crowd double the size on Saturday will come close to topping the attendance record at the Kentucky Derby. Col. Winn said arrangements were being made to accommodate 100,000 here Saturday and that he already had been assured special Derby trains are to be run from Louisville, Cincinnati, Kansas City and Detroit.

"Our box seat reservation list includes many of our Derby crowd at Churchill Downs," he said.

Clyde Van Dusen, Karl Eitel and the Derby candidates quartered here all engaged in workouts yesterday morning. Their last serious training moves before the big race will come today and tomorrow.

Yanks Give George Burns His Unconditional Release

New York, June 9.—[Special.]—George Burns, pinch hitter and substitute first baseman, who never got much of an opportunity to sub because of the robust health of Lou Gehrig, today was given ten days' notice of his unconditional release by the New York Yankees.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Arthur Nehf and Ben Cantwell, two pitchers simultaneously blessed with all their stuff, yesterday gave 35,000 fans at Wrigley field the classiest baseball show of the year. Mr. Nehf's team, the Cubs, defeated Mr. Cantwell's team, the Boston Braves, by a score of 2 to 1.

It was one of those old fashioned pitchers' duels, so rare in these days of the rubber baseball. Each thrower allowed only four hits, the net difference between the two being a base on balls and the fact that Hack Wilson and his home run bat were on Mr. Nehf's side.

Hack smacked his No. 11 with Hornsby on first and with two down in the seventh. It was the second hit off Cantwell and came a few minutes after a double by Freddie Maguire and a single by George Harper had given the Braves a 1 to 0 lead in the first half of the seventh.

Move Up on Pirates.

All the hits off Cantwell except Hack's deciding blow were acquired by the Cub battery, Grace getting a single in the third and another in the eighth and Nehf getting credit for an infield scratch in the eighth.

It was Nehf's fourth victory of the year. Arthur has not lost a game which he started himself, his lone setback being in the rôle of extra inning relief pitcher in St. Louis several weeks ago.

Yesterday's triumph was particularly sweet inasmuch as some of the Cubs' leading adversaries were getting socked by second division trouble makers. As a result of the day's doings our boys gained a full game on the leading Pirates and the Giants, which lost to the Robins and Reds respectively.

During the first six innings only three Braves got on first and all were knocked off in double plays, two of them started by Nehf. Richbourg started the game with a single to center. Then Maguire hit into a double play, Nehf to English to Grimm. Nehf then threw out Sisler. In the third Taylor beat out a hit to deep short with one out; then Cantwell hit into a double play, English to Hornsby to Grimm. In the fifth Clark reached first with one out when English booted his grounder and went to second on a passed ball. Then Nehf speared Bell's liner and threw to English to double Clark off second.

Maranville in Star Role.

In the same span Cub chances were twice blighted by double plays. Grace singled to center with one out in the third and Nehf hit into a double play, Cantwell to Maranville to Sisler. In the fourth, Hornsby and Wilson walked—the first two of three passes given by Cantwell. Grimm forced Hornsby, Taylor to Bell, and McMillan hit into a double play, Bell to Maguire to Sisler.

Richbourg opened the active seventh with a pop to English, but Maguire drove the ball into left center for a double. Sisler flied to Moore, but Harper singled to center, scoring Maguire. Clark then flied to Cuyler.

Moore opened the Cubs' end of the seventh by grounding out to Maguire, but Cuyler walked. Maranville made the second of two great stops of the afternoon to get Hornsby's hot grounder in deep short. Throwing from his knees, the Rabbit got Cuyler at second for the second out of the inning. Wilson then smashed the ball high in the right field bleachers, Hornsby scoring ahead of him. Maguire threw out Grimm.

Nehf Knocked Cold.

After two were out in the Braves' ninth the entire crowd stayed in the stands, unable to determine whether the game was over.

Maguire sent a slow roller along the foul line and both Nehf and Grimm went after it. The pair collided, but Grimm got the ball and apparently tagged Freddie. Nehf was knocked cold and both clubs gathered around him, some with their paraphernalia under their arms ready to go to the clubhouse on the assumption the game was over. After Nehf had been revived, Umpire Rigler ruled the ball was foul. So Nehf limped out to the center of the diamond and forced Maguire to foul out to Grace.

SOX, SHY HURLING ACES, TO TACKLE RAMPANT MACKS

Three Games Scehduled with League Leaders.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., June 9.—With only an even break in four games against feeble competition here, the White Sox were not bubbling over with varsity enthusiasm as they departed this evening in the general direction of Philadelphia, where the mad Athletics are rampant. Three games must be played with the leaders in three days.

It so happens that for the next few days Manager Blackburne may not be able to use any of his best hurlers. This, of course, is lucky for the Macks because there are a couple of Sox mound workers who ordinarily annoy the Philadelphians.

Thomas Is Not Ready.

One of these is Tommy Thomas, but his sore rib may not heal for several more days. Both Lyons and Red Faber worked yesterday, so can't be summoned again before the last game of the series.

Further complications center around Shires, who has both a bum ankle and a sore right elbow, the one the result of stumbling over a base and the other the aftermath of being hit by a pitched ball. Whether Shires will play tomorrow or even for several days is a question, and the boy is needed. Since being restored to regular first sack duty, he has shown the same hitting strength that made him a choice "find" last fall.

Sox Win Exhibition.

Some of the Sox climbed aboard a bus and bumped over to New Bedford this afternoon for an exhibition that resulted in a 5 to 3 victory for the Hose. Score:

White Sox	000	030	002—5	7	0
New Bedford	100	000	020—3	11	1

Batteries—McKain, Dugan and Maple; Dolan and Flaherty, Cassidy.

Londos, Taylor Meet Tonight at Hippodrome

Jimmy Londos, Greek heavyweight, will be outweighed when he tackles Jack Taylor tonight in the feature bout of the wrestling show at the Hippodrome, but followers of the mat sport favor him to emerge victor. It will be a match between a good little man and a good big man.

Three other bouts will support the windup. Ray Steele takes on Bill Demetral, Karl Pojello tackles Rudy Dusek, and Pietro Bacini clashes with Gene La Dioux.

PHILLIES OUTHIT CARDS, BUT LOSE SECOND IN ROW

St. Louis, Mo., June 9.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals nipped two late inning rallies to make it two straight over Philadelphia today, 5 to 4. The Phillies outhit St. Louis but failed to tie the score. Then they needed one run after filling the bases in both the eighth and ninth innings. Douthit saved the game in the eighth by a sensational running catch with two down and the bases filled. Score:

America Has Voted
YES
. . . on the World's First Straight-Eight under $1000

THIS country either takes a thing or leaves it distinctly alone. Sixty days ago it made up its mind about the Roosevelt . . . Its decision was emphatically, YES! It was "yes" because the Roosevelt has the right platform to win the greatest and most motor-wise nation on earth . . . It is the plain, easily understood principle of giving the most for the money
—a car that gives you a full-sized, 70-horsepower straight-eight motor rather than a six —a car that has characterful appearance of its own making —a car that is husky and sturdy; that can go into the oil fields, deserts and mountains and take a real beating —a car so "tight fisted" in economy that you wonder what it runs on —a car that no matter what you want it for is always ready to serve faithfully and adequately, out in the woods or in front of the Ritz.
As a result of these things, June has brought more and more Roosevelt buyers . . . a situation which we are now able to meet because of greatly increased Roosevelt production. May we show you what we really have in this Roosevelt at $995?

122 PLAY TODAY FOR 14 PLACES IN U. S. OPEN GOLF

Only Two Top Ranking Pros Missing.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

The battle for the fourteen places allotted the Chicago district in the National Open golf championship will be staged today over the No. 4 course at Olympia fields. An entry of 122, including virtually all the good professionals and amateurs in Chicago, as well as those of the surrounding territory and that traveling trick shot expert, Joe Kirkwood, have entered and will play 36 holes today to determine the lucky fourteen.

Only two of Chicago's best pros will be missing, Laurie Ayton of Evanston and Eddie Loos of Lake Shore. Ayton spent a painful winter in bed, a victim of rheumatism, which has curtailed his practice sadly this spring. Until a couple of weeks ago he hadn't played more than a few holes. Loos is recovering from an appendicitis operation.

Thirty Amateurs Entered.

Of the 122, thirty are amateurs whose names are far from unfamiliar to golf fans. Gus Novotny, George Thomas, Charles Evans, jr., Arthur Sweet, George Dawson, Ira L. Couch, Joe Bour, Carl Devol, Eldridge Robinson, Vincent Huntington, Billy Sixty, Ben Stevenson and Lee Thiltges are some of them who may be among the lucky fourteen.

As for the pros, the fact that only two of the more than 200 working in the district are missing, is an indication that the competition for the right to go to Winged Foot, Mamaroneck, N. Y., will be stiff.

Many of those who will try to make a place for themselves in the final today tried the course yesterday. Jock Hutchison, Glen View veteran, formerly British open and United States professional champion, led the practice rounds with 34—36—70 against a par of 35—35—70, despite the fact he three putted three greens.

Oppmann Shoots 73.

Irvin Ottman, a young professional from Louisville, scored 36—37—73, which was next best of those reporting their scores, and Jimmy Meehan of Riverside finished a practice round with a birdie and an eagle. George Thomas of Flossmoor led the amateurs with 36—40—76, with a 7 on the fourteenth, caused by two balls pushed into the creek. The golfers found the course dried hard enough by the recent warm weather to give them plenty of roll, and the greens fast.

Gunnar Nelson of Olympia fields, Neal McIntyre of Indianapolis, and Eddie Hisert of Navajo fields, will be the first trio to tee off, at 8:30. Others will follow at five minute intervals until 12:20. They will start their second round an hour or so after they finish the first 18. The entrants and starting times:

8:30—Gunnar Nelson, Olympia Fields; Neal McIntyre, Indianapolis, and Eddie Hisert, Navajo Fields.

Yanks Trounce Browns, 17-2; Gehrig Shines

New York, June 9.—(AP)—Lou Gehrig blasted a path back to second place for the Yankees at the Stadium today with his thriteenth and fourteenth home runs in successive innings, the third and the fourth, as the St. Louis Browns were defeated, 17 to 2. Gehrig's two drives, one of them with a man on base, sent him to the top in the American league and tied him with Chuck Klein of the Phillies and Chick Hafey of the Cardinals for the interleague leadership.

Von Porat and Rocco to Trade Blows Tonight

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Emmett Rocco, Italian heavyweight from Elwood City, Pa., and Otto Von Porat, elongated Norwegian, will meet in the feature bout of Promoter Paddy Harmon's boxing show at the Chicago Stadium tonight.

Rocco has come to Chicago with an impressive record. He defeated Johnny Risko, conqueror of Von Porat, in Cleveland recently. In addition, he has won from K. O. Christner, who is scheduled to meet Von Porat in the New York Milk Fund show June 27.

Von Porat, in his last appearance in Chicago, stopped Jack De Mave, Holland heavyweight. He has won most of his fights here by knockouts.

Vicentini Right Hand Puncher.

Luis Vicentini, Chilean lightweight, who won a decision from Armando Santiago of Cuba in the last Stadium show, will trade punches with Tommy Grogan of Omaha in the ten round semi-windup. Grogan is a clever boxer and has one of the best left hands in the 135 pound division.

The other ten rounder will bring together Earl Mastro, promising west side featherweight, and Mike O'Dowd of Columbus, O. In a few days Mastro will go to the coast, where he is matched to meet Fidel La Barba, former flyweight champion, the latter part of the month.

Kurt Prenzel, German welterweight, and Mickey McLaughlin, local 147 pounder, will meet in one of the openers and Battling Levinsky and Joe Corrado, local 165 pounders, in the other.

Jack Dorval Arrives.

Napoleon Jack Dorval, Pennsylvania heavyweight, who meets Les Marriner, former University of Illinois football player, at the White City open air arena Thursday night, arrived yesterday. The easterner is training at Barry's gymnasium. Marriner is working at the Arcade gym. It will be the first open air show of the season.

Malloy has been made matchmaker for the Logan Square Arena company, which will stage shows every Monday night. The arena is located at 2233 Milwaukee avenue and has a seating capacity of 8,500.

Set Your Traps High in the Air to Catch Hawks

BY BOB BECKER.

Although ordinarily sportsmen associate trapping with sets carefully located upon the ground, there is one form of vermin catching which "takes to the air." This is the use of steel traps set upon poles to snag hawks or owls which have the habit of killing birds around a farm, or game refuge.

Occasionally a hawk or owl may be caught by sets especially prepared for noxious or furbearing animals. We have caught a number of these birds in the west by traps baited with meat although we were after civet cats, skunks, and weasels.

The pole set as a method of eliminating certain hawks and owls in the bird killing class is an all year round stunt. It can be used winter and summer. "Gamekeeper" of Wheaton Ill., reports considerable success with this type of trap set during the last few weeks, several hawks having been captured by it.

Practically every gamekeeper on a game farm or refuge operates several steel traps placed on poles to keep down the predatory bird population. The Pennsylvania vermin control bureau endorses the method and advises sportsmen to prepare the trap as follows:

"A good method to catch owls and hawks is to secure a pole of light wood, fifteen to twenty-five feet in length above the ground, nail a piece of board about six inches square on the small end and fasten a trap to the board with a light string so as to hold the trap in place until the pole is set up. Fasten the trap chain to the pole.

"The pole should be set in an upright position fastened to a stump or a low building. The trap should be set heavy enough so that a small bird will not touch it off. By piecing a copper wire around one of the trap jaws near the hinge the trap can be made so it will not break the legs of small birds but will hold a hawk or owl."

WALES WINS TROPHY.

Redlegs Snap Giants' String of Wins, 2-1

Cincinnati, O., June 9.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds stopped the triumphal march of the New York Giants through the west today by defeating the McGraw men, 2 to 1. The game was a pitchers' battle between Jack Scott and Red Lucas. The speed of Evar Swanson, Cincinnati recruit, on the bases was largely responsible for the Reds' victory. Swanson went from first to third on Critz's sacrifice in the first inning and then scored on Terry's wild throw to third in attempting to catch him.

Intercontinental Rubber.

E. V., Berwyn, Ill.—Intercontinental Rubber company reported net profit of $190,348 for 1928, as compared with $659,066 for 1927.

This was equal to 32 cents a share on 595,312 shares of the no par capital stock in 1928, against $1.11 on practically the same number of shares in 1927.

There was a surplus of $41,534 for the year, against $64,221 the year before.

Profit and loss surplus as of Dec. 31, 1928, was $1,096,759, against $1,047,894 the year before.

Current assets were $2,731,273 and current liabilities were $129,161 at the close of 1928. This left a net working capital of $2,602,112, which compares with $2,909,907 at the close of 1927.

No dividends have been reported since one of 25 cents a share was paid March 31, 1928.

The company's earnings depend largely on the maintenance of a satisfactory price for rubber. Its stock at present is a speculation.

New Mexico and Arizona Land company capital stock is a pure speculation at present.

Illinois Water Service.

R. W., Dixon, Ill.—Illinois Water Service company furnished water to a number of Illinois cities, including Champaign, Urbana, Streator, Freeport, Sterling, and Rock Falls. It serves a total population of more than 100,000. It is controlled by the Federal Water Service corporation.

Gross income for the year ended Dec. 31, 1928, amounted to $584,906, against $427,513 for 1927.

Net earnings in 1928 were $272,601 against $166,432 in 1927.

Net income was $93,257, against $55,947 the year before.

A surplus of $48,024 was reported for 1928 after payment of preferred dividends. This compares with $43,822 the year before.

Earnings in 1928 were equal to $10.48 a share on the preferred, against $7.46 a share on a smaller number of shares the year before.

Net income for the twelve months ending March 31, 1929, was $286,205, compared with $222,724 for the year ending March 31, 1928.

Regular dividends are being paid on the 6 per cent preferred.

Penn Central Light and Power.

G. D.—Penn Central Light and Power company, $2,00,000 first mortgage 5 per cent bonds dated May 1, 1929, and due May 1, 1979, are secured by a direct first mortgage on all of the fixed property of the company. Based on appraisals, the value of fixed property of the company is largely in excess of the total funded debt.

This new issue is to provide funds to reimburse the company's treasury in part for money expended for the acquisition of new properties, and for additions and extensions.

Net earnings of the company for the twelve months ended Feb. 28, 1929, were $3,091,100. Annual interest requirements on the first mortgage bonds, including this issue, are $1,180,000. Net earnings in 1927 amounted to $2,955,888.

These bonds are callable to May 1, 1939, at 105 and interest, thereafter at a gradually decreasing premium. They are a suitable investment for a business man's funds.

Indianapolis, Ind.

L. C. R.—Indianapolis, Ind., $693,000 4½ per cent airport bonds, dated May 15, 1929, and due annually Jan. 1, 1944, to 1953, are a direct obligation on the entire city and are payable from general taxes.

These bonds are exempt from all federal income taxes and are tax exempt in Indiana. They are a sound investment.

German Papers Protest at New U. S. Tariff Proposals

[Copyright: 1929: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, June 9.—The trade newspapers in Germany continue to describe the proposals of the new American tariff bill as all but fatal to Germany's export trade. Most of them lament the fact that Germany cannot retaliate.

It is recognized that since Germany conceded to America the most favored national treatment, it is impossible to impose higher duties on American goods than on those of other countries with whom Germany has similar agreements. The press, therefore, is now demanding that the government shall denounce as soon as possible the commercial treaty with America. That, however, cannot be done until 1933.

Noble B. Judah to Talk to Economic Club June 12

Noble B. Judah will be the speaker of the evening at the last meeting of the Economic club for the present season, at the Palmer house, Wednesday, June 12.

FEDERAL AID PROSPECT LIFTS PRICES OF GRAINS

Bears Turn to Bulls at a Rapid Pace.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Expectations of the United States government entering grain markets as an extensive buyer, or as a backer of coöperative associations buying surplus wheat, together with favorable action by congress on the farm relief bill, has thrown the grain trade into hysteria.

A week ago the close on all grains was at the lowest of the season. Monday saw shorts frenzied buyers at the opening because of the announcement that the government was to come into the market almost immediately with $100,000,000 for relief of farmers, as prices had declined 30@40c a bu on wheat from the high point of the season and other grains proportionately.

The trade was all bearish and short a week ago. At the close last Saturday it was mostly bullish and long with expectations of governmental operations making a broad bull market in the near future. This is based on an impression that the senate will take favorable action on the farm relief bill this week and that it will be operative by July 1. It was one of the most remarkable changes over night that the trade has experienced in years, and then only in war times.

Look for Further Upturn.

An impression prevails in the trade that wheat is headed for a 25c advance from the recent low point, while last week prices moved up 14¼@14¾c from the low on May 31, with the close at net gains of 10⅝@11½c compared with a week ago. Corn is up 10¼@13⅛c from the previous week's low with net gains of 9⅝@11⅛c for the week. Oats have moved up 5¼@5¾c, July leading, and a net advance of 2¾@3¾c, while rye made a net gain of 10½@10¾c, or almost the entire appreciation from the previous week's low.

With the public coming into the market on a larger scale as the result of the advance in prices and reports that the government is to help the market, wheat sales last week of 333,198,000 bu in the Chicago market were practically 110,000,000 bu larger than the previous week, and compared with 240,126,000 bu last year. At the same time, the open interest at the close on Friday was 126,051,000 bu, compared with 134,026,000 bu a week ago.

A feature of the present trading in grain is the immense volume of spreading operations, the buying of one month in wheat and selling another, buying wheat and selling corn, buying rye and selling corn and oats, all of which tends to swell the volume of trading.

Wheat prefaces in Chicago have advanced to within 4½c of Liverpool, taking the deferred months, which encourages purchases there and sales in Chicago.

At the close on Saturday July wheat was $1.09@1.09⅛; September, $1.13¾@1.13⅝; December, $1.18¾@1.18⅝.

Winter Wheat Crop 622,000,000 Bu.

The government crop report given out at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, estimated the winter wheat crop at 622,000,000 bu, or about as expected. Private estimates averaged 632,000,000 bu. A year ago the government suggested 512,000,000 bu, with a harvest of 579,000,000 bu, and an average of 549,000,000 bu.

The estimate of 84.3 as the spring wheat condition without returns on acreage or production suggests about 250,000,000 bu, or practically the same as the private estimates and 324,000,000 bu last year. It will mean 874,000,000 bu for all wheat, against 902,000,000 bu last year. Prices follow:

July Corn Leads Advance.

July corn which has been sold against purchases of wheat, rye, and oats, was bought extensively in the closing of spreads by shorts who were evening up on their spreads. It advanced from 1¾ to ⅝c under September and closed at almost the top, 90⅛@92¼c, with September 92¾@93c, and December, which was bought freely at times by those who believe it worth the money, was 88@88⅛c.

Corn planting has been practically finished, but growth is slow owing to the cold nights over a large part of the belt, which tends to create bullishness on the part of spectators, as also does the advance in wheat. If the latter advances, a sympathetic movement is to be expected in all grains.

The short interest is said to have been reduced and open trades at the close were 50,824,000 bu, compared with 55,035,000 bu a week ago. Prices follow:

Oats Supported on Brakes.

Buying of oats was lighter than the previous week and last year. Sales of 12,852,000 bu futures for the week compared with 16,300,000 bu the previous week. Harvesting is progressing in the southwest, and new oats are being marketed to a fair extent.

The government report suggested a condition of 82, against 78.3 last year. Private reports averaged 1,292,000,000 bu, and compared with 1,450,000,000 bu harvested last year.

LARD PRICES MOVE UP

Renewed buying lard futures by eastern and foreign interests combined with that of local traders and with lighter offerings from the packing interests and an advance in grains and hogs, gave the provision trade a better tone, and prices moved upward. Prices follow:

EXPERTS DIFFER OVER CAUSE OF STOCK ADVANCE

But No One Falters Over Profits.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 9.—The immediate course of markets when a sweeping downward readjustment to the visible realities has been arrested with a consequent sharp recovery, needs to be judged with circumspection. Sometimes the inference is drawn that the previous decline had been based on mistaken ideas, and that prolonged speculation for the rise is now again in order.

On the stock exchange the sequel to the severe though brief reaction of last November and June, resumption of excited advance in prices after a week or two of falling prices, no doubt encouraged the idea but the longer precedent is hardly so convincing. There were sudden recoveries of 5 or 10 points a few weeks after even "panic markets" such as those of 1920 and 1907 and 1893 and indeed, a prolonged and precipitous decline in stocks is always sure to reach at some moment a point where purchases for the "bear account," if for no other, will turn the market until such speculative commitments are adjusted.

Stimulated at Times.

Upward reaction on such occasions has at times been stimulated by a change for the better in a situation which was creating serious alarm. This might be news that the holdings of some embarrassed speculator had been "taken over" by his banks; on occasion, especially at a time of actual crisis, it was some unexpected move to break an absolute deadlock in the money market. No such speculator turn in the situation occurred last week. On the other hand, however, the state of affairs outside the stock exchange has seemed on the present occasion to provide ground for speculative reassurance such as has not always existed on such occasions. Whether, supposing continuance of the credit stringency, commerce and industry are yet to be affected by it, is no doubt debatable. Tight money, long continued, is always apt to have such restrictive influence. The fact that in several directions production and consumption have risen to quite unprecedented volume, and are now moving in a manner wholly unusual for this time of year, might conceivably mean either the position is too strong to be shaken, or that it is more than ordinarily vulnerable to outside influences.

But in either case, the course of things will depend on the money market's actual condition and that has lately appeared to be a perplexing matter. Wall street's ideas of it are influenced by the action of call money, which has surmounted the monthly settlements at a lower rate than at any similar period within a year. But the call money rate is not always the safest guide.

Gives No Clue.

The "brokers' loan" account in the critical month of May, 1920, had been reduced nearly 40 per cent from its high point of the period. This was one incidental sign, like the recent reduction of about 10 per cent from the last season's maximum. It had to be left to subsequent events to show whether that curtailment had completed the remedy for the general situation. In the present instance, the reserve bank rate gives no clue whatever; the decision, rightly or wrongly, has up to this time been for keeping that rate entirely out of touch with the actual money market. There are naturally other means of judging; in particular, the rate fixed by the treasury for its quarterly financing, which has been accepted ever since the war as the surest index to a money market situation.

The government's offer last Friday of 5⅛ per cent not only established the highest rate since the "deflation period," but marked progressive increase in the price of money since the 4¼ per cent rate of last December and (what was more interesting) since the 4¾ per cent rate of March. Taken together with New York City's recent borrowing, whose cost, after allowing for the premium bid by applicants, was 4.8065 per cent as against 4.2002 last November and 3.866 in February, 1928, this is fairly conclusive evidence.

Not Easy to Read.

It is not easy yet to read the money market's future clearly; but there is certainly enough in these weather signs to warrant a policy of caution. We do not yet know what other influences, if any, have been at work aside from excessive absorption of credit in stock speculation; yet we do know that credit has been employed on a prodigious scale for purposes which have been new to the money market's habitual calculations.

Close Buying by Retailers Curbing Trade

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The retail merchants have been preached to so much in the last few years on the necessity of frequent turnovers in stock that the effect is proving a boomerang, according to claims of some of the wholesalers.

That merchants are buying close to the belt is unquestionably true and the result, according to the wholesalers, is that they are losing a good deal of business because of their inadequate stocks. Ten years ago the retailer bought his merchandise in large lots and when business failed to live up to his expectations he suffered the consequent penalties of markdowns.

It was the retailer who was left holding the bag when business went into a slump. He was told that the cure for his troubles was frequent turnover. After several bad lessons he accomplished what he was advised to do by cutting down his stock.

The result of the whole thing has been that the retailer had passed the buck to the wholesaler who in turn passed it on to the manufacturer if he was able to do it. On the surface, it might appear that the merchant had accomplished what he set out to do. But there is another side to the story, according to the wholesaler. The merchant is now losing business as a result of the hand to mouth buying. The wholesaler and manufacturer are unable to supply merchandise in the desired quantities when there is a rush on some particular line. The result is a loss in business to all three.

Suggested Solution.

When the retailer cuts his future orders to the wholesaler the wholesaler reduces his orders to the manufacturer and the manufacturer curtails production. Turnover of stock is more frequent and accomplished more rapidly but actual and potential business is lost.

A suggested solution for the problem is that the retailer place orders a few months ahead for a quarter of the goods he will need. For the remainder he can give the wholesaler an estimate based on probable sales. In this way the wholesaler can place his orders with the manufacturer. If business fails to materialize all three will share the burden of the slump.

How Much Longer Will These Bond Yields Last?

Months of high money rates have depressed bond prices to levels which now make many issues attractive both on a yield basis and for possibility of price appreciaton in the event of a trend toward easier interest rates.

In our recently published lists of bond investment suggestions the average approximate yield for 71 issues offered was 5.71%.

The average yield for bonds of different types in these lists was as follows

18 Foreign Bonds........Average Yield 7.26%
10 Railroad Bonds........Average Yield 5.03%
4 Public Utility Bonds........Average Yield 5.20%
9 Industrial and Real Estate Bonds..Average Yield 6.22%
9 Municipal Bonds........Average Yield 4.50%
21 Short Term Notes........Average Yield 6.08%

U. S. INDUSTRY PACE IS BETTER THAN IN 1928

Steel Surprises Few; Other Factors.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 9.—Activity in the important industrial lines of the country continued virtually undiminished this week at a rate substantially in excess of this period last year. In distributive trade and in some other directions a good deal of spottiness was visible, due mainly to a relapse of the weather into cool and wet conditions over large sections. The retarding effect of the weather was also felt to a marked extent in agriculture, causing more uncertainty than for some time past in related lines. Despite all drawbacks, however, the aggregate volume of trade remains close to the record figures established earlier in the year.

Greater Degree of Caution.

Reports of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE from the federal reserve districts show little recession from previous levels of trade and industry, although note is taken of the greater irregularity in wholesale and retail distribution. A greater degree of caution is apparent among business executives in some districts. Bulding reports vary considerably, with a decrease foreshadowed in most areas in new dwellings This class of building reflects to an increasing extent the high cost of financing charges, but the larger engineering and office building have not been affected to any important degree.

The high rate of operations maintained in the steel industry is proving something of a phenomenon, the usual seasonal decline having failed to appear even though the sixth month of the year is now well advanced. Expectations of a decline were entertained within the industry as long ago as late March and early April, but operations were stepped up rather than reduced in April and May. Shipments in June have continued at an unusually heavy pace with Steel corporation operations at above the rated capacity and independents not far behind. New orders, however, have been less plentiful and this is expected to result in a reduction of unfilled orders.

Output of automobiles showed some recession in May from the very high totals of April but the production continues to run far ahead of last year's output. June, from present indications, is expected to show no very great decline as compared with May, with the likelihood that a notable gain will be registered over June last year. The excellent results in this industry are attributed largely to a continued good demand for small cars, the larger units moving more slowly than in the earlier months.

UNITED STORES TELLS PLAN FOR TOBACCO AND DRUG BUSINESS

New York, June 9.—(AP)—The newly-organized United Stores corporation today announced plans for its acquisition, by an exchange of stock, of the Tobacco Products Corporation, United Cigar Stores Company of America and the Union Tobacco company.

Incorporation of the United Stores corporation in Delaware was cosidered the first step in the formation of a several hundred million dollar tobacco and drug store chain.

For five shares of Class A stock [$20 par value] of Tobacco Products, stockholders will receive one and one-fifth shares of $6 cumulative convertible preferred stock of the new company; three shares of common stock [$20 par value] may be exchanged for one share of Class A stock of the new company and a warrant exchangeable for a half share of its common.

United Cigar 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock may be exchanged on the basis of one share for one and one-twentieth shares of $6 cumulative preferred stock of the new company; common stock [$10 par value] is to be exchanged on the basis of three shares for one share of United Stores Class A and A warrant exchangeable for a half share of the new company's common stock.

Union Tobacco stockholders will receive for each share of Class A stock, one and a fourth shares of United Stores Class A with warrants exchangeable for five-eighths of a share of the new corporation's common; three shares of Union Tobacco common may be traded for one share of Union Stores common.

Tobacco Products corporation now owns approximately 75 per cent of the common stock of United Cigar Stores, and has been only a holding company since November of 1923. United Cigar Stores has a controlling interest in the Whelan Drug company, Inc,, and Neve Drug Stores, Inc., besides a large minority interest in Pennsylvania Drug company, Inc.

With Tobacco Products it owns control of Happiness Candy Stores, Inc., and, with Schulte Retail Stores corporation, controls Schulte-United Five Cent to a Dollar Stores, Inc.

Coming Census May Reveal Women's Status in Industry

BY SCRUTATOR.

The coming census may throw some light on the current trends in the employment of women in the United States. As the matter stands now, there are no dependable statistics of later date than 1920 to show how many women are employed in the country, or the relative proportions of the total in different fields of endeavor.

In 1920 the census demonstrated there had been an increase in the number of gainfully employed women from 1910 that was only equivalent to the increase in population. Of forty-six million persons gainfully employed at the last enumeration, eight and a half million were women.

There was a marked shift in the nature of feminine employment during the same ten year period, however. Factory workers of this gender increased only 100,000 from the 1910 total of 1,820,000, but the number listed as engaged in agriculture rose more than 700,000 and those in clerical occupations from 593,000 to 1,426,000. More than a million women were listed in the professional class, 70 per cent of them school teachers, as against 733,000 in 1910. The waning popularity of housework for pay showed in the decrease from 2,531,000 to 2,186,000 in the number designated as furnishing domestic and personal service.

Believe Invasion Slows Up.

Some rather shrewd observers are willing to guess that the 1930 census will prove that the invasion of business and industry by women has slowed down further, and that strictly home life is making more of an appeal.

To support this view the trend in general industrial employment is cited. It is certain that in proportion to output factories use less human power than they did ten years ago. The increase in mechanical efficiency has not been confined to direct operations on material. Constantly better machines for clerical work have been adopted, and although paper work has increased it is a question whether as many girls are required to keep books and write letters as were needed in the past.

Housewives require less help than they did. Cleaning operations are pretty largely mechanized. The laundries have increased their patronage until the city home that furnishes the locale of a family washing is rare. Keeping a servant on a moderate income is more expensive than it appears, as any one who has tried it can testify. Young women, disliking home service because of the social handicaps, have avoided this type of work and it is likely that the figures on it will show a still greater decrease than in the preceding decade.

Rates Men Higher.

It may be said that employment for women in most lines is no more attractive than it was in 1920. Last December a survey in New York showed that men in factory work averaged $33.97 a week and women only $18.99, of 55.6 per cent. The same proportionate relation existed in factory work in Illinois and in Massachusetts. Even the United States government ranks its men much higher in the scale of pay. A recent tabulation concerning 17,777 women and 15,966 men in various departments showed that of those whose annual pay exceeded $1,860, only 21 per cent were women.

From the employers' standpoint, women generally are not so satisfactory, except in the amount of wages that must be paid them. The most complete studies made in industry tend to show that they quit oftener and have a larger number of days off for illness than men. In the comparatively well paid teaching profession, it was found by Dr. W. C. Bagley of Columbia university that 150,000 had been in service less than two years, and that 16 per cent of the total left the schools each year.

W. B. Clift Named Manager of Greenebaum Companies

W. Brooks Clift has been elected executive vice president of Greenebaum Sons Investment company, Chicago, and Greenebaum Sons Securities corporation, New York, according to an announcement issued by M. E. Greenebaum, president of both organizations. The Greenebaum Sons companies will launch a new investment program with the object of offering clients greater diversification and a wider field for investments. Heretofore the Greenebaum Sons companies dealt exclusively in first mortgage real estate bonds.

Austrian Foreign Trade Is Better; Balance Adverse

[Copyright: 1929: By the New York Times.]

VIENNA, June 6.—The report on Austria's foreign trade in April shows slight improvement in exports, but imports have also risen, especially raw materials. As a result the adverse balance, which was 86 million schillings, was 5 million greater than in March During the first four months millions in the corresponding period of 1,041 millions were less than the 1,048 millions in the coresponding period of 1928, the exports of 657 millions left an adverse balance of three hundred and eighty-four millions, which was 12 per cent above last year.

It is not the amount you leave as much as the way you leave it

MONEY is transient, sometimes dangerous, in the hands of the young and financially inexperienced.

How much a son gets may not be so important as how and when he gets it. He needs money for an education perhaps; but if he gets all his money while in college it might be a greater hindrance than help. And it might be gone later on, when he needs it.

A daughter might well be entitled to some money during her "teens" for, say a musical education, or a trip abroad—and not to her full share till years have brought her discretion.

With you here, these problems will be met. You will naturally provide for your children according to their needs.

But, supposing you are not here? Then some other means must be provided. There are many effective ways in which you can project your judgment into the future through the provisions of your will.

May we tell you about them? You and your attorney are welcome to the benefit of our 40 years' experience.

To Holders of certificates of deposit of Wickwire Spencer Steel Corporation First Mortgage 7% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds and Wickwire Spencer Steel Company Prior Lien Collateral and Refunding Mortgage 7% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, Series A, issued under the Deposit Agreement, dated November 11, 1927, between the undersigned Committee and holders of said Bonds becoming parties thereto:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a Plan and Agreement, dated May 27, 1929, for the reorganization of WICKWIRE SPENCER STEEL COMPANY has been approved by the undersigned Committee, and that a copy of said Plan and Agreement has been filed with The Chase National Bank of the City of New York, 18 Pine Street, New York City, as one of the depositaries under said Deposit Agreement dated November 11, 1927. Copies may be obtained from any of the depositaries.

Any holder of a certificate of deposit under said Agreement, dated November 11, 1927, may, on or before June 26, 1929, file with the depositary, under the said Deposit Agreement dated November 11, 1927, which issued his certificate of deposit, written notice of his dissent from said Plan and Agreement. Any holder of a certificate of deposit under said Deposit Agreement, dated November 11, 1927, who shall not file such dissent in writing on or before June 26, 1929, will be conclusively deemed to have assented to said Plan and Agreement. If, on or before June 26, 1929, in the judgment of the undersigned Committee, a sufficient number of holders of certificates of deposit have assented to said Plan and Agreement, the undersigned Committee will thereupon adopt said Plan and Agreement, and will file with The Chase National Bank of the City of New York as one of the depositaries under said Deposit Agreement, dated November 11, 1927, written notice of such adoption, and will publish notice of such adoption in the manner provided in said Deposit Agreement, dated November 11, 1927. Such notice shall state that any holder of a certificate of deposit who shall have previously dissented from said Plan and Agreement and shall not have withdrawn such dissent will be entitled, within the period to be stated in said notice, to withdraw from the Plan upon the surrender of his certificate of deposit and upon payment of an amount to be fixed by the undersigned committee as the amount payable upon such withdrawal under the provisions of the Deposit Agreement, dated November 11, 1927.

Any holder of a certificate of deposit issued under said Deposit Agreement, dated November 11, 1927, who has so dissented but who has not withdrawn from said Deposit Agreement within the period stated in said notice to be published by the undersigned Committee, will be conclusively deemed to have assented to said Plan and Agreement.

To the Holders of certificates of deposit of Wickwire Spencer Steel Company Five Year Seven Per Centum Class A Notes, issued under the Deposit Agreement, dated December 13, 1927, between the undersigned Committee and holders of said Notes becoming parties thereto:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a Plan and Agreement, dated May 27, 1929, for the reorganization of WICKWIRE SPENCER STEEL COMPANY has been approved by the undersigned Committee, and that a copy of said Plan and Agreement has been filed with The Bank of America, N. A., 44 Wall Street, New York City, as one of the depositaries under said Deposit Agreement, dated December 13, 1927. Copies may be obtained from either of the depositaries.

Any holder of a certificate of deposit under said Agreement, dated December 13, 1927, may, on or before June 26, 1929, file with the depositary under the said Deposit Agreement, dated December 13, 1927, which issued his certificate of deposit, written notice of his dissent from said Plan and Agreement. Any holder of a certificate of deposit under said Deposit Agreement, dated December 13, 1927, who shall not file such dissent in writing on or before June 26, 1929, will be conclusively deemed to have assented to said Plan and Agreement. If, on or before June 26, 1929, in the judgment of the undersigned Committee, a sufficient number of holders of certificates of deposit have assented to said Plan and Agreement, the undersigned Committee will thereupon adopt said Plan and Agreement, and will file with The Bank of America, N. A., as one of the depositaries under said Deposit Agreement, dated December 13, 1927, written notice of such adoption, and will publish notice of such adoption in the manner provided in said Deposit Agreement, dated December 13, 1927. Such notice shall state that any holder of a certificate of deposit who shall have previously dissented from said Plan and Agreement and shall not have withdrawn such dissent will be entitled, within the period to be stated in said notice, to withdraw from said Plan and Agreement upon the surrender of his certificate of deposit and upon payment of an amount to be fixed by the undersigned Committee as the amount payable upon such withdrawal under the provisions of the Deposit Agreement, dated December 13, 1927.

Any holder of a certificate of deposit issued under said Deposit Agreement, dated December 13, 1927, who has so dissented but who has not withdrawn from said Deposit Agreement within the period stated in said notice to be published by the undersigned Committee, will be conclusively deemed to have assented to said Plan and Agreement.

A great regional bank centering at Los Angeles

CONSOLIDATION of Los Angeles-First National Trust & Savings Bank and Security Trust & Savings Bank has united two of the oldest and largest banks of Southern California.

SECURITY-FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF LOS ANGELES

Resources Above $600,000,000
Capital, Surplus and Undivided Profits $50,000,000

Branches covering the area from Fresno and San Luis Obispo southward to Imperial Valley. Twenty-four hour transit service with great saving of time in collections and remittances. Security-First National Bank offers unequalled facilities, both for customers of other banks coming to Southern California; and to institutions, individuals and firms needing a Southern California connection.

Thousands are following this plan to

on their present living budget

by investing in safe 6½% First Mortgage Bonds

Men with and without families—women in business—thousands in every walk of life are winning financial independence through the simple plan given in the new edition of this famous book.

The plan works just as surely whether you are now earning $1,000 or $100,000 a year.

The way is certain—each step plainly indicated and absolutely safe—independent of luck, business genius or speculation.

Every fact has been harvested out of 48 years' experience of Cochran & McCluer in the first mortgage investment banking business.

The plan is so simple, anyone can understand it—so definite, anyone can follow it—and so certain, no one can fail.

In addition to the Financial Independence Plan and the unique budget schedule, the book gives sound, clear answers to many important questions on money and investment matters.

THE UNKISSED BRIDE

By BERTA RUCK

SYNOPSIS.

Joy Harrison, living in London and working for Dr. Rex Travers in Harley street, is crushed by a letter from her fiancé, Geoffrey Ford, a well known novelist, asking to be released from the engagement. Preoccupied with her own trouble she fails to notice that Dr. Travers seems troubled, too. Towards the end of the day he tells Joy that he has just lost a great sum of money through an unscrupulous solicitor and he will be forced to give up his house in Harley street.

Dr. Locke, a tenant, tells Rex that he has just been offered a practice with a comfortable villa in the south of France which he cannot take on, and he suggests that he recommend Rex for it. The only hitch to the plan is that they want a married doctor and Rex is a bachelor. To his partner's suggestion that he marry and take up the new post, Rex turns a deaf ear.

Joy, who has been listening to the doctor's colloquy, suddenly sees a method of escape for her and she asks Dr. Travers if he will marry her on a business arrangement. The doctor is stunned by her suggestion and finally asks her why she made it. She tells him that she is badly in need of another job, although her real reason is to have Geoffrey read of her engagement to another man.

The doctor broods over the change his altered circumstances will have on his young nephew and ward, Percival Arthur Fitzroy. Finally he decides to take Joy at her word and they enter into an agreement to marry on a strictly business basis. Immediately after the ceremony Rex, Joy, and Percival Arthur go to the south of France. Joy enjoys keeping house and Percival Arthur has the time of his life. Joy and Rex become interested in each other.

INSTALLMENT XXXVII.

THE FORDS ARRIVE.

A slight smile touched Rex's handsome mouth.

He mused, forgetful of the night's anxiety.

He who for many working years had regarded women as so much delicate natural machinery found himself going back to a yet more primitive view. Women were, after all, clay, which is a soft, formless substance until moulded to beauty and use by the hands of men, who are, after all, the world's sculptors, builders, masters. Clay left lying in its dormant state—what was the good of that? Some form it had to take! Wasn't it now time for this pretty Joy—this nominal wife of his—to be taken and moulded into something real? Travers thought he knew fairly accurately what satisfactory and classic model she must follow.

Dash it! . . . we can't have any more of this nonsense.

She doesn't hate me. I'll make her like staying with me all night.

He stopped pacing up and down and stared from the open window at the paling sky, the first streaks of dawn.

Soon . . . Why not? Why not?

He saw no reason.

Geoffrey Ford, with his mother, had arrived in the south of France.

. . . .

On the day following the Travers' midnight vigil at Mon Plaisir, the Fords were sitting outside the café close to the rooms at Monte Carlo. Appearing from under the corolla of canvas over a small table, all you saw of Geoffrey was a slim, nervous hand holding a long glass of gin-laced lemon drink, and of his mother just the brim of a fragile hat.

"How terribly funny to see you here, Jim!"

There they were—absurdly young looking mother, staring as if in search of a special face among the passing crowds; son, slight and damson dark in his white silk suit, looking with some concern upon his parent. Little Mrs. Ford showed that something had happened to her.

Retribution would be the name given by some people to the something that had befallen little Mrs. Ford.

"In those stifling rooms?"

"Mums, you don't want to go in and gamble, do you?"

"Care to take a turn on the terrace and look at the yachts in the bay?"

"And the pigeons being shot? It makes me sick!"

"Stay here?"

"The band's too noisy, and—O! How d'you do? When did you come over? . . . Marvelous to see you . . . . where are you staying? . . ." and the rest of the record to passing acquaintances. One decorative youth whom Pansy apparently had not seen hung back from his party to ask if Mrs. Ford had forgotten him. Pansy gave him a brilliant smile, whilst refusing him her eyes or any other answer. The very young man murmured that he had got the Spindrift at Cannes; Pansy asked if it were a car, was told with a reproachful look that she was the yacht, exclaimed absently, "A yacht?" but softened this with a glance which might or might not have been meant for the Spindrift's owner, who was left to fade out while his enslaver turned back to her son.

"Mums, didn't you recognize your boy friend? Thought you'd promised to go and have tea on his blessed yacht if he brought her over? Might have been something to do now."

Pansy sighed impatiently that she didn't want to do anything or go anywhere. Unless she could find some shady cave and go to sleep in it until her hair was streaky white and she had stopped caring what color it was!

And what had happened to bring Pansy Ford to this frame of mind and this part of the world before the London season was over?

Cherchez l'homme.

The man in the case was one of those early loves who have a way of turning up again late—late in a woman's life. Long after she imagined him forgotten with all his ways, that early love comes back. He comes sometimes in dreams, in echoes. ("Good-by, child, how you're going to regret me!") Sometimes he comes in the guise of another man of the same type, and this man wonders to hear her utter a sudden laugh at something he said that was not meant to be funny; wonders to see in her eyes a sudden welling up over something that was nothing to cry about? Wonders, to feel her give sudden vivid response to some light, half-absent caress of his. Memories—echoes—reminders . . .

But it was not like this that this lover of her girlhood returned to Pansy Ford. He came in the flesh—a minimum of the flesh, since he was one of those lean, wiry, aquiline soldiers, hard as nails, without a superfluous half ounce on him, who would seem to be irresistible to these little ultra-feminine, pampered, men's women. When (three weeks ago, now) he loped up out of the shadow of the Hurlingham elms to greet Pansy Ford, who was then with a party to watch the polo, she turned pale and rosy under her subtle makeup, and cried, "No! You?" so much in the manner of the girl fresh from school she had been on their first meeting, that she had had hastily to reassemble all the social sense and manner learnt in these thirty hard years before she could add, "How amazingly absurd this is. I thought you were killed in the South African war! How terribly funny to see you here, Jim! Imagine your remembering me again!"

"You thought I could forget—yesterday afternoon at the garden party?" (They had met there in eighteen hundred and ninety-odd.)

"Ridiculous! Why, this is my son. Geoff, my angel, here's somebody I used to be crazily in love with." (Nothing so dependable as the truth, whoever recognizes it.) "In love with before ever you were born! What is your rank, Jim? General? Colonel? Col. Hay-Molyneux."

"How do you do, sir?"

"How d'you do?" Handshakes, five minutes of chat about the ponies, the gorgeous weather for England, the length of his leave, before he loped off again to join other friends.

"Two blue-gray twinkles divided by a beak, a skeleton dressed up by an extraordinarily adequate tailor, plus a Piffer tie"—that was Geoffrey's comment in his notebook on Col. Hay-Molyneux of the Indian army who had brought a look Geoffrey had never before noticed to his mother's assured little face. Was this going to lead to something? After several more meetings in town with this old admirer of Pansy's he hoped so. "Personally I like ce type-lá," noted Geoffrey; "so utterly without anything in common with the little woman they'd be bound to make each other happy, I think. But does Hay-Molyneux share the Ford view? Difficult to say."

For he was twinkling, attentive, and noncommittal, one of these invincibles who put the barrage of chaff between the world and what they mean. His technique was that of telling the woman, "But m'dear! My heart lies in shivers at your feet"—accompanied by a look—of which a woman could make nothing. Was it pure ragging? Or was it the drama of being passionately in love, so as to conceal the fact that behind all the acting lurks a residue of reality? When he said, "Yes, but look here, my jolly old leave's up. I've got to sail on the fifteenth, and what have I seen of you, Pansy, after all these years that the locusts have eaten?—a minute at Hurlingham. One dance, one afternoon visit to your cottage, one hour in a punt and Lady Scragg's dinner party. Not good enough, m'dear. Not to be borne! Don't you agree? We've got to have days somewhere—days!" Pansy Ford, who was accustomed to manage a man with one hand while driving with the other, so to speak, was taken at a disadvantage. She could only falter, "O yes—not a bad idea. But—er—when?" then grind her teeth over the gaffe.

Frankie Darro Rates as Star of This Talkie

Which Critic Compares to—But Read This!

"THE RAINBOW MAN."

Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Fred Newmeyer.
Presented at the Roosevelt theater.

THE CAST:

Rainbow Ryan	Eddie Dowling
Mary Lane	Marion Nixon
Billy Ryan	Frankie Darro
Doc Hardy	Sam Hardy
Col. Lane	Lloyd Ingraham
Bill	George Hayes

And the Rounders' Quartet.

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

"Curst be the verse, how well so e'er it flow
That tends to make one worthy man my foe!"

Eddie Dowling, I feel sure, is a worthy man. The Paramount organization buzzes with worthy men, and, surely, worth sits on the brows of the Balabans and Katzes in whose Roosevelt theater "The Rainbow Man" is showing. Sad indeed my lot if all of these shall hate me for saying, as I must, that the aforementioned picture is just a large platter of mush, rendered fairly palatable only by the pleasing sauce of its acting. The best of this is done by one small boy, Frankie Darro, who, considering his age, gives a performance that is fairly startling in its brilliancy and feeling.

As to story, "The Rainbow Man" is trite, obvious, sticky. The hero was named Rainbow because there was a rainbow in the sky at the time he was born. It was only an April Fool bow of promise, however, for, though Rainbow goes along smiling, singing, and making folks love him as the star of Doc Hardy's Minstrels, life returns him only disdainful stares and surreptitious kicks on the shins.

And then an acrobat friend of his is killed and, with his last breath, bequeathes his little boy Billie to Rainbow!

Hunger and sorrow and misunderstanding and drenching rainstorms attend the two. Rainbow meets the One Girl, only to lose her. (For a while.) She turns out to be none other than —well, you wait and see who she turns out to be.

The picture ends in one awful burst of hokum that makes you want to crawl under the seat and put your paws over your eyes. For the moment all your enthusiasm over the present and your hopes for the future of the movies are crushed. It seems that they have come but a little way, after all.

Eddie Dowling and the able cast supporting him are worthy of far better vehicles than this film.

Besides good acting, this all-talker has to its credit a couple of catchy tunes. "Sleepy Valley," the theme song, is rendered often and emotionally by Mr. Dowling, a likable young man who is at the theater this week in the flesh as well as in the shadow. The picture is clean, has considerable back stage "atmosphere," and there are many, probably, who will consider it entertainment. I do not.

See you tomorrow.

Cardinal Dedicates New Resurrection High School

Cardinal Mundelein dedicated the new Resurrection High school, 7432 Talcott avenue, Norwood Park yesterday afternoon. The school was built by the Sisters of the Resurrection. His eminence was assisted in the dedication by the Rev. Father Rush, St. Hedwig's orphanage, and the Rev. Father Dominic, rector of the Passionist Fathers, Norwood Park. At a school program just prior to the dedication, Cardinal Mundelein delivered an address and at the service the sermon was given by the Rev. T. Ligman, rector of St. Stanislaus college.

Lionel Barrymore Objects to Equity Stand on Talkies

Hollywood, Cal., June 9.—[Special.]—Lionel Barrymore, whose sister Ethel, is a vice president of Actor Equity and, who himself, has been an Equity member for ten years, came out today with a criticism of Equity's attempt to unionize motion picture acting ranks. Barrymore says there are no pronounced grievances facing Hollywood actors such as used to prevail on New York stages and he terms Equity's present Hollywood warfare with the film producers as "An attempt to perform a major operation on a perfectly healthy body."

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your questions to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Clara Griffin, 947 North Kedvale avenue, was awarded $5.

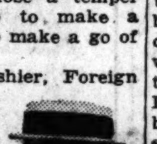
The Question.

What advice would you give to newlyweds?

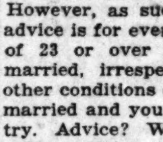
The Answers.

J. A. Carruthers, 410 North Michigan boulevard, assistant purchasing agent—Take an inventory of mental capacities of each, particularly as to likes and dislikes, so that each may get the most out of life. Married life offers great opportunities.

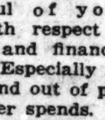
Mrs. Stacie Rousky, Villa Park, Ill., housewife—I ought to know plenty, having been married for sixteen years. Married life can be made happy, if it sometimes is not, but it takes only one to lose a temper but two to make a quarrel. It takes two to make a go of life.



C. C. Thompson, cashier, Foreign News bureau, 400 North Michigan avenue—Not yet having been married a full year I am something of a newlywed myself. However, as such, my advice is for every man of 23 or over to get married, irrespective of financial or other conditions or circumstances. Get married and you will get along, if you try. Advice? Well try to get along.



Mrs. Clement Carroll, 3821 North Hermitage avenue, housewife—Be really honest, frank, and sincere, and you are bound to get along. Be thoughtful of your mate with respect to finances and financial matters. Especially see that the one doesn't spend out of proportion to what the other spends. Be a real pal, remembering that after marriage your partner becomes your preferred pal.



Harold Ricklefs, 3350 Cullom avenue, advertising writer—Work, play, and save together. Consult each other about mutual problems; mutual discussion will solve every question. It's the fifty-fifty partnership that spells happiness. But even with the happiest couples vexatious spats occur. Kiss and make up readily.

20,000 Join in Lutheran Celebration

Plan Another One for Soldiers' Field.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

More than 20,000 people attended yesterday a service in commemoration of the 400th anniversary of Martin Luther's catechism. The celebration was at the Lincoln Fields race track at Crete, under the auspices of the Lutheran churches of the Missouri synod of northern Will county. Massed choirs of adults and children, together with the Concordia college band of River Forest, were the features of the occasion.

On Sunday, June 23, Soldiers' Field will be the scene of a larger celebration of the same anniversary. Then more than 100,000 people are expected to attend. The commemoration will be in connection with the international convention of the Missouri synod which meets at River Forest, June 13 to 29. According to the Rev. Herbert Kohn, more than 1,000 delegates will be in attendance and will represent every section of the world.

Ten thousand children are now drilling for the musical events of the Soldiers' Field celebration. The children's choir will be augmented by a mixed choir of 4,000 adults. A mammoth children's flag drill will also feature the event.

The principal speaker of the anniversary celebration will be Prof. W. A. Maier, head of the department of philosophy, Concordia theological seminary, St. Louis. A two day Lutheran world's fair will be held during the international convention at the Sherman hotel. Dr. Frederick Totenhauer, Chicago, president of the Missouri synod, is directing the plans for the combined events.

Luther's catechism was developed in the late spring of 1529, as a method of teaching the tenets of the reformation doctrine. The Augsburg confession, the fundamental statement of the body of Lutheran doctrine, was developed in the fall of the year following the creation of the catechism.

Praises Young People.

Neenah, Wis., June 9.—The apparently wayward tendencies in modern youth are superficial, Rev. E. C. Kollath, pastor of Immanuel Lutheran church, told the 83 graduates of Neenah High school and an audience of about 1,000 people at the annual baccalaureate service tonight.

Italy Denying Hunt for Caligula Galleys Is Waste of Money

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, June 9.—In order to silence murmurs against what is called the "Lake Nemi bubble," Giuseppe Belluzzo, minister of education, and Lando Ferratti, chief of the press section of the foreign office, tomorrow morning are taking the foreign press of Rome to the famous lake to prove that the money and work spent to lower the lake level and to recover Emperor Caligula's pleasure galleys sunk 20 centuries were worth while.

When the water was lowered 22 feet after 18 months' work and considerable expense, the exact amount of which is not reported, it was found that the galleys were sadly disintegrated and stripped of most of the art objects which the workers expected to find.

Some foreign archæologists said that the discovery of the boats has added little to existing knowledge and nothing to Rome's museums. Criticism was also heard that the effort had entailed a great expense for nothing.

Signor Belluzzo, however, thinks differently. He insists that the money is well spent and that the funds were contributed by private engineering companies, not by the government. Signor Belluzzo says that the present Caligula's galleys, in which he once hid himself to escape assassination, bear more resemblance to their original state than the existing remains of the Roman forum bear to the forum's original state. He further asserts that the galleys have revealed valuable information as to how the Romans built their wooden ships.

To explain all this, he is taking foreign newspapermen to Lake Nemi. Some weeks ago, when criticism arose and the existence of the finds was questioned, government authorities prohibited visits to the borders of the lake.

Passavant Hospital Opens for Patients; 20 Already Booked

Passavant Memorial hospital, recently completed at a cost of $2,000,000, will throw open its doors to patients this morning under auspicious circumstances. Twenty persons are already booker, although none were to be received for treatment until this morning. A staff of forty nurses is in attendance, to be increased to 100 as they are required. The cheerfully colorful rooms lining the corridors on each floor are in immaculate order, each awaiting its "guests," and the staff of the hospital, comprising the staff of the Northwestern university medical school, is awaiting its first calls. Mrs. Joseph Coleman is chairman of the woman's board of the hospital, which is located on McKinlock campus of Northwestern and has a capacity of 325 patients.

Thousands Will Get Diplomas at U. of Chicago and Northwestern

President elect and Mrs. Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago were guests of honor yesday at a tea given by Harold H. Swift, chairman of the board of trustees, for the Chicago Alumnae club at his home, 4848 Ellis avenue. President Hutchins, who will assume his new duties on July 1, will be the orator at the 155th convocation of the university to be held tomorrow in two sections at the university chapel.

Acting President Frederic Woodward will preside at both sections of the convocation, one part of which will be held at 11 o'clock in the morning and the other at 3 in the afternoon, because of the large number of graduates. The colleges of art, literature and science will present 423 students for bachelors' degrees; the school of commerce and administration, 47; the school of social service administration, 7, and the college of education, 31, a total of 508. Other degrees to be awarded will bring the total to about 880.

Northwestern university will have the greatest number of graduates in its history, since the doors of what is now the old college were opened in 1855.

At the commencement exercises to be held next Monday in Patten gymnasium on the Evanston campus, 1,400 students will receive degrees. The college of liberal arts, with 326 candidates, leads all departments of the institution. Dr. Frederic C. Woodward, acting president of the University of Chicago, will deliver the commencement address.

Activities in celebration of commencement week will begin tonight with the annual concert in Music hall, of compositions by students in the school of music, and a reception by the deans of the school of commerce and school of speech.

Students on the Evanston campus will participate in class day exercises in Patten gymnasium on Thursday. Friday night will be illumination night with a display of fireworks along the lake front on the campus.

St. Mary's High school will hold its twenty-seventh annual commencement in St. Mary's auditorium, 1020 South Seeley avenue, Thursday evening. A class of 156 will receive diplomas from the Rt. Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, who will be the speaker of the evening.

Alumnae of De Paul university entertained the women graduates of that institution yesterday with a breakfast at the Illinois Women's Athletic club, following the baccalaureate services at St. Vincent's church.

Dr. George Craig Stewart of St. Luke's Episcopal church, Evanston, will be the speaker at commencement exercises of the National Kindergarten and Elementary college, to be held in Harrison hall, Evanston, Wednesday afternoon. Forty-five students will receive the degree of bachelor of education from President Edna Dean Baker.

Guides to Success.

Urbana, Ill., June 9.—[Special.]—Over 1,800 members of this year's graduating class at the University of Illinois attended baccalaureate exercises this afternoon and heard Dr. David Kinley, president of the institution, deliver the address.

It was Dr. Kinley's farewell to the class. For several years he has conducted the commencement exercises, but the arduousness of the task of signing and handing out individually the nearly two thousand diplomas required this year, caused him to abandon the custom. To meet the requests of the graduates, however, he consented to give the baccalaureate address.

Commencement exercises will be held next Wednesday morning with Henry M. Beardsley, Kansas City lawyer, delivering the address.

"You are successful if you become rich in your calling; you are successful if, without becoming rich, you do service to your fellow men," Dr. Kinley said in his address today.

"Every one of us," he continued, "whether purposely or not, is working in his life activity for two ends, one the attainment of his success as an individual person, the other to make his contribution to the society of which he is a member. The point is that he cannot attain the first end without, in some degree at least, attaining also the second. Everything depends upon the spirit and the ultimate purpose of the individual.

"There are some men who can best promote the public welfare by amassing wealth which they use directly or indirectly for the promotion of the public good. There are others who can best promote the public interest by direct service, official or unofficial. In a measure all men do both at the same time.

"There has been too much emphasis put on the possible incompatibility of the two kinds of success. The two are not incompatible. One may involve the other. The emphasis should be put on the spirit underlying one's ambition.

"Therefore, I would not discourage you if you have an ambition to make money. Rather would I encourage you to do this if your bent is in that direction. However, I would warn you that the measure of your success when you come to the point where you must lay down your work and pass judgment upon yourself, looking before and behind, will be determined not by the wealth you have amassed, but by the manner of its expenditure."

ATTACKS SNOBBERY AS FALSE IDEAL IN U. S. EDUCATION

Snobbery in education was attacked yesterday by the Very Rev. Francis X. McCabe, C. M., former president of DePaul university, in his baccalaureate address to graduates of that institution, at St. Vincent's church, Sheffield and Webster avenues. The church was thronged for the solemn pontificial high mass, celebrated by the Most Rev. Jose Maria Gonzales y Valencia, archbishop of Durango, Mex., exiled by the edict of former President Calles and now a guest of DePaul university.

"Real men and real women with red blood in their veins are needed today," Father McCabe asserted, "to lead us out of the narrow minded fanatacism which some of our educators urge as an ideal. A diploma from De Paul is not a passport to ease and luxury; it does not elevate you to a position of snobbery that looks down upon less fortunate men; it is rather a certificate that you are real men and real women who know the principles of right and justice, how to live up to them, and how to apply them to practical affairs.

"A diploma is not a club to hold over men. It is your passport to their service with broadness of mind and bigness of heart. We are in an age of hyprocisy and superficiality. The Pharisees of today would overthrow the constitution of the country by snobbery and narrowmindedness. They would legislate us into morality confirming their code. Men and women of character bring us back to Christ, back to the principles upon which our nation was founded; back to religious liberty, and personal liberty for the humblest citizen, if back of that liberty there be manhood, clean living, and righteousness."

Competing Beauties Get Real Tan in Galveston Contest

Galveston, Tex., June 9.—(AP)—There was a bathing suit review at the beach here today while a merciless sun beat on forty-four belles from this country and abroad during a parade over a two mile route. The temperature was 94. Several of the bathing beauties had blistered backs, arms, and legs. The principal sufferers were those who failed to carry parasols.

"Miss United States" will be chosen by the seven judges tomorrow and on Tuesday "Miss Universe" will be named.

Miss Austria, Lisl Goldarbeiter, commented today on the difference between the Galveston pageant and the contests of her own country, where she was not obliged to make personal appearances. Her photograph was adjudged the best among more than a thousand submitted. In the "Miss Europe" contest, in which she was awarded second place, she was called upon to appear only before the judges. The pretty fraulein has been experiencing quite a "case of nerves," she admitted, in the present contest.

Stepmother Should Watch Her Step, Says This Authority

Mrs Gladys Huntington Bevans

A woman who is soon to become a stepmother wrote me a letter some time ago. When I read it I thought, "O dear, why does she feel like that about the child! I'm afraid she's headed for stepmotherhood instead of motherhood."

And I felt sorry for her and for the man who was to be her husband, and for his little son in whose life she was soon to take the place of the mother who had died.

Shall I tell you why I felt sorry for them all? It was because she was starting out so entirely wrong in her mental attitude. She was thinking, "This child has been thoroughly spoiled by doting relatives who loved his mother and who adore him. What he needs now is good discipline, spanking if necessary—though they say he must not be spanked. I'm going to take him in hand."

This was her attitude instead of, "Here's this little fellow who needs a mother so badly—who needs all the love I can give him and all the wisdom I can muster. I am really ignorant. I know so little. I hope I can make him love me—not only because it will make him want to be with me but because it will also make it possible for me to guide him and train him for his own ultimate benefit."

That is the approach a stepmother needs to the children she is going to raise. And that is the way those stepmothers feel who have been successful and happy with their children.

It is a delicate undertaking—being a stepmother. It has three angles to be considered—the relatives' angle, the husband's angle, and the children's angle. For all of their sakes and for her own happiness, it is a good plan for the woman who is about to become a stepmother to sit down and commune with herself beforehand, looking in the face the difficulties the step involves and also the great opportunity it presents.

We had invited a large number of relations to a reunion, but a great many of the men could not come until after closing hours. It happened when Robert and his father walked in all in the house were women or small girls.

"Ouh," said Robert, tugging at his father's hand, "let's get out of here. I fink we have made a mistake and its for women only." L. D. L.

A little girl moved from the north side of the city to the far south side and came back to see the family physician shortly after moving. The doctor greeted her and said, "Well, Dee, how is everything on the south side?" Dee replied: "Kind of slow, but one day we did have five fires."

Young Society Women Plan Merry Reunion

BY THALIA ——.

A group of Chicago young women who have been friends for many years are having a pleasant reunion this month at the Huron Mountain club which is a favorite northern resort with certain of our townsfolk.

The friends include Mrs. Max von Schlegell, the former Florence Harris whose marriage took her off to Baltimore to live, Miss Sarah Hinde, Miss Annette Washburne, and Miss Marion Clow. Mrs. Von Schlegell arrived on Friday and stayed overnight with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm L. Harris, and they left Saturday night to repeat the kind of a vacation that they have enjoyed together several times before.

They have common interests, all of them having worked with the Junior League theatricals, and plan to spend their time in tramping and out in the open diversions.

Mrs. von Schlegell is to return a short time in advance of the others, about June 23, to be in Chicago for a few days before going with her mother to Fishers Island, N. Y., where the Harrises customarily spend their summers. Dr. Harris, who is going to Portland for the American Medical society meeting, will join them later, as will Mr. von Schlegell.

Well, it seems as though even cows can get into the society column! Notices have been sent to members of the Illinois Guernsey Breeders' association for a "Guernsey Field Day" at Mrs. Chauncey McCormick's "St. James' Farm" nea Naperville. Mrs. Chauncey McCormick and Mrs. R. R. McCormick are issuing the invitations with an explanatory map for reaching the farm. There are to be judging contests, a cattle show and nationally known breeders on the program, as well as a big feature for Calf club boys and girls.

Mrs. Frank P. Hixon of Lake Forest is going to entertain members of the Illinois League of Women Voters tomorrow. Members of the state board of directors, who are holding a meeting today, will remain for this all day conference on the program for the coming year, and presidents and chairmen of local leagues throughout the state will also be present. Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter, Mrs. Ralph Winston, and Mrs. W. Scott Linn are to represent the Lake Shore league.

Mrs. Charles Denniston Burney, the former Gladys High of Chicago, has now become Lady Burney, as her husband succeeded to the title last Wednesday upon the death of his father, who was Admiral Sir Cecil Burney of the British navy.

Sir Charles and Lady Burney are now residing in London, and the George W. Highs are to stay on there with them for the summer. R-100, the airship in which Sir Charles is so much interested, is said to be almost ready for a trans-Atlantic flight.

Miss Maud Sippy, daughter of Mrs. Vertram Sippy of 5615 Woodlawn avenue, is to be married at her mother's residence to Dr. Thomas Clement Hill on Saturday evening, June 15. The Rev. Edward Scribner Ames of the University Church of the Disciples is to read the service at 8 o'clock.

Miss Christina Atterbury of New York City, Miss Rosalie Clapp, Miss Jean Elizabeth Culver, and Mrs. Lewellyn Wescott are to be the bridesmaids. Dr. William Pryor of Louisville, Ky., is to be best man for Dr. Hill, and the ushers will be Samuel Hill of St. Louis, Mo.; Dr. George Hornback of Hannibal, Mo., and Bertram Sippy Jr. The bride's youngest brother, Thomas Sippy, and Robert Hirschl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Hirschl, are to be ribbon bearers.

Mrs. William C. Hubbard, who has been at the Ambassador this last winter, has moved out to Lake Forest for the summer months.

Mrs. John Brandon Guthrie of Winnetka has left for Englewood, N. J., to visit Mr. Guthrie's sister, Mrs. John Hall McIlvaine, and attend the graduation of her daughter, Priscilla, from the Dwight school. Mrs. Guthrie and her daughter will visit in Pittsburgh before returning.

ENGAGEMENT

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Conrad G. Moller of New Canaan, Conn., of the engagement of their daughter, Adele, to Carl H. Diehl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Diehl of 727 Kenesaw terrace. The date for the wedding has not yet been announced. Mr. Diehl is a graduate of Dartmouth college, where he was an important football star. He was chosen all-American tackle in 1925, the year in which he was graduated. He is now in business in New York City.

Talkies Staggering British Movie Men; Loss Totals Millions

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 9.—According to the word of its own producers and critics, the British film industry is dead and its prostrate form lies at the feet of Hollywood and its latest child—the talkie.

The film quota act, which insisted that five per cent of the movies shown in Great Britain should be British made, has become ludicrous. Local producers cannot even furnish five per cent. And the president of the film artists' guild this week estimated that only five per cent of the movie artists working last summer could find a livelihood today.

The production of British films is at a standstill. Established artists and leading players have been out of work for six months, and only one company out of fourteen which a year ago thought they were on the verge of prosperity is doing anything at all.

This month, which was to have seen forty pictures being produced, sees only four. Against the thirty-three British films made the first half of last year there was just eleven to show this year. Over half of these have been made by one single company, British International Films, at Elstree.

Analysis of the market value of shares of the fourteen most important British film companies shows that they are worth just 40 per cent of their former value. And British shareholders lost thereby just a cool $8,000,000.

Japan Goes to Talkies.

TOKIO, June 9.—The talkies have come to Japan. Awed crowds sit through three or four hour performances, listening intently to the talk that issues so mysteriously from the once silent screen. The crowds do not understand a word of the talk, for it is all in English, but love the talkies just the same.

Ever since the American motion picture was received with approval by the Japanese public, there has been much discussion as to just why the Japanese public should enjoy the American movie at all.

Last year the Japanese made more motion pictures than were made in the United States. And the vast majority of Japanese made pictures are fashioned on the American plan—merely substituting native actors for the Hollywood stars.

"It doesn't matter as to the language," said a theater manager, a Japanese who spent many years in New York. "What they want is the best thing that America is having just now."

Just Watch the Children!
Heinz Rice Flakes — Ready to Serve
Who in the whole household knows best what's good to eat? The kiddies, of course. Then watch them at their breakfasts of Heinz Rice Flakes.
Spoonful after spoonful of crispy, golden-brown flakes of crunchy goodness hurrying from breakfast-bowl to eager little mouths. Joyous satisfaction with that delightful flavor like butter-browned nut-meats.
And joyous reward. Better health! For there's more to Heinz Rice Flakes than their fine flavor. There's a special health quality which comes from a new, patented Heinz process which transforms the natural roughage of the rice into a pure, edible cellulose. That's why these flakes have the properties of a gentle, natural laxative.
Yes, watch the children—and you'll learn a lot about good breakfasts and happy days!

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 9.—President and Mrs. Hoover returned tonight to the White House from a short fishing trip on the Rapidan river in Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Sullivan of Chicago are spending a week at the Mayflower, having come from the graduation of their son, Francis J. Sullivan Jr., from the law school of Georgetown university. They have with them Mrs. W. F. McCarthy of Delaware Water Gap and Miss Claire Sullivan of Los Angeles, Cal.

Mrs. O. W. Carstens of Chicago, who has spent the last few months with her sister, Mrs. A. R. Miller in Arlington, N. J., is at the Colonial for a short stay.

Miss Jessie Bartlett Davis, daughter of Will Davis of Chicago, and granddaughter of the famous contralto whose name she bears, was here this week for a reunion of the Georgetown convent of the Visitation, of which she is a graduate.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Cooking Pan Fish.

It always seems easy enough to cook the small fish in the frying pan. The men in the woods and campers usually do it beautifully. Nevertheless, the little herring and perch that are so abundant in all fresh waters are not as much used in the homes of most sections as might be agreeable and profitable.

One test of a finely cooked little pan fish is that it is in such a condition that you can take the end of the backbone between the thumb and finger at the tail end, and lift it clean and smooth from the sides or fillets. The meat will be moist, but not soggy. It will be crisp, but not dry or wooden, on the surface. With poor cooking it may be as soggy as a poor pancake; with perfect cooking the quality of flesh is almost like the finest milk.

But, before the cooking, there must be first the cleaning of the fish, an easy task if we but know how, and always a nice one. The good fisherman never throws the dead fish into water, but on the grass or some place like that. The good cook never cleans a small fish and throws it into the water to soak.

Perhaps the successful cleaning of these little fish must be learned by example, seeing someone cut off first the ventral fins and then vent the fish with a straight slit. It is just as easy to cut a straight slit as a ragged one. Some people scrape off the scales first, then cut off the fins and vent and cut off the head and the tail, and they do not mind the little dark lining that you can see on each side of the backbone on the inside. Other people, however, do not like to see this, and they hold the fish under water for as little time as possible and scrape it out with a pointed knife. If a slice about half an inch wide is made the whole length of the back, the dorsal fins will be cut off with it, and this slice also makes it easy to fillet the fish before cooking it, and the larger pan fish are often filleted before the frying.

By the old fashioned American way of frying fish they were protected with a thin blanket of fine corn meal and then put into a pan in which there was only a little hot fat and usually that secured by cooking a little salt pork. The fat had to be generally hot when the fish was put into the pan, but it should not be smoking hot. Cook them with a fire that will allow five or six minutes to a side without the corn meal growing darker than a seal brown.

Wives Fare Better than Husbands Do, Says Economist

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Discussing the restlessness of women in these days of hectic divorce gambling, a writer and economic student says that the domestic situation has gone into complete reverse from its position a couple of generations back. In those earlier days it was the common rather than the unusual thing for a man to wear out a couple of wives. Familiarity with the tombstone records down New England way indicates it was no unusual accomplishment for a man to bury a third wife. What with incessant childbearing and the manifold labors attending her job of housekeeper and homemaker the women of earlier generations were wont to give up the struggle comparatively early and a successor legally sanctioned by church and law quickly replaced her.

Today, the economist says, you have the picture reversed. Women are wearing out a couple of husbands. If they don't plant them under the sod, they stow them away in divorce courts, which, so far as successors are concerned, seems to be quite as effectual a disposition.

The present day husband, his sympathizer says, is worn to the raw edge by economic forces which the restless, whiphand type of woman intensifies daily for the poor, overworked, eager to please husband. Her gratitude for his honest laboring efforts is in effect comparable to that which resulted in earlier days in an immediate successor to the outworked first or second wife. Her sympathy with his struggle to keep his and her head economically well placed in their community is simply nil, according to our authority.

Asked for a panacea, the economist says: "A little more sympathy toward the man whose whole days, weeks and years are devoted to extracting the best financial returns from his labors. Also, a little more understanding of the whole economic strain of the moment."

Massage, Exercise Will Take Fat Off the Arms 'n' Legs

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"My legs are too fat and so are my arms," a correspondent complains. "Otherwise my proportions are good. But my question is whether you think it worth while for me to take massage treatments. They're expensive, but with pinching I can afford them. But what I'm wondering is if exercise would do as well for me, in which event I'd have the money to add to my vacation fund.—VICTORIA."

It depends on how hard you'd go in for exercise. Taking the fat off legs of persons who are otherwise well proportioned is difficult, although it can be done by exercise. But it is slow work. If you get into the right massage hands a quicker reduction will be effected, I believe.

Pretty much the same thing applies to fat arms, although the fatty tissue on the latter does not seem to be so hard set as on the legs.

I think I'd take a "flyer" in massage. Everybody else is gambling on something. Why not on a good course of massage treatments to reduce the legs? Like a lot of the other gambles of the moment, you'll be trimmed but there'll be no danger of your getting a case of melancholy over it. No lady does when her leg measurements show a loss of a couple of inches.

You could do massage work yourself with a little practice. But like everything else, the professional can do it better and more painlessly.

However, that doesn't need to stop you doing exercises, too. Supplementing the massage work, it is a good practice to do some exercise morning and night. Kicking work, mostly, is recommended. Leg swimming is good, too. For the arms, the old calisthentic shooting gestures of hands forward, then high overhead and flung wide at sides, is effective. Or any of the strenuous outdoor sports are recommended for arm work.

To do home massage the idea is to twist the flesh upon the underlying bone (not too roughly or it will hurt) and going over the entire length of calf or arm.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

M. F.: THE CONDITION OF THE skin on your legs is known as gooseflesh. Bathe the legs with warm water and a bland soap, using a brush. The friction produced removes the scales and dead skin. Rinse, dry thoroughly, and massage with olvie oil or a good cold cream.

DAILY READER: YOUR FACE chaps because your skin is too dry. Use a good cold cream for cleansing purposes until the dry condition has been overcome. Before applying powder, massage vanishing cream into the skin. For the treatment of dry skin, send a stamped addressed envelope.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

Garden pests are expected to come in great droves this year. The season has been favorable for many of the most destructive insects that attack both flowers and vegetables, as well as farm crops.

Warning already has been sent out by entomologists to farmers and gardeners, saying cutworms are likely to be moderately abundant this season. Growers cannot afford to risk having these crop destroyers get a start in their fields and gardens. Black cutworms are expected to be thick especially in river bottoms; wet weather this spring favored them.

For city, suburban, and small farm gardens this cutwork bait is recommended by J. H. Bigger, field entomologist of the Illinois state natural history survey: Bran, 5 pounds; molasses, ¾ of a pint; water, 2 quarts, and paris green, 3½ ounces.

Below are his directions for making cutworm bait in larger quantities for use in fields or commercial gardens:

"Stir one pound of paris green into twenty-five pounds of bran until the two are thoroughly mixed. Then into about three gallons of water stir two quarts of molasses. Pour this latter mixture over the bran mixture and stir the two until each particle of bran is wet with the solution. The mixture should be wet enough to ball up in the hand but dry enough to crumble easily. Either bran or water, as needed, can be added until the desired consistency is obtained. It is best to use a cheap, strong molasses, as the odor is valuable."

The next step is to scatter the mixture thinly over the infested area at the rate of eight to ten pounds to the acre in the late afternoon. Mr. Bigger says that the black cutworm is exceedingly hard to kill and for that reason it may be necessary to repeat the application of poisoned bait.

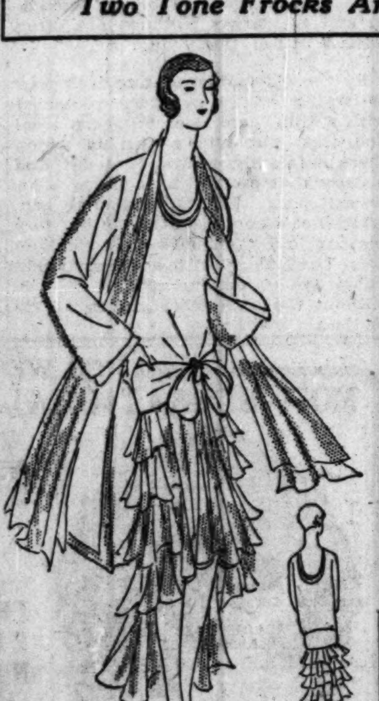
Two Tone Frocks Are Worn for Evening



BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Not stalling, but fruit stalling, is the heroine of today's sketch, for this delightful evening ensemble in chiffon is made in the two tones of peach and tangerine. It is the former which achieves the main sections of both coat and frock, but in the long double scarf both tones are given equal authority. Elsewhere trimming touches of tangerine are found in the borders of the coat, the frock's draped neck line, and in the alternate tiers of the skirt. Ideal is this two tone frock for the brunette with lovely peachlike skin.

One sees more and more of the evening gown which possesses its own wrap. Such wraps describe a wide arc of possibilities, but supreme favor is given the shorter coat of transparent velvet which tops chiffon frocks of both plain and printed inspiration. Sometimes these coats are collarless and sometimes they are finished with tuxedo revers.

Scarfs of the frock chiffon frequently compensate for their tailored severity, and now and then one sees such a wrap set off by the fox collar so dominant in all today's coat modes. An example of this treatment was offered by a charming debutante who, at a recent smart evening function, wore a light green chiffon frock topped by a short coat of darker green sheer velvet with a gray fox collar.

It would be strange if the shawl did not score in this age of returned femininity. It does. But here, too, the ensemble idea is often observed. That is to say, the graceful wisp about the shoulders will be executed with some reference to the color, fabric, or trimming of the frock. Illustrative of this harmony was a charming chiffon dress of aquamarine trimmed with black lace tiers echoed in the little Spanish shoulder shawl.

All body waste is ACID

So Fastidious Women now Enhance Their Charm and Guard against offense with a Safe Neutralizer.

By

HELEN LEE SCOTT

WHAT a wonderful thing that frankness now rules in the discussion of womanly hygiene.

And here is a fact which I many times must explain—and which all should know. All body waste is acid. This means each tiny drop of the quart or more of perspiration thrown off each day by the millions of pores of the normal healthy human body, contains not one but five acids. Formic, butyric, capric, valeric, acetic.

In the hollows where arms and limbs join the body and pores are larger, more numerous and active, secretion of course is greatest. And perspiration is increased too by nervous tension, exercise, emotions. The waste of the periodic physical phases of womanhood is acid.

The Cause of Body Odor

Now acid body wastes mean most to fastidious women because from these acids come the danger of offense to those about us. These are the real source of body odor against which all must guard. Bathing cannot give protection except for a few brief minutes. And so a means has been found to neutralize the acids which cause odor, greater with some persons than with others but always present in perspiration and waste.

For this purpose there is nothing else on earth like SPIC. This pure, soothing, delightful dusting, toilette powder is the discovery of a famous chemist. It unfailingly changes the offensive acids of bodily waste to harmless dewy moisture and then absorbs them. Dusted on the body, rubbed into the armpits, etc., and on the feet or sprinkled freely on the sanitary napkin when needed periodically it gives complete protection, security and peace of mind and body from any possibility of odor.

For Lasting Protection

It cannot harm. It does not stop perspiration. That would be dangerous. But it does absorb moisture and neutralize the acids of waste. It stops chafing, removes odor from garments and prevents the ruin of fabrics by sweat.

A trial package of SPIC and an amazing scientific test for the acids of perspiration will be sent you FREE. Your druggist has SPIC for 50c. Or clip the special coupon now.

Wrong Interpretation.

My much admired mother-in-law had been paying us her first visit and was saying good-by. The day was extremely cold and she begged me not to accompany her to the station, when in perfect innocence I exclaimed, "I wouldn't miss the pleasure of seeing you off on the train for anything in the world!"

Imagine my embarrassment and confusion when I realized from the shouts of laughter about me how my remark had been interpreted! L. K. D.

"Your Present."

A FAIR QUESTION

What kind of Subdivision property is easier to sell: Property with all improvements—sewer, water, gas, electricity, sidewalks, paving, curbs and trees, etc.—or vacant prairie without transportation and miles away from nowhere?

YOU KNOW THE ANSWER?

Our North Side properties with all improvements paid for by us, high class restrictions, and splendid transportation are the easiest selling properties in Chicago.

No drifters or floaters need apply; only ambitious men ready to work and follow our instructions.

Come in and see me in person from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

A POSITION

now open for ambitious men over 25 years of age, with good references; remuneration for those who qualify.

Selling experience will help, but is not absolutely necessary, as I will show you our method, based on 30 years of success. I represent a large financially responsible firm, backed by public good will and extensive advertising. Plenty of repeat business and new live leads.

If you are willing to start with moderate salary and will follow my instructions you can rise more quickly in this business than in any other field I have knowledge about.

As I will be too busy interviewing, I will have no time for correspondence about this opportunity. YOU MUST APPLY IN PERSON. If you can sell me to the idea that you are sincere, ambitious, and willing to succeed I will place you in a well paying position at once. Apply in person only to G. A. SHIPLEY, Suite 1030-1031 Hotel Morrison, Monday from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

AAA1 SALESMEN

The largest, most reputable organization of its kind in the world and the leader in its field, seeks four high grade salesmen for various parts of the country.

The qualifications are rigid. Applicants must be between thirty and forty years of age, possess a clean, attractive, forceful personality, a background of successful selling experience, exceptional sales ability, and general enthusiasm. Must have had experience contacting department stores—preferably with glassware. Must be red-blooded, two-fisted he-man, with a world of ambition, and must have earned at least $8,000 to $10,000.

A readily marketable, staple product—100% per cent co-operation—unlimited earning possibilities and promotion—are offered to successful applicants.

YOUR CHANCE FOR SUCCESS

A POSITION OPEN

Must be over 25 years old and have good character references. This is a profitable business; and earn money while learning.

No experience necessary. Nothing to buy. I represent a large, reliable firm, established over 20 years, with thousands of satisfied customers, and will interview ambitious men to represent us in Chicago districts. The work is pleasant, congenial, and dignified.

As I will be too busy interviewing men I will have no time to answer letters or phone calls, but I will see you in person. I can tell you in five minutes whether or not you would qualify and like this work. Every man I accept will be given an immediate position.

If you are serious and want to succeed in business, talk it over with me. I started the same way by answering one of these special advertisements of this firm and am making money. You can do the same. Apply in person only.

STATE OF ILLINOIS
4% HIGHWAY BOND SALE.

Auction bids will be received by the Department of Public Works and Buildings at its office in the State House, Springfield, Illinois, on Monday, June 17, 1929, at 9:00 A. M. [Standard Time] for $10,000,000 State of Illinois 4% Highway Bonds.

Bonds will be dated June 1, 1929, and will mature annually March 1 as follows: $500,000 each year from 1945 to 1958 inclusive and $3,000,000 in 1959. They will bear interest at the rate of 4% per annum payable semi-annually March 1st and November 1st, both principal and interest being made payable at the office of the State Treasurer, Springfield, Illinois. Bonds will be in coupon form in denomination of $1,000 each, registerable as to principal only.

Bonds are to be sold on open competitive bidding as required by law subject to the approval of the Department of Finance, but written bids may be filed with this Department. Bidders must agree to pay accrued interest to the date of delivery and furnish a certified check payable to the order of the Treasurer of the State of Illinois in the amount of $200,000 as guarantee of good faith, this amount to be forfeited to the State by the successful bidder should he fail to carry out the provisions of his bid. All written bids are to be addressed to the Department of Public Works and Buildings, State Capitol, Springfield, Illinois, and marked "Bid for Highway Bonds." The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

Total bonded debt, including this issue	187,324,500
Population, 1920	6,485,280

The proceedings authorizing these bonds have been prepared under the supervision of Messrs. Wood and Oakley, whose final approving opinion will be furnished at the expense of the purchaser.

The State of Illinois does not contemplate the offering of any further Highway bonds before September 15, 1929.

HARRY H. CLEAVELAND, Director
Department of Public Works and Buildings,
State of Illinois.

REAL ESTATE LOANS.

SECOND MORTGAGE LOANS

Our advertising man has the hardest job in the bank—he thinks. He has the easiest job in town—we think.

We think—in fact, we know—that there is no second mortgage plan in existence which is so fair to the borrower in terms of cost for the money he borrows or in terms of the other conditions of the loan. Our advertising man knows that, too, but just because he knows that most plans are so intricate and complicated, he can't quite make himself appreciate how simple our plan is.

We didn't let our advertising man write this ad. We wrote it ourselves. We have a simple story to tell: Loans made to home owners [we construe up to a three flat building as a home], loans granted for a period of from one to three years; payments at 2% of principal per month; interest 6% per annum, payable monthly; commission 3¼% for one year, 6¼% for two years and 9% for three years—these commissions are flat, meaning that any one who can multiply should be able to understand them.

To our minds our second mortgage plan is simple and easy to understand. Therefore it ought to be easy for our advertising man to tell the people about it.

If you are in the market for a second mortgage loan we will be glad to have you come in in order that we may prove to you how fair and simple are the terms of our second mortgage plan.

THE FAMILIAR PENNY SCALE WHICH you see everywhere in drug and cigar stores and other places, has been a proven money maker for many years. A concern headed by individuals with 20 years' experience in the manufacturing and operation of penny actuated scales, offers individuals or groups the opportunity to purchase and own chains of scales of a new and improved type that prints the weight and fortune on a ticket for a penny. Striking in appearance, these scales have demonstrated they earn more by attracting more business. If you are looking for an opportunity to invest your spare funds and are willing to back your money with some of your time, we will be glad to send you a booklet telling more about the opportunities in this proven field. It is a complete proposition with all the facts you need to know.
